ARMSTRONG'S WIDOW CALLED

Today

Great Work, Great News.
Many Bills; Little One.
What Can Two Billions Do?
Prosperity News — Two Kinds.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS IS really big news, important to the future of the United States, to many great cities, to other cities still to be born, and to millions of Americans.

Yesterday the treaty between the United States and Canada for the construction of a great St. Lawrence ocean ship canal from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes was signed. It will cost nearly six hundred million dollars, twice as much as the Panama Canal, and take seven years to build.

When the canal is finished, Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, all cities on the lakes, will be SEAPORTS as much as New York, Boston or San Francisco.

FOOD AND other products from all farms within reach of the lakes, steel from Gary, Buffalo and other plants, products of all the factories of all the lake cities, harvesting machinery, Detroit's automobiles, all will travel to all parts of the world BY WATER at low freight rates.

THE GREAT cities of the lakes will grow in importance, wealth, population and prosperity, and other cities, innumerable, will add to the number of seaports and factories within reach of ocean traffic.

"It hath not yet been shewn what we shall be."

This ocean waterway, adding every foot of frontage on the Great Lakes to our seaboard line, with limitless harbor facilities, will help show what we shall be.

The signing of that treaty yesterday was a great event in United States history, and all connected with it are to be congratulated.

CONGRESS HAS stopped work, and bonus-seeking veterans that have been marching around and around the Capitol, like Fabre's caterpillars marching around the top of the stone vase, threaten to transfer their march to the White House, where it would be more difficult, on account of traffic and police regulations.

The wise thing would be for the veterans to return, each to his own neighborhood, and take part in the coming election. With intelligent people, the ballot is more useful than any "protest" marching.

THIS CONGRESS has not been idle. In the House, 1,300 bills were presented; in the Senate, 5,000. Of the whole lot, 500 new laws were enacted.

One representative from California, Mr. Crail, without the help of any other, introduced a total of 533 bills.

If only new LAWS could end old TROUBLES. But they can't.

TODAY PRESIDENT HOOVER is expected to sign the $2,122,000,000 relief bill, "to give employment to the idle."

It cannot do that except on a small scale. Ten millions idle, if there be so many, would call for $50,000,000 a day, or $15,000,000,000 a year. Only the restoration of prosperity can solve so big a problem.

BUT THE government might be persuaded to practice REAL economy.

Florida's Chamber of Commerce shows that the income of the American people has decreased since 1929 by 49.4 per cent, while the per centage of income taken for taxes has increased 129 per cent.

Taking the government's estimated deficit of June 30, 1932, at $3,000,000,000, the government is spending every day $8,219,000 more than it takes in. That is not economy.

TWO SIGNS of prosperity in today's news. One thousand more workers were hired in Massachusetts in June. Eighteen new plants started, four others expanded. Shoe manufacturing is going ahead.

Joyful news from Reno, Nev. The number of divorces has increased 100 per cent, and Nevada had a bigger increase in marriages than any other state. "Swing your partners."

IN NASSAU COUNTY, Long Island, Hyman Stark was questioned by police, and died of a "fractured larynx." This indicates that his neck had been squeezed severely during the questioning. District Attorney says the man was murdered in the course of "third degree" proceedings.

The case is aggravated by the fact that the young prisoner, 20 years old, was accused of beating an old woman, mother of one of the policemen, who assisted in the third degree, and, part of the time, was alone with the prisoner.

IT IS NOT necessary to say anything about the cruel brutality of such a case.

What is more important to police is the fact that one case of this kind endangers the lives of many policemen and detectives. Criminals fearing such brutality would shoot to kill. Prisoners that have endured it have shot policemen in the past. The number of such shootings might increase.

The London police, by their own choice, carry no revolvers. And criminals are rarely captured with deadly weapons because they are afraid to use them. In England if you shoot anybody you are hanged. Here you hire a good criminal lawyer and shoot somebody else later.

FORBES FIELD, July 19.—After spotting Philadelphia a two-run edge in the first inning, the Pirates came back to wrest the lead from the Phils in the first game of their double-header here this afternoon.

Young Bill Swift, on the mound for the Bucs, got away to a shaky start when Bartell singled, Klein walked and Hurst doubled to drive in both of his mates in the first inning.

Swift was striving for his tenth mound victory of the season.

Roy Hansen, carrying the slab burden for the Phils, weakened after keeping the Corsairs' hits well scattered in the early innings.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

PHILADELPHIA—G. Davis flied to Comorosky. Bartell singled to right. Bartell went to second on Swift's wild throw. Klein walked. Hurst doubled to right center, scoring Bartell and Klein. Swift threw out White and held Hurst. Thevenow threw out Lee. Two run. Two hits. One error.

PITTSBURGH — Comorosky walked. P. Waner flied to Klein. Whitney threw out Vaughan as Comorsky went to second. Barbee flied to Klein.

SECOND INNING

PHILADELPHIA—Todd flied to Barbee. Mallon scratched a hit off Thevenow's glove. Hansen popped to Vaughan. G. Davis flied to Comorosky. One hit.

PITTSBURGH—Suhr singled to right. Piet lined to Lee. Thevenow forced Suhr, Mallon to Whitney. Grace grounded ou to Hurst. One hit.

'3RD DEGREE' DEATH LINKS POLICEMEN

13 Suspended, Some Expected to Face Murder Charges

Developments in investigations of police and prison brutality today were:

1—Murder charges loom against some of 13 suspended Mineola, N. Y., policemen charged with beating to death 20-year-old prisoner in terrific third degree.

2—Disclosures show Capt. George W. Courson, indicted at Jacksonville, Fla., for "torture murder" of prison camp convict, was illegally in charge of the camp.

3—Two victims of police riot gun slugs prepare $25,000 damage suit against two Akron, (O.) patrolmen.

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 19.—(AP.)—Thirteen policemen, stripped of their badges, waited today to see who would be charged with beating the life out of a 20-year-old prisoner in a terrific third degree.

After hearing a story of police brutality that made spectators gasp, Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinbrink sought today to fix individual responsibility for the killing of Hyman Stark, who died of a fractured larynx Friday. Detectives at Nassau County headquarters had questioned him for eight hours about the robbing and beating of a detective's mother.

DECISION TOMORROW

Steinbrink, who sat as a committing magistrate in a John Doe inquiry that lasted until late last night, will give his findings tomorrow. Murder charges against some of the 13 suspended men were considered a possibility.

Three fellow-suspects of Stark's picked eight detectives and two patrolmen who, they said, beat them with rubber hose, blackjacks, a heavy ledger and a shoe.

This followed testimony by Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton, Jr., directly implicating Deputy Chief Frank Tappan in the beating of Stark, a youth with a police record.

Littleton swore that Tappan came into the detectives' room on Friday, "looking very hot," mopping his brow and exclaiming:

"He's the toughest I've ever seen. I put one foot on his stomach and one on his throat and rocked back and forth, and it didn't feaze him."

TAPPAN TURNS PALE

Tappan, turning pale, took the stand and flatly denied Littleton's statement.

The suspension of the 13 and the arrest of four policemen as material witnesses followed exposure by District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards of what he called a plot to have Detective Joseph Hizenski, son of the woman beaten in the robbery, "take the rap" for beating Stark.

Edwards said the other detec-

SUBPENAED IN PROBE OF COUNTY GAS

Zeifel, Former Chief Clerk, 26 Others Summoned

Mrs. Joseph G. Armstrong, widow of the former chairman of the County Commissioners, and William H. Ziefel, former chief clerk to the Commissioners were among 28 persons ordered subpenaed today in the grand jury probe of alleged county irregularities.

They are wanted, along with the others, to tell what they may know of charges that county employes and their associates obtained gasoline for which the taxpayers footed the bill.

Their names were disclosed, it is reported, when records of a gasoline company were seized by the probers and inspected by the grand jury.

WIDOW SOUGHT

County detectives late today were seeking Mrs. Armstrong and the others.

Along with this development came the report that a large number of political workers in five wards would be indicted Friday in connection with the probe of tax receipts frauds.

District Attorney Park, declaring his office was almost swamped by the growing complexities of the several investigations, predicted that the grand jury's work would not be concluded until the latter part of next week.

The wards covered in the inquiry, which has been under way for weeks, are the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Twelfth.

Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Phillips, indictment expert, has been scrutinizing testimony taken in the investigation preparatory to drawing up the presentment.

OAKLAND MAN LINKED

Prosecutor A. T. Park and Phillips are mum on the number to be recommended for indictment, but, according to reports, one prominent Oakland politician is in the list.

Questioning of Twelfth Ward witnesses, continuing today, was interrupted when Auditor M. C. Conick was summoned before the grand jury, presumably to prevent evidence gleaned in the county audit regarding the hauling contract of Watson Bowser, Kittanning contractor.

Later E. T. McIlvain, of Beaver, sales manager of the Duquesne Sales Company, which supplied the slag hauled to the county airport by Bowser, entered the grand jury room. Two additional subpenas were issued.

DRAFT COLLINS CHARGES

HARRISBURG, July 19.—Gov. Pinchot is preparing formal charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty against Public Service Commissioner Emerson Collins, who, the Governor alleges, has been incapacited for two years and a half through illness.

Collins yesterday, in response to the Governor's demand for his resignation, wrote that he would resign in "a reasonable time" if his health did not improve. Seizing this phrase from the Collins letter, the Governor said he would formally act against Collins in "a reasonable time."

Meantime the special Senate committee investigating charges made against W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the commission, in a two-hour session today made little progress in tracing the flow of funds from the coffers of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit to any definite source.

A. A. Chapman, who made the formal charges against Ainey, and E. L. Mitten, treasurer of Mitten Management, which operate P. R. T., were questioned during the session.

Senator William S. Rial, the chairman, said that the examination of the Mitten records showed that A. B. Millar, a special agent of the P. R. T., had received about $15,000 a year during his connection with the company, but that there was nothing to indicate that he had used it for any but personal matters.

New Heat Record Near

A new heat record for the year was in sight today as the thermometer soared to 90 degrees at 3 o'clock, the mercury rising at the rate of about 1 degree an hour.

Last Wednesday the thermometer registered 91 degrees for the year's high, but the peak was not reached until 5 o'clock. At the rate Old Sol has been piling up degrees today, it was believed a new high might be set before the day had ended.

Madden, Beer Baron, Loses Parole Fight

ALBANY, N. Y., July 19.—(INS.)—Owney Madden, reputed New York beer baron, lost his fight today to have the Court of Appeals block the State Parole Board from declaring him a parole violator and admit him to $10,000 bail. The state's highest tribunal unanimously denied an application for a stay.

Refusal of the stay means that Madden must appear before the Parole Board at Sing Sing next month.

Madden's attorney claimed the alleged racketeer was formally discharged by the Parole Board in 1929 after serving a 13-year sentence for manslaughter and that the board no longer had jurisdiction.

X-Ray Shows Magee Skull Unfractured

HARRISBURG, July 19.—(INS.)—X-ray pictures today disclosed that James M. Magee, Pittsburgh, chairman of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, did not suffer a fracture of the skull in an automobile collision at Lemoyne, nearby, last Thursday, Harrisburg Hospital physicians announced.

'RUBBER' CHECK IN THAW SUIT

NEW YORK, July 19.—(INS.)—A judgment for $4,037 for rent of a Fifth avenue apartment was on file today in Supreme Court against Harry K. Thaw.

Included in the record was a check for $883 which Thaw turned over for rent for two months. Drawn on a Pittsburgh bank, it came back marked "Not sufficient funds."

Hoover's Side Gate Return Guarded by Cycle Police

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, July 19. — (AP.) — A heavy guard was placed at all entrances to the White House grounds today after a report reached authorities that a group of radicals was marching to the Executive Mansion.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(INS.)—Though a heavy guard was thrown about the White House today, there was an absence of bonus marchers or any attempt at a demonstration as President Hoover returned to the executive mansion this morning.

The President's party was joined by four motorcycle policemen on the Virginia side of the Potomac River, and this escort accompanied the official cars to the White House, where Mr. Hoover left his auto at a small side gate on Executive avenue.

Mrs. Hoover did not accompany the Chief Executive to the capital, but remained behind at their Rapidan fishing lodge.

Police explained that the extra cordon of police thrown about the John Malcolm Dowling, of Pittsburgh, relative of Lois Moran, screen actress, was named defendant in a heart balm suit for $50,000 filed in Common Pleas Court today by Shirley H. Colligan, of 6953 Frankstown avenue.

Alleging Dowling kept company with her almost continuously, and "frequently in the daytime," Miss Colligan in the bill of particulars declared she received numerous gifts from Dowling which he told her were to put away in her "hope" chest.

One time he told her, she alleges:

"We will get a little home in Ohio."

On one occasion, she alleges, Dowling presented her a chest of silverware and another time a pair of woolen blankets. He also bought her a diamond engagement ring, she charged.

Ziegfeld's Condition Slightly Improved

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 19.—(AP.)—Slight improvement in the condition of Florenz Ziegfeld, New York musical comedy producer, was reported today by his physician. Ziegfeld, suffering from complications arising from an attack of pleurisy, was brought here Sunday night from a New Mexico sanitarium.

Billie Burke, stage and screen actress and wife of the producer, is in constant attendance at his bedside.

Deagan, Vaudeville Actor, Dies in N.Y.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Charles Deagan, widely known vaudeville actor, died this morning of indigestion in his apartment in Central Park West. He was 51.

Deagan and his wife, Madeline, had appeared for 15 years as Charles and Madeline Dunbar, impersonators, giving performances throughout the country.

PINCHOT FIGHTS LEGISLATURE CONTROL OF U. S. AID FUND

VETO THREAT HELD OVER ASSEMBLY

Plan for Diverting Federal Money Assailed

By MARK SHIELDS
Political Editor

HARRISBURG, July 19.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today intimated he would veto any effort by the Legislature to direct the disbursement of federal relief funds and would ignore any legislative action on the subject should his veto be overridden.

The Governor's statement was directed at a bill by Senator Woodward, of Philadelphia, directing that federal aid be spent for direct relief and work relief in a manner similar to the provision of the Talbot state relief bill.

The Woodward bill sets up a board consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer and the Auditor General, and makes an appropriation of $55,000 for administrative purposes.

Despite the statement of the Governor, the Senate this afternoon unanimously passed the Woodward bill.

'RIDICULOUS BILL'

The Governor, in his comment on the bill said:

"I've heard of a good many ridiculous bills in my life, but never one more ridiculous than that."

The Governor, who yesterday asked the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $45,000,000 of federal funds for relief in Pennsylvania, today said that the measure specified that the money could be obtained only on a certification of need by a state executive, and shall be expended under his authority and on his responsibility.

It is not even necessary that the money be deposited in the State Treasury, and it can be used for either relief work, direct relief or both.

At the same time he brushed aside the attempt of the Legislature to dip into distribution of the federal funds, the Governor wrote to Senator Harry B. Scott, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, that the House in its economy program, though cutting approximately $22,000,000 from state expenses, had made available for appropriation only $6,000,000 of the $24,000,000 authorized for relief by the Talbot state bill.

ABATEMENTS

Of the cuts, nearly $10,000,000 is required to restore abatements made under the Talbot act of the special session of last year, and $5,000,000 is required to balance the budget, shrunken because of depreciated revenue. He wrote:

"Members of the Legislature and the public have been led to believe that this entire sum ($22,000,000) is available for appropriation by the special session. The members of the House have gone ahead and sent bills to the Senate in pursuance of that program."

The Governor further pointed out that if the House bills, one appropriating $2,000,000 in direct relief to Philadelphia, and the second giving a like amount to hospitals, are passed, the sum left for relief would be only $2,000,000.

Pinchot Asks U. S. For $45,000,000

HARRISBURG, July 19.—(AP.)—In a letter to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Gov. Pinchot yesterday applied for $45,000,000 in relief funds for Pennsylvania's 1,150,000 jobless persons.

He asked that this allocation be made with immediate payment of $10,000,000 to organize relief so that "the starving may be fed without delay."

He also asked for the assurance that the remainder of the $45,000,000 allotment will be available later so that there may be no delay in payment when at intervals in the course of the next nine months, the balance of the money then unpaid will be wanted immediately.

He said:

"I know that in many sections conditions have reached the danger point. I speak the sober truth when I say that delay will mean disorder."

He asserted that $45,000,000 is an extremely conservative estimate of urgent relief needs for the 1,150,000 people totally unemployed in Pennsylvania today.

He called attention to Pennsylvania's constitutional restriction against incurring a debt in excess of $1,000,000 which prevents state borrowing without a constitutional amendment which could not be made effective until the fall of 1933. He said a similar restriction bars adoption of a graduated income tax.

AIMEE'S 'MA' SUES MATE AS 'FLOP'

'What-a-Man' Scored; Throngs Pray for Ill Evangelist

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy-Hudson, mother of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, the evangelist, today had on file a suit to divorce Guy E. "What-a-Man" Hudson, whom she married a year ago in a romantic setting on the shore of a lake in Washington.

Mrs. Hudson charged that Hudson drank excessively, was cruel and used abusive language. She declared:

"He was 'What-a-Man' when I married him, but I really should have called him 'What-a-Flop.'

"I'm just a little girl trying to get along and I can't stand the strain any longer. I am an evangelist and I want to save souls. Heaven knows I tried in vain to save his, but you can't save a soul unless there is one to save. He didn't even have a heart!"

Mrs. Hudson said that in their year of married life Hudson had borrowed $4,540 from her. She added:

"And he hasn't got a cent now, and he hasn't got a job. Whenever he mentioned 'love' to me, he really meant 'dough.'

"He never came home except to rest up after his drunks, and to borrow more money."

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(INS.)—Throngs remained in Angeles Temple today praying for the recovery of their leader, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, whose condition continued serious at her Moorish Temple at Lake Elsinore. Her physician reported:

"She is in no imminent danger. She needs absolutely undisturbed rest and quiet. Her condition was satisfactory when I left Elsinore."

He barred all visitors except her husband, David Hutton, and nurses.

Mrs. Hutton fractured her skull in a fall when Hutton told her he had lost a $5,000 judgment in a heartbalm suit to Miss Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre, pretty Pasadena nurse.

Her condition was aggravated by tropical fever contracted on a recent trip to Central America.

FRENCH LEADER RAPS HOOVER ON DEBTS

Reply to Hearst Says President's Policy Caused Tangle

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.
Universal Service

PARIS, July 19.—Camille Aymard, publisher of La Liberte, conservative newspaper and voice of the campaign against further payment of war debts to America and Great Britain, blames President Hoover for Europe's united front against the United States on war debts.

Aymard, after consulting friends in French political and financial circles and accepting their advice, made this assertion in reply to the statement of William Randolph Hearst, in a radio speech Saturday night, that Europe is engaged in a "crooked conspiracy" on war debts to rob the American people.

HEARST UPHELD

Aymard declared:

"Mr. Hearst's opinions are undoubtedly those of the majority of Americans. Mr. Hearst says, first, that America won the war. Nobody in France would deny all America did for us, but her aid was above all moral and psychological. Can we compare America's losses in killed with France's million and a half?

"America spent thousands of millions of dollars on the war, says Mr. Hearst, and even more afterward for European rehabilitation.

"This is quite true.

"But if the American soldiers had been there soon enough, so many of America's billions would not have been needed. I am discussing not only France, whose debts have multiplied unbelievably, but there is England, whose debt is fourfold what it was before the war.

"It was former President Wilson who imposed the peace, charging Germany with the costs of the war, because Germany was most guilty.

COST LIFTED

"But it was President Hoover who lifted from Germany's back the costs of the war, but not the guilt.

"Mr. Hearst says if the present Allied policy triumphs, America, which won the war, will pay more than Germany, which lost. He does not want America to play the role of dupe.

"That's just the way we French feel. We do not want to be clowns in this financial comedy, either.

"Thanks to President Hoover, Germany with 65,000,000 inhabitants, has now only a $5,000,000,000 internal debt.

"It is thanks to Mr. Hoover that Germaany, which lost the war, has won the peace.

"America is now disquieted because those who expected to receive from Germany reparations with which to pay America, will no longer receive them, and are now looking for relief from this intolerable burden.

"The fatal consequences originated with the Hoover moratorium, and perhaps it is too late to complain. For there is an old French proverb which says, 'Once the wine has been drawn, we must drink it.'"

Britain to Pay If U. S. Insists, Leader Says

LONDON, July 19.—(Universal.)—If the American government insists on payment of war debts by European nations bound in the new four-power entente and the once secret "gentleman's agreement" against the United States on debts, Britain at least will pay.

This was the statement of George Lansbury, British Labor party leader in parliament, to the statement by William Randolph Hearst in his radio address of Saturday night, that European nations and their "American confederates" have entered into a "crooked conspiracy" to rob the American people.

Official opinion regarding Mr Hearst's radio speech, heard in London just before 5 a. m. Sunday, was lacking. Premier MacDonald, resting at Lossiemouth, could not be reached either by telephone or telegraph.

Beaver Falls Bank Closes Its Doors

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 19—The Federal Title and Trust Company here failed to open its doors today. A notice posted on the door stated that the institution had been taken over by William D. Gordon, secretary of banking. Announcement was made by an official of the bank that it had been taken over by the state to protect the interests of depositors. The trust company had a capital stock of $200,000. Its deposits, according to its last report, were about $1,000,000.

WAGNER URGES SPEEDY RELIEF

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Declaring that almost 2,000,000 persons can be provided with jobs under the 2,122,000,000 jobless relief bill, Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, Senate leader in the fight, today called on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to speed distribution of the vast fund.

The measure was on President Hoover's desk for signature today. Already demands for funds under the bill are before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

With officials promising sympathetic administration of the act, Wagner expressed belief that conditions throughout the country can be materially improved if the money is put to work at once.

Under the terms of the measure, funds will be loaned to states, cities and other political subdivisions, public corporations and limited dividend housing corporations, for projects which will pay for themselves.

RECRUIT NEW VET 'ARMY'

Bonus veterans of the South Hills district today were being organized for a pilgrimage to Washington under Commander George W. Gallagher, of the Overbrook Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Gallagher, being assisted by Raymond A. Krick, 80th Division veteran, who returned from Washington, said three trucks will be available for transportation. The bonus party is expected to leave Thursday night, escorted beyond the city line by a veterans' band.

Recruiting is being conducted from Gallagher's home 60 Underwood street, Overbrook. Donations of food and supplies are being sought, contributors being requested to telephone Carrick 4359.

Butler Withdraws As Dry Candidate

HARRISBURG, July 19.—(AP.)—Gen. Smedley D. Butler today withdrew as prohibition candidate for the United States Senate.

Defeated by Senator James J. Davis for the Republican nomination, Butler was nominated by the Prohibition party by a sufficient number of members writing his name on the ballot. Butler recently announced he would support Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, Democratic nominee for President.

PRIMARIES BAN BILL ADVANCED

HARRISBURGH, July 19.—The Senate today passed on second reading the bill of Senator Chapman, of Warren County, to abolish the direct primary and return to the convention system of nominating candidates.

Previously it had refused to strike the bill from the calendar on motion of Senator Buckman, 28 to 18, and refused to send it back to committee, as requested by Senator Frank J. Harris, of Allegheny, supported by Senator William D. Mansfield.

Voting for the bill were Senators Coyne, Einstein, Armstrong and Brandt, of Allegheny. Harris insisted that it was without the call for the special session and was a step backward.

The bill may pass finally in the Senate tomorrow. Its fate in the House is uncertain. Gov. Pinchot is certain to veto it.

INDIANA REDS AT CAPITOL

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19.—(AP.)—A group of self-styled "hunger marchers," bearing a red flag, today staged a demonstration on the state capitol steps immediately below the hall where the house of the Iidiana General Assembly was in session.

A crowd of several hundred persons assembled outside the capitol and marched around the building shouting, "We want bread; we want food."

After finding every entrance to the state house barred by police, the crowd assembled on the east steps beneath the house chamber and heard an address by Zip Kotch, of Gary.

Proposes Ponies Replace Killers In Zoos

CLEVELAND, July 19.—(AP.)—The recent killing of a caretaker by a bear in the Cleveland zoo, and of another keeper by a gnu in the Detroit zoo, brought a proposal last night from a Cleveland councilman to get rid of all the "vicious animals."

Councilman Peter F. Rieder, making the proposal, suggested that the bears, lions, tigers and other man-killers be replaced by ponies or some other animals that would "give more pleasure to the public" and be less dangerous.

A ripple of laughter swept over the Council as it passed up the proposal, but Rieder hushed the meeting with his insistence that "this is no laughing matter."

MELLON BRINGS DEBT DATA

the war debt and reparations question with President Hoover, he merely reiterated his belief that cancellation of the debts owed the United States and cancellation of German reparation payments would not materially accelerate the world's economic recovery.

EUROPE'S PLEA

In well-informed diplomatic quarters here it was said that Mellon was returning to lay before President Hoover Europe's plea for drastic reduction in the war debts owed the United States, thongh not necessarily as an advocate of such a step.

It was said further that he would present to the President the English version of the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" between France and England at the Lausanne reparations conference.

It was this agreement, making the termination of German reparation payments to the former Allied powers contingent upon radical revision of European debt payments to the United States, that aroused such hostility in America.

Mellon denied emphatically that he had been summoned home by President Hoover to discuss the European debt and reparation situation, or that his decision to sail tomorrow, which surprised London, was taken suddenly.

'NEEDS REST"

The Ambassador said:

"I told them before I left in April that I intended to go home sometime this summer to look afte personal affairs. Besides I like a sea trip. I felt I needed a rest about this time.

"Now that the British Parliament has adjourned nothing must is happening, otherwise and I feel that I can get away. I expect to be home about three weeks but that depends upon developments here."

Mellon said he had neither discussed "officially nor unofficially" the debt and reparation issues with the British government.

As to the international economic conferences, in preparation by the League of Nations, he said the situation remained unchanged, but that it was still expected it wouldb be held late in the fall. He pleaded ignorance as to whether the Eurapean debts question would be included in the agenda, though he thought this "most likely."

The Ambassador appeared tired and very nervous. He smoked dwarf stogies constantly while he was talking.

His son, Paul, is accompanying him home.

Clarke, Klan Head, Sanity Test Dropped

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP.)—A petition to have Edward Young Clarke, former imperial kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, legally declared insane was dismissed for want of prosecution today by Assistant County Judge Charles T. Allen.

Physicians of Psychopathic Hospital, where Clarke was confined from June 21 to July 1, had previously declared him sane. Clarke testified today of being under a strain from overwork, but denied any mental weakness.

WHITE HOUSE GUARDED

White House grounds was to prevent a recurrence of scenes of Saturday night, when hundreds of bonus marchers picketed the White House. At that time their action prevented the President from visiting the Capitol, as is the custom during the closing hours of the Congress.

Later, secret service men at the White House said they had learned of plans of John Pace, Detroit radical, to picket the White House with approximately 150 Communists.

When the extra guard was thrown about the White House grounds, Pace called off his demonstration, and announced he would attempt to march to the White House "tomorrow or some other day." His purpose, he said, was to present a petition for immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates.

There will be no further picketing or demonstrations about the White House by the radicals, the police announced. One official said:

"Any further attempt by the radical wing of the veterans to parade or gather near the White House, will be broken up before it develops."

RANKS BREAKING

A long line of bonus marchers outside the Veterans' Bureau today told a story of breaking ranks of the bonus army which cheered the police mightily.

Leaders of the marchers appeared unable to stem a definite tide which brought approximately 475 veterans to the pay window of the bureau to take advantage of the government's "back home" appropriation to obtain funds for transportation and food on the way home. Police officials viewed the line and predicted that at last a real move homeward had set in, and that their work might be lessened by the departure of thousands of the veterans.

Walter W. Waters, national commander of the Bonus Expeditionary Force; Roy W. Robertson, of Los Angeles, commander of the "rebel" California contingent of marchers, and others viewed the homeward movement with some alarm, but declared that it would only cut down the ranks of the 11,000 man bonus army here by 1,000 at most, and probably by less.

At any rate, the Veterans' Bureau planned to work until midnight to serve all the veterans who desire to leave here.

BUTLER AIDS VETS

Countering the new "back home" tendency of the army, Waters announced Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, who led his Marines into fights all over the world, would be here today, talk to the men, and spend a night in the camp at Anacostia.

Butler said yesterday at his home in Newtown Square, Pa.:

"I love the boys who were in the service, and I am on their side; I'm one of them. I understand them, and they understand me."

NAME SENATORS FOR STOCK QUIZ

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP.)—A subcommittee of the Senate Banking Committee to carry on its investigation of the New York Stock Exchange during the summer was named today by Chairman Norbeck.

Norbeck was authorized by the committee to head the subcommittee, and he named to serve with him Senators Townsend (Rep.), of Delaware, and Glass (Dem.), of Virginia.

James E. Stewart, of South Dakota, was named to assume personal direction of the inquiry, which has previously been conducted by William A. Gray, of Philadelphia.

In a formal statement announcing the appointment of the subcommittee, Norbeck announced that federal legislation was necessary, in his opinion, to curb abuses on the stock market.

THORTON, RAIL HEAD, RESIGNS

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 19.—(AP.)—Sir Henry W. Thornton r. signed today as president of the Canadian National Railways.

S. J. Hungerford, vice president, is to serve as acting president.

In a letter to the board of directors Sir Henry said criticism to which he had been subjected influenced his action.

Sir Henry became head of the Canadian National in 1922, resigning his position as general manager of the Great Eastern Railway in England to accept the post.

He was born in Indiana, starred on the gridiron at the University of Pennsylvania, and received his first experience as a railroad man with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

JOBLESS MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

Adolph Vostry, 55, of 1114 Brabec street, one of the unemployed, sat on a bench along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, River avenue, at the foot of Pine street, today and watched a shifting engine ply to and fro. On a piece of cardboard he penciled his name and address, placed it under his hat on the bench and leaped under the train, police reported.

The body was taken to the morgue and police went to the Vostry address. A son said the description fitted his father. He had been out of work a year, the son said. He leaves a wife and two children.

CURTIS RAISING APPEAL FUND

NORFOLK, Va., July 19.—(AP.)—Cheerful, but showing the effects of his confinement of two months in jail at Flemington, N. J., John Hughes Curtis arrived in Norfolk this morning to assist in raising funds for an appeal from his sentence of a year in jail and a fine of $1,000 for obstructing justice in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping-murder case.

Curtis was released on $10,000 bail, furnished by a surety company yesterday afternoon. The guarantee for the bond was arranged by eight Norfolk citizens and signed by Mrs. Curtis, wife of the Norfolk boat builder.

Catholic cathedral. It was the Anglican cathedral, dedicated to a branch of the English Protestant Episcopal Church that leans far over in the Catholic direction.

While the bishop of Liverpool, dedicating the biggest cathedral in England, sang hymns, marching around the church, indignant Protestants sang "Dare to be a Daniel."

Some of the words, as the writer remembers them from the Baptist Sunday School in Fanwood, N. J., are:

"Dare to be a Daniel,
Dare to stand alone,
Dare to have a purpose firm,
Dare to make it known."

The Liverpool Protestants made it known the wrong way, throwing brickbats through beautiful stained glass windows.

Devotees of one religion seem unable to let believers in other religions alone. There cannot possibly be more than ONE God, and such fights must annoy Him.

Confessed to Get Teeth Fixed, Suspect Says

A man who declared he had confessed a holdup only to get his aching tooth fixed free in the county jail, was still there today awaiting identification by victims of the robbery.

The suspect, docketed as James Walsh, 25, of 1600 Grandview avenue, alleged to have confessed a holdup of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Company office in Carnegie of $580, June 15, yesterday told a relative who visited him in jail that the holdup story was false. He was quoted as saying:

"I wanted my teeth fixed and jail is one place where one can have them fixed for nothing."

An information charging Walsh with the holdup was filed before Justice of the Peace Hillen, of Carnegie. Two victims, now out of town, will be given opportunity to identify the prisoner.

Bandits Take Victims Of Holdups on 'Ride'

A bandit trio early today kidnaped the attendants of a parking lot and a gasoline service station and after robbing both, took them "for a ride."

Forcing Vincent Cardanone, 27, of 620 Broadway, McKees Rocks, into the office of the Fort Pitt Hotel parking lot, the bandit trio robbed him of $7 and, threatening him with violence if he resisted, compelled him to enter a car, which the bandits drove away.

After driving the attendant over Bigelow boulevard to Craig street, then back to downtown, the trio made another trip over the boulevard, forcing Cardonone to alight at Thirty-third street.

A few minutes later the same three with drawn revolvers robbed the Standard Oil Company filling station at Braddock and Penn avenues of $20 and forced the attendant, Bernard Lager, 22, of 209 Morewood avenue to enter their car. They drove him to the Washington boulevard entrance of Highland Park where he was ejected.

PITTSBURGH GIRL WINS FILM ROLE DURING SEA VOYAGE

DOROTHY HALE TO SUPPORT COLMAN

Meeting With Goldwyn On Sea Trip Wins Test

A chance meeting on a steamer today had brought a Pittsburgh girl face-to-face with fame in the movies.

She is Dorothy Hale, daughter of James P. Donovan, real estate man.

And the chance meeting was with no less than Samuel Goldwyn, film producer, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Miss Hale, new to the movies, has been signed to play opposite Ronald Colman in the screen version of the stage play, "Cynara."

IN COLMAN FILM

Miss Hale was on a steamer riding through the Panama Canal en route to San Francisco when she renewed acquaintanceship with Goldwyn, a fellow-passenger she had met at a dinner party in Havana.

When Goldwyn asked her if she wanted a movie test, she accepted.

WIDOW OF ARTIST

Miss Hale, born in Pittsburgh, is the widow of Gardner Hale, artist. She is manager of an art gallery in New York. She met Hale in Paris while she was studying painting and sculpture after she had been divorced from T. Gaillard Thomas.

Miss Hale's family in Pittsburgh lives at 9 Dunmoyle place. Her father's offices are in the Oliver Building.

VICTIMS TO SUE AKRON POLICE

AKRON, O., July 19.—(AP.)—A $25,000 damage suit against two Akron policemen was prepared for filing today by a young women and her male escort, who were wounded by police riot gun slugs last Sunday night when they failed immediately to obey an officer's injunction to stop their automobile.

Preparation of the suit was started by attorneys for Miss Helen Kanan, 22, of Alliance, O., and James Pickett, of Akron, when police authorities dropped an investigation after exonerating Officers Wallace Graves and D. W. Mellinger.

Miss Kanan and Pickett, who were joy riding with two other young people, said they were unaware anything was wrong until a hail of bullets rained over the car. The two suffered only arm and leg wounds, however.

Patrolman Graves, called to the neighborhood on a report that prowlers were about, said he signaled the car with his flashlight. When it went unheeded, he said, he fired once and then three more times before the last volley brought the car to a stop.

Lloyd, Morgan Aide, Township Treasurer

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(AP.)—Used to handling millions, Horatio Gates Lloyd, international banker and partner of J. P. Morgan, has become treasurer of Haverford Township—his home community.

Lloyd will turn his pay over to charity, but will try to straighten out the township's tangled financial affairs, resulting from the last treasurer, J. Leedom Moore, who was convicted of conspiracy and malfeasance in office.

Fortune Teller Slain As Attacker of Girl

OWOSSO, Mich., July 19.—(INS.)—Sheriff J. A. Fink, of Shiawassee County, today shot and fatally wounded Van Douglass Hanthorne, 35, a fortune teller, sought for a week on a charge of attacking a 12-year-old girl.

Hanthorne refused to heed orders to halt when trapped in a farmhouse near Bannister, a few miles from here. Police charged he attacked the girl when she went to him to have her fortune told.

Weather Conditions.

There was little eastward drift of the barometric pressure units during the last 24 hours. As a result, high pressure still dominates the weather over the eastern half of the country, and low pressure the western plains and the Rocky Mountain states. The principal low is centered over the Dakotas, lowest barometer reported, 29.62 inches, at Bismarck. The rainfall for the last 24 hours was light and was limited to the South Atlantic coast, the Gulf coast and the Rocky Mountain states. The weather continues warm over most of the interior, although there was a change to cooler in the Rocky Mountain states. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher occurred over the western plains from Northern North Dakota to Southern Texas.

SHOT IN AUTO, GIRL MUM

WOODMERE, N. Y., July 19.—(AP.)—A smartly-dressed girl of 21 was "taken for a ride" early today and she lay, apparently dying, in St. Joseph's Hospital she repulsed detectives' attempts to find out who shot her. She said:

"Go away and let me sleep. I'm not going to die."

The girl, who said she was Rose Wasserstein, was shot while in an automobile and was dragged 35 feet to a clump of bushes.

Couples parked in automobiles near Woodmere Dock, not far from Long Beach, Long Island, said a small car pulled up, parked a moment and then several shots were heard.

Court Proposes Remedy For Tax Jailings

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 19.—County and municipal authorities in the future should sit at intervals at some designated public building, invite taxables to attend who desire exemptions and present their claims, Judges C. D. Copeland, C. E. Whitten and W. T. Dom ruled in a 19,000-word opinion filed yesterday following the decree discharging Archie McEachern, 49, and Ivey Newman, 36, Negro, tax delinquents from the Westmoreland County Jail, where they served eight days.

The pair had been unable to pay their 1931 school tax of $5.25 each which with the costs totalled $9.50 apiece. Tax Collector F. J. Frederick, of New Kensington, who caused their arrest, had been refused exemption of the pair with some 2,000 others in the district, he said, and desired to test the law. Frederick also said the school board refused to personally investigate the tax exoneration claims.

The Court's opinion suggests that municipal authorities first ascertain if the 98-year-old statute, amended in 1931, is complied with, before bringing the cases into court. In the New Kensington case and in another where six unemployed men from North Huntingdon township were jailed for tax defaults,, the code was not complied with in that the tax collector had failed to levy on their personal goods before arresting them.

The court points out that before committing a delinquent to jail the collector should first request tax authorities to ascertain whether the taxable is unable to pay and if he cannot obtain money from wages or otherwise, he should be exonerated by the proper municipal authorities.

HIRE REYNOLDS INVESTIGATORS

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 19.—(INS.)—Private detectives, presumably hired by the family of Zachary Smith Reynolds, heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune, were reported today to be investigating the mysterious death of the 20-year-old millionaire.

Sheriff Transou Scott would not issue a denial of the report that W. N. Reynolds, uncle of the dead boy, had approved the hiring of private investigators.

Sheriff Scott, while declaring that no very important developments were expected before the new grand jury convenes on July 25, asserted that he had made "good progress" in his investigation.

The liquor used at the party, which ended in Reynolds' death, will be analyzed to determine if there was any possible sedatives or drugs present in its contents.

Mystery Dynamite Blast Kills Girl

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(INS.)—A geyser of stones and rocks, torn from a river bed by a dynamite blast, killed Edith Bailey, 21, as she sat in a motorboat on Big Timber Creek, near Westville, N. J., last night.

Men aboard a dredging craft about 150 feet from the scene of the explosion were unable to give police definite information concerning the tragedy. Prosecutor Joseph J. Summerill, of Gloucester County, today ordered a complete investigation.

TORTURE DEATH FIGURE LACKED LEGAL RIGHT

Prison Camp Captain Not Commissioned As Guard

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 19.—Capt. George W. Courson, now under indictment at Jacksonville for the alleged "torture murder" of Arthur Maillefert, young New Jersey convict, was illegally in command of the Sunbeam Prison camp when the boy strangled in a sweat box, International News Service learned today.

State records disclosed Courson was never commissioned as a camp captain or even as a prison guard. The law of Florida provides that only a commissioned officer or guard may act in a post of command at a prison camp.

The illegal status of Courson, when he whipped young Maillefert, and imposed the punishment that resulted in his death, was confirmed by Capt. B. H. Dickins, superintendent of state road prisons. He admitted Courson had no legal right to take command of the camp, and held no official position when he inflicted the "torture chamber" punishment on Maillefert.

IGNORANT OF LAW

Dickens said:

"Courson was relieving Capt. John F. Baker temporarily. He didn't hold a commission either as a captain or as a guard. He didn't know the difference. The state law says a man must be legally qualified to hold the position of camp captain, but Courson had never qualified.

"He was employed temporarily as captain of the Sunbeam camp by M. P. Phillips, division engineer of the State Road Department, who didn't know the law. Phillips didn't even know Courson had no commission."

This revelation placed Courson in a peculiar position.

He had no more legal authority to order Maillefert to work or to punish him even in the form prescribed by state law than an ordinary bystander. Authorities were agreed the legal status of Courson would play an important part in his trial on a first degree murder charge for the alleged slaying of Maillefert.

CONDEMNS YOUTH

While Dickins was frank to disclose Courson had no right even to enter the camp, the prison superintendent condemned Maillefert. He said the New Jersey youth was a "bad actor and one of the worst prisoners we ever had," continuing:

"Maillefert came from a section where the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped and murdered. He was a burglar and he defied the law. He attempted suicide twice and tried to escape three times. He simply would not submit to the law."

As for Courson, Dickins said:

"Capt. Courson is a man of good principles and good morals. But he violated the law in punishing Maillefert. I think he was misled by some of the guards. He had no right to use a chain on Maillefert. I think his only intention was to keep the boy safe."

Dickins said 61 prisoners at the Sunbeam camp praised Courson's treatment of them, "but, on the other hand, six prisoners said he was the worst captain they ever saw." But, he said:

"We can't abolish this system, even if one mistake has been made in 10 years."

MISSING HEIR FOUND, AGAIN VANISHES

Police Lack Arrest Order; Uncle Denies Wife Is Negro

LONG BEACH, Cal., July 19.—(AP.)—The condition and whereabouts of Allan Bradford Monks, Boston heir who has been sought by his family for two years, again were a puzzle to police today.

Long Beach police located the man yesterday, but said they had received no instructions to arrest him for San Diego police, who have issued a warrant charging him, his wife and her uncle, Wiley Lee Watson, with issuing a worthless check.

Later, when inquirers went to the home they were met by Watson, who said:

"The Japanese chauffeur has hidden him in a house in another part of the city on orders of Mrs. Monks."

Mrs. Monks, in jail in San Francisco, on being informed her husband had been located, said:

"He was not supposed to be there."

Watson denied statements of San Francisco police that Mrs. Monks was part Negro.

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.—(AP.)—If Natalie Talmadge has made up her mind as regards her future relationship to her husband, Buster Keaton, film comedian, she was keeping her decision to herself today.

When Miss Talmarge left Buster several days ago "to think it over," she said she would decide about divorce action yesterday. She has no announcement.

FIGURES IN 'THIRD-DEGREE' KILLING

DETECTIVE JOSEPH HIZENSKI AND MOTHER . . . . SHE WAS ROBBED, SEVERELY BEATEN

As an aftermath of the attack on Mrs. Hizenski by four men, Hyman Stark and three others were arrested, accused of the crimes. While being held by police, Stark died. Detective Hizenski and Deputy Chief Frank Tappen, of the Nassau, L. I., force, have been suspended pending investigation. It is charged Stark died while being grilled, his Adam's apple being broken. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

tives figured it would be easy for Hizenski to escape conviction by pleading he lost his head in rage over his mother's injuries.

Hizenski, in a mild voice, testified he "poked" the almost naked Stark twice. Justice Steinbeck thundered:

"You're lying."

He repeatedly warned police witnesses that in "covering up" they laid themselves open to perjury charges. Two policemen, Harry Zander and Leslie Pearsall, he bitingly called "expert masseurs" used to "shellack" tight-lipped prisoners.

WELTS DISCLOSED

One witness told of seeing Stark lying unconscious in a sound-proof room, his shirt all open in front, disclosing raw welts, of which a physician testified there were 50.

Others said they saw him slumped over a chair too far gone to speak, gagging at times and then, finally, unconscious. It was Police Captain Emil Morse who ordered him taken to the rifle room, testimony showed.

Zander insisted that Hizenski, crying, "You low down thief," leaped at Stark, hit him on the throat time and again, until his head snapped back and then dropped downward.

Dr. Thomas J. Fearns, physician called in by police, said he found Stark dying and in "shocking condition." He asked what the matter was and was told:

"He must have had a fit of some kind."

Justice Steinbrink asked:

"You detected that it wasn't a fit?"

The physician retorted.

"No trained eye was necessary for that."

Isse Stein and Philip Cecala, two of Stark's fellow-suspects in the $4 robbery of Mrs. Hizenski, appeared frightened as they pointed out policemen they accused of beating them. The fourth man, Alex Drangel, was surly and defiant.

SHAKING MEN

Walking down a long row of men, some of them white and shaking, he would stop in front of one, give him a thump that sent him back on his heels and say:

"He slapped me around."

He shook his fist at Detective Sergt. Marcell Chagnon, accused of wielding a rubber hose, and muttered:

"I'd like to break your skull."

The suspensions left the county detective bureau sadly riddled, and newspapers predicted a shakeup would follow. The men suspended were Lieut. Jesse Mayforth, Sergt. Charles Wesser, Sergt. Marcelle Chagnon, Deputy Chief Frank Tappan, Detectives Patrick Shanley, Thomas Bonanza, Leslie Pearsall, George Hutchinson, Harry Zander and Patrolmen Lannis Ray, Harry Liljegren and Harold Bretenbacker. Of these, Wesser, Pearsall, Zander and Bretenbacker were held as material witnesses.

City Sells Home Of Employe Owed Pay

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP.)—City officials auctioned off the home of James D. O'Reilly, a municipal employe for 25 years, for failure to pay $34 in city taxes, although he claims $850 in unpaid salary.

O'Reilly, an electrical inspector, learned today he could redeem his home by paying the small sewer assessment of $34, 6 per cent interest on it, 12 per cent for the purchaser at the auction, and all reinstatement charges.

For four years he has spent his spare time landscaping the place with terraced lawns, rock gardens and flowers. He has four children under 5 years of age. An older daughter and a sister, also city employes, are also in arrears of salary and unable to help him financially, he said.

MOTHERS RIGHT BABY MIXUP OF 12 YEARS AGO

Test Prove German Hospital Switched Boys at Birth

International News Service.

GLADBACH, Germany, July 19.—A strange hospital tangle, recalling the famous Chicago baby mix-up, ended satisfactorily today when counsel for one German mother announced she would not contest the findings of a court, ordering her to transfer to another woman the 12-year-old boy she had believed her own, and accept in his stead another lad the same age, who is a stranger to her.

Frau Mathilda Beuth, defendant in the unusual proceedings, and Frau Marie Donk, who brought the suit, agreed to accept the decision of the court which had been privately communicated to them.

BABIES SWITCHED

Frau Donk had hailed Frau Beuth into court by means of a friendly petition, alleging that their two sons, born on the same day in a maternity hospital in 1920, had been switched through the mistake of a nurse.

She told the court she had protested in vain when the baby was brought to her that she had been given the wrong child. The hospital authorities argued that their system for marking babies was flawless and that since only two infants had been born that day it was impossible that the nurse had erred.

Frau Donk, half convinced, took the baby home and nursed it as tenderly as if it were her own child.

But through the 12 intervening years she was assailed by doubts.

AGREE TO TESTS

A few months ago, while on a shopping tour, she met Heinrich, the supposed Beuth son, on the street, and was so struck with his resemblance to her eldest son that she employed an attorney, who approached the Beuth family. The Beuths reluctantly permitted scientists to make tests and after the experts had tentatively decided Frau Donk was right, the case was taken to court.

The Judge's decision, withheld from the public for some time because the suit had caused a furious controversy in Gladbach, was based largely on an examination of the eyes and jaws of the two boys and other members of the Donk and Beuth families. Blood tests failed when it was discovered both families belonged to the same group.

RUNAWAY STEER THRILLS CROWD

A thrilling "wild west show" in the streets of Manchester was witnessed by hundreds late yesterday.

The show began when a wild Brahma streer, one of the many in the Barton Brothers' Rodeo, which opened its week's engagement in Exposition Park, North Side, to help Father Cox's relief fund, dashed not for the bull pen, but through the horse stable and down along the bank of the Ohio River.

The steer's dash occurred after its act, during the afternoon performance. Cowboys, on their fast bronchos, gave chase. For more than an hour the steer was chased through the streets until it reached Beaver avenue, near Columbus avenue. There it tried to jump over an automobile and crashed through the hood.

With lariats the broncho-busters tripped the animal, forced it into a trailer and returned it to the show grounds.

Two Bridges to Be Dedicated in Fall

The George Westinghouse Memorial Bridge and the West End-North Side Bridge will probably both be dedicated early this fall.

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern yesterday asked when the two spans would be ready for the ceremonies. Highways Director F. J. Chester said the Westinghouse Bridge would probably be finished early in September and the other in October.

ECONOMY BILLS REVISED IN ASSEMBLY

HARRISBURG, July 19.—(AP.)—The pace of the General Assembly's economy drive slowed materially last night as the members began the fourth week of the session amid the echoes of a bristling counter-attack by Gov. Pinchot.

The greater portion of the bills comprising the $22,275,000 slash in governmental expenditures remained in the Senate Appropriations Committee where they are undergoing downward revision. Senator Harry B. Scott, Center, chairman of the committee, after a series of conferences with departmental heads, reported that his committee would probably reduce the total to $21,000,000.

ADJOURNMENT DELAY

He announced that adjournment this week is now impossible. Additional conferences with state officials will further delay final committee action on the economy bills, all of which may not be available to the Senate for final vote this week.

The Governor's attack on what he termed the "discrimination" made by the House in its economy program brought only one response from the Legislature. Representative Spangler, York, arch advocate of reductions in state costs, told the House he was "gratified" to learn that the chief executive was finally giving close attention to economy. He asserted the Governor, after searching out quarters in which savings could be made in the legislative and judicial branches, may be inclined to show the same diligence in considering the executive branch. The latter, Spangler declared, is the "state's greatest spending agency."

'TRAMP JUDGES'

The York member said the House might well consider as an object for investigation the "tramp judges" that the Governor criticized in his letter to Chairman Steedle, of the House Appropriations Committee.

The smooth routine of both branches was interrupted last night only by brief debate on and the loss of the Witkin-Blumberg bill to return one and a half cents, instead of one-half cent, of the three-cent gasoline tax to the counties where collected. The vote of 101 for and 90 against, four less than the number required to pass a measure, revealed what administration leaders claim is the delicate balance of the House. They cited it as presaging the ultimate failure of any effort to override a gubernatorial veto.

BANK BILL APPROVED

In addition to the Baldwin bill, three other measures were sent to the Governor. The House approved the Freeman Senate bill to permit the Secretary of Banking to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on the assets of closed banks. The Senate passed the Talbot House bill lapsing more than 2,000,000 of unexpended and unencumbered balances of appropriations prior to 1931 and the Ederer House bills repealing the $25,000 appropriation for state participation in the Chicago centennial celebration.

The Talbot $24,000,000 relief bill was sent back to the House Appropriations Committee for further amendment, while the Staudenmeier bills, increasing taxes on heavy trucks and buses, went back to the Ways and Means Committee for a public hearing.

The Senate passed on first reading the Musser bill eliminating county school institutes and the Spann bill permitting installment payment of taxes in Pittsburgh.

Youth Drives Auto With Broken Neck

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(INS.)—Name of another "whataman" was added by physicians to current history when they discovered Vance Young, 18, had driven an automobile from Greenville, S. C., to Knoxville with his neck broken. Knocked unconscious in a dive into a Greenville swimming pool, Young recovered and felt no injury. He drove to Knoxville and became ill. Doctors found the fifth cervical vertebrae broken. He will live.

BUNTON RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Charles Clifford Bunton, 60, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange and prominent in bituminous coal and river transportation circles, who died late yesterday at his home, 319 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Samson's chapel, 537 Neville street.

Mr. Bunton

Many years ago he became associated with the Union Trust Company and in 1907 he joined the Monongehela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, later merged with Pittsburgh Coal Company. At the time of his death he was general manager of river transportation for that company, a position he had held for almost 25 years.

Mr. Bunton was prominent in Masonic circles and a member of the Propeller Club. He was president of the executive committee of the coal exchange. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Morton R. Bunton; a son, Berryman R. Bunton; a daughter, Mrs. William W. Whitcomb, and a granddaughter, Evelyn W. Whitcomb.

COUNTY PROBE OPENS IN AUG.

HARRISBURG, July 19.—(INS.)—The legislative committee named to investigate the cost of government in Allegheny County will organize in Pittsburgh about August 15, Senator James J. Coyne indicated today.

Senator Coyne, who sponsored the resolution authorizing the inquiry, was named last night with Senator Morris Einstein, also of Allegheny, as the upper branch's representatives on the committee.

The House, which concurred in the resolution last week, named Representative Thomas W. Neely, Representative George H. Soffel and Representative James Wettach, all of Allegheny, to the committee.

Coyne's resolution charged that "the high cost of government in Allegheny County is one of the outstanding examples of costly administration of the public's business."

Power to subpena persons and records was given to the probers under the terms of the resolution. The committee's opinions and recommendations are to be reported to the regular session of the General Assembly in 1933.

4 BUGLE CORPS VISIT CAMP OF B. E. F.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Camp Marks at Anacostia, largest cantonment of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, is loud in its praise for McKeesport and Uniontown, Four bugle and drum corps from these towns cast a military spell on the camp.

The crack companies came here in trucks and on Sunday staged an exhibition that concluded with a massed review of the entire veteran population.

About 8,000 were in the columns that marched before a reviewing stand occupied by Commander Waters, his staff and Congressman Clyde Kelly, of McKeesport.

PRESENT BANNER

The McKeesport group presented a silk banner made by Mrs. John Rosekeiler, wife of a policeman veteran of the city who has been active in organizing food trucks for the camp.

The visiting corps comprised the Carl Everett Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Burt Foster Post American Legion, Duquesne Post American Legion and the champion Uniontown corps.

LEADERS OF CORPS

The visit was promoted largely through the efforts of Art Ginn, B. E. F. cartoonist. Albert L. Burnside commanded the Everett corps and Lieut. Neil Middleton was drum major. Dr. Joseph Arnold managed the Foster post, and Lieut. James Grey was drum major.

Congressman Kelly addressed the assemblage. He recalled how the veterans stopped the German hosts in 1918 at Chatteau Thierry. He said the country owed them a lot more than the bonus. He contended that the B. E. F. should demand a job for all its members and also for all the rest of the 10,000,000 unemployed.

Simms to Enter New Mexico Race

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 19.—(AP.)—John Simms, Albuquerque attorney and former justice of the State Supreme Court, announced his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination for Governor of New Mexico.

Simms, a Democrat, is a brother of the New Mexico's former Republican Congressman, Albert Simms, husband of the former Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Soldier of fortune and movie actor visiting Pittsburgh and McKeesport where he once sold newspapers. He stopped off on return to Pacific Coast after trip to capital with bonus army.

TUBE CITY BOY TELLS OF WARS

A soldier of the French Foreign Legion and many other countries, waiter, prize fighter, ambulance driver, and—well, it is an endless chain of experiences that Joseph Schwartz, former well-known newsboy on Pittsburgh and McKeesport streets today is telling hometown friends.

Schwartz is back for a week's visit with his brother, Louis Schwartz, of 505 Market street, McKeesport, from the movie lots of Hollywood. He has been doing "bits" since 1924. Appearing in many big movies, Schwartz has had parts with such stars as Ralph Graves, Jack Holt, Richard Dix, Buster Keaton, Evelyn Brent, Wheeler and Woolsey, Buck Jones, Walter Houston, Wallace Beery, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and others.

He was born and reared in McKeesport and received his first touch of show life with circuses. Schwartz made the trip east with the California B. E. F. delegation, spent five days in Washington and will leave for the coast Friday.

EAT Your Breakfast Bran In Delicious Flake Form

You probably eat bran now. Most everyone does. But you possibly don't know that you can now get bran in a delicious flake form.

Fig & Bran Flakes are large, crisp flakes which contain all the bran you need, and yet are so crisp and deliciously flavored that you would not dream they contained any bran at all.

Here is truly a most delightful breakfast food that combines two of Nature's best-known laxatives—sterilized wheat bran and luscious, sun-ripened California figs. Because Fig & Bran Flakes contains the actual wheat germ super-rich in Vitamins B and G, and is further enriched with food iron and food lime, it is especially valuable for growing children. Franklin Bank Pays Depositors 10 P. C.

Depositors in the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company yesterday were mailed a 10 per cent first distribution which, officials said, amounted to $204,523. Depositors who had $1 or less coming to them went to the bank to receive it.

The bank has net deposit liabilities of $2,069,297.98, to cover which were total net available assets amounting to $920,895.67, according to Dr. William D. Gordon, state secretary of banking.

Australia Dairymen Balk at Milk Price

PERTH, Australia—(AP.)—Dairymen have decided to supply no more milk to the people of Perth at present prices.

They demand 28 cents a gallon for their milk, but the distributing companies refused to pay more than 22 cents.

So the dairymen announced their intention to turn all their milk into butter. Only sufficient milk for hospitals and invalids and infants will be made available.

Catholic Societies to Choose Pittsburgh

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 19.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Catholic Societies and the Catholic Women's Union of Pennsylvania, in annual convention yesterday, chose Pittsburgh as the convention city for 1933.

John Eibeck, of Pittsburgh, who has served the organization at intervals as president for 25 years, is slated for election again today. The Women's Catholic Union sessions are being presided over by Mrs. Elizabeth Stopper, of Pittsburgh.

Sonnenberg Injured In Auto Collision

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 19.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, was brought to the Lawrence General Hospital today suffering from injuries received in an automobile collision. Richard Morrissey, of Lawrence, driver of the other car involved in the accident, was brought to the same hospital. Sonnenberg suffered lacerations of the lip, right leg, left hand and possibly a fractured rib.

Hawks to Undergo Operation on Jaw

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(AP.)—Lieut. Com. Frank M. Hawks, arriving here to supervise construction of a new speed plane, said today he would enter a hospital shortly for an operation on his jaw.

Hawks suffered injuries several months ago when his racing plane was wrecked in an attempted takeoff. He said an effort would be made by surgeons to give his jaw a better "hinge" movement.

TOMORROW we say "goodbye forever" to hundreds of old friends! Odds and ends from past sales . . . a few of this and few of that . . . a scratch here and a spot there . . . but all excellent quality and desirable nevertheless. The prices we've attached are practically "give-away." But we can list only a few of the many items here. We don't remember when we've seen so many perfectly thrilling things for little-or-nothing in practically every department. Tomorrow—one day only—because there's no prophesying how long quantities will last. All sales must be final; so please—no returns, no mail or phone orders.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(Ay tank you kin go hum now)

That public hangings of pickpockets in England had to be discontinued because of the increase of pocketpicking at these events!

That bridesmaids are not permitted in Russian Orthodox churches, but the groom may have plenty of ushers. (Such favoritism!)

That vegetarians who suffer from insomnia do not count sheep trying to go to sleep. They count carrots! (I'll bet he's crazy!)

That a drug store in Fort Smith, Arkansas, is the official post-office address for gypsy tribes of America.

That you can actually recover a letter after you've put it in the mail box if you rush to Room 224 at the Grand Central branch and fill out Form 1509 to the satisfaction of authorities. (What! In this heat?)

That in spite of all the kidding, government statistics prove that drug stores sell more drugs than any other commodity.

That President Cleveland was operated on by the famous Surgeon Keen on July 1, 1893, on the yacht Oneida as it passed through Hell Gate, N. Y., and the news didn't leak out for 24 years! (What! No Winchell?)

That the first five months of 1932 hung up a new national record for health, the death rate dropping to 9.2 per cent per 1,000.

That Hamlet is being produced in Moscow as a comedy by the young Soviet director, Akimov, at the Vakhtangov Theater. Let's write Vakhtangov again just to annoy the proofreaders, haw!

That 52,000 in New York City's elementary and junior high schools, out of a total registry of 865,000, were left back last June. (Wonder how many of them will become somebodies?)

That forty million people in the United States are without library facilities. (Now, there's an item!)

That one-quarter of the convicts at Sing Sing finished home correspondence courses last year, writing being the favorite subject.

That fog is made up of particles so small that 25,000 of them could be placed on the head of a pin. (Any bets?)

That the scientists of the University of California are developing a plant which can grow in water—without soil!

That the doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital amuse themselves by betting on the classic Turtle Derby. The favorite is named "Deficit."

That over 20,000 persons committed suicide in the United States last year, the rate jumping (out of windows) from a normal of 17.8 per 100,000 population to 20.5. The figure was worse, however, in the panic year of 1907-08, when it touched 21.5.

That in Porto Rico they grow sweet lemons from which you may make lemonade without sugar. (Did he have to add that?)

That Paul Morand, in a recent magazine piece, said of the Isle of Bali that it has taken the place of langorous Tahiti in the minds of college boys and in the hearts of women of 40.

That it is a place where the women are "more beautiful" than in any other spot in the globe—and where unmarried girls may have as many sweethearts as they choose. After marriage, however, the fun stops.

That an interview with the sons of Charlie Chaplin brought out the fact that they do not consider their father funny.

That is Peru you are fined heavily if they catch you using lighters instead of Peruvian-manufactured matches.

That in Florida barbers are now professionals, like doctors!

That in certain parts of Scotland they consider the finding of a four-leaf clover a sign of bad luck.

That Jimmy Walker's is the first car in Manhattan to feature one of those auto horns that plays: "How Dry I Am!"

That in Korea when a man meets his wife on the street, custom requires him to ignore her and pass her by. (Good old Korea!)

That elephants eat about 23 hours of 24. (Food, not hours, dope!)

That a French publicist has written a book contending that France owes us nothing, but that we owe France $625,000,000.

That times certainly have changed when an author sues a magazine publisher for $300 damages because the editor held the submitted articles for three months before returning them with the usual slip.

That Japan, which starts more arguments than any other nation, bought more Bibles than any other nation last year.

And that the Havre de Grace (Md.) jail is usually empty because arresting cops must buy the meals for their prisoners!

SEEKS CLOSED BANK REPORT

Attorney John E. Winner today said he had been engaged by a group of depositors of the closed Citizens' Trust Company, Bellevue, to institute court proceedings, if necessary, to compel the State Bank Department to file an inventory of the bank's assets.

While an initial dividend of 15 per cent was paid recently to depositors, no detailed list of assets has been filed, Winner asserted. A 100 per cent refund to school children of the borough, ordered by the court, has not been paid.

FIGHT ON GREAT CANAL LOOMS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(INS.)—The treaty signed by Canada and the United States for building of the gigantic St. Lawrence ship route must run the gauntlet in both nations before the project to open the interior of the two nations to ocean liners can be realized.

Although President Hoover and his aides heralded the completion of the treaty as a forward step for both nations, rumblings of opposition which may provoke bitter fights were heard today.

Four distinct obstacles were in the path of consummation of the treaty, for which agricultural interests in both nations have been fighting for years. They are:

Opposition of the Province of Quebec, particularly business interests, who fear that the Port of Montreal would be adversely affected.

Demand in this country, particularly in New York, for an all-American waterway from Lake Erie to New York City.

Financing the project, with both Canada and the United States troubled with the problem of high taxation and heavy government expenditures. The total estimated cost is $543,429,000, of which the United States would pay $257,992,000.

The power issue, with the State of New York demanding the right to develop a vast public-owned power system.

BAR COLLECTION FOR FREE WORK

The City of Pittsburgh is taking precautions to prevent policemen and firemen attempting to collect later for the five days of free service they now are giving each month. Each officer is asked to sign a waiver for the 30 days free service which they are to give during the last six months. This free service, working 30 days for 25 days pay, is in addition to the month furlough enforced to keep the expenses within the appropriation.

Public Safety Director James M. Clark said:

"We do not think any man will object to volunteering his services. They realize the economic conditions forced the cut."

Farrell Move Upsets Film Guesses

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.

Upholding 1932's reputation as a year of upsets, Fox will not retain the Janet Gaynor-Charlie Farrell combination after all. He will go to Warners to play in "Central Park," while Alexander Kirkland steps into the male lead of "Tess of the Storm Country."

Mr. Kirkland is a young actor for whom Winfield Sheehan has high hopes. Since his unexpected entry into the talkies—he came out to Pasadena for his health—the former Theater Guild player has conducted himself ably in a number of films, the most recent being "Strange Interlude," in which he plays Sam Evans.

Charles Farrell

All he needs now, concludes Fox, is for the public to become better acquainted with him. And they intend to accomplish this by casting him opposite well-known stars such as Janet Gaynor.

GRANDSIRE NOTED

Young Mr. Kirkland comes of a promiment family. His grandfather was former Admiral Kirkland of the Atlantic fleet—the naval officer whom Kaiser Wilhelm presented with a diamond-studded snuffbox. Mr. Kirkland's mother now wears these diamonds in a necklace.

The young actor has some unusual ideas. He wants to retire at 30—four years from now—and some day, he hopes to conduct an extraordinary experiment in child-raising. His plan is to take five or six children to a ranch, surround them with good books and music, but let them grow up without enforced direction of their minds.

Says he: "Perhaps the reason is that I was made to study so much when I was a kid."

WILLING TO PLEASE

Several weeks ago Clarence Muse, the Negro actor, visited Folsom Prison to get atmosphere for his role in "Liberty Road."

In the course of his tour, he came upon a colored prisoner spading up earth.

"That sure is fine dirt," observed Muse. "I certainly could use it down home."

The prisoner looked up.

"Well, sir," he said, "you fix it up and I'll bring it right on down there."

BOULEVARD TALK

The hard-working mechanics in Charles Bickford's garage are doing double duty these days. After fixing your car, they'll sell you neckties from the Bickford clothing shop . . . One clause which Irene Dunne insists on having in her new R-K-O contract is a guarantee of time off to visit her husband in New York. The star was prepared to throw over her whole career if this couldn't be arranged. She and her doctor husband may take a vacation trip to Honolulu . . . Seems that Greta Nissen didn't go to New York after all . . Will Rogers is back at last and Fox will rush his picture into production . . . Saw Pauline Stark lunching at M. G. M. She's looking very smart these days . . . that yacht of Buster Keaton's is one of the largest in the film colony. He bought it at a bargain ($25,000). The sober-faced comedian will be at M. G. M. for at least two more pictures. He is a big bet in the European market.

News from Los Angeles that Florenz Ziegfeld is in a hospital there, seriously ill and waging a battle for his life, will cause many prayers for his recovery to be breathed. Mr. Ziegfeld's illness began in Pittsburgh last winter while he was putting "Hot-Cha" through the final tests for showing in the Ziegfeld Theater, New York. Although he went to New York with the company, he had been ill since leaving Pittsburgh, and he recently went to a sanatorium in the Far West, from where he was removed to Los Angeles at the instance of his wife, Miss Billie Burke. Thousands who recall the fine achievements of Mr. Ziegfeld in the theater will hope that his genius for taste in a difficult line of production will be spared to grace the stage for many more years.

Looking ahead a coupla months is enough to give most producers a headjam, but Frank C. Reilly is looking as far in advance as next April and Chicago. He has in mind a spectacular musical comedy that he thinks will make a pleasant adjunct to the world's fair in the I-Will city next summer. "1893" is the tentative title, and it will be reminiscent of the World's Columbian Exposition, which, if memory isn't lame, had its "1492." Mr. Reilly expects to be assisted in the making of the libretto by Forrest Wilson, co-author of "Blessed Event." W. C. Fields and Rae Dooley have been cited as possible fillers of the comedy roles.

Monte Blue has signed a 40-week contract for a tour in musical revue about Hollywood called "Movie-Go-Round" . . . Among the six stage productions now current in New York is a revival of Frank Craven's comedy, "That's Gratitude," now a month old, and fixed to go through the summer . . . "Scarface," the title of which caused some objections, has been approved by the Pennsylvania censors, to carry the qualifying phrase, "The Shame of a Nation" . . . Spencer Tracy has been assigned to the lead role in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," film of the book by Warden Lawes, for which George Brent had been announced . . . Dick Powell has been borrowed from Warner Brothers for the new Will Rogers film, "Jubilo" . . . A son of Louis K. Sidney, former theater manager here, is learning the business of his pop and uncle, George Sidney, as a member Herman Timberg's revue.

Beginning tomorrow the Sheridan Square will show as its feature picture "Honor of the Press," with Rita LaRoy.

"Love Is a Racket" opens tomorrow in the Enright. The cast includes Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Ann Dvorak and Lee Tracy.

Opening Thursday in the Fulton is "Monte Carlo Madness," starring Sari Maritza. It is a comedy with music.

Barbara Stanwyck has the role of a night club entertainer in "The Purchase Price," coming Friday to the Stanley. George Brent and Hardie Albright are also in the cast.

Ruth Donnelly, former Broadway comedienne, has an important role with Joan Blondell, Stuart Erwin, Zasu Pitts and Ben Turpin in "Make Me a Star," feature picture opening Friday in the Penn.

The latest menace to happy homes, Gwili Andre, Danish beauty, makes her bow to American movie fans in "Roar of the Dragon," coming to the Warner Friday. Richard Dix and Zasu Pitts are also in the picture.

SUSPECT FLEES AMID BULLETS

Mt. Washington radio police this morning fired four shots in a futile attempt to capture an unidentified man, wanted at Homeville in connection with the larceny of an automobile. His companion, William Brown, 19, of Philadelphia, is being held at Mt. Washington Police Station. Both men were being questioned this morning in Grandview Park by Patrolmen John Reese and Earl Robinson, when Brown's companion fled.

Brown also was arraigned today with James Fincher, 20, St. Louis, Mo., and John Bordes, 19, 1119 Sylvan street, Homestead, before Magistrate J. J. Sweeney on a charge of stealing pillows from the home of J. H. Eibs 325 Bailey avenue, Mt. Washington. They were fined $25 or 30 days in jail. According to police, they slept on the pillows in Grandview Park.

Madness

Sari Maritza comes to the Fulton screen Thursday in "Monte Carlo Madness."

BLOCKS SEANCE IN DEATH PROBE

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP.)—The police rested in ballistic tests today their hope for a solution of the killing of George Carl, whose widow said she read in the cards his approaching death.

A seance with the neighborhood seeress, who presided over the card session at which the augury of death was read had been proposed by the police today, but Capt. John Ptacek forbade it. Such a procedure, he said, would make the police seem ridiculous and would be of little value in solving the crime.

Ballistic tests of the .38 caliber pistol found in the Carl home were ordered to determine whether it was the weapon that killed Carl.

Irish 'Carmen' Real Bull Do Well

By GEORGE SEIBEL

That good old Spanish thriller by Prosper Merimee, set to gorgeous music by Georges Bizet, had a revival yesterday at the Avenue Cinema, with an Irish gypsy named Namara and an Irish Jose named Burke. They sang very well, and an orchestra gave the music with much verve, and there was a real bull in the closing scenes, getting the happy dispatch by a real Toreador, while Carmen was outside taunting Jose into the use of his handy stiletto.

Mr. Seibel

There is a good deal of sword and knife business in this screen version, performed with more or less Castilian dolce far niente. Nobody gets very much excited over anything until the bullfight begins, in which Signor Toro displays considerable worry and the ladies in the grand stand applaud with perspiring sincerity. There is also some stunning mountain scenery, with a battle between smugglers and soldiers, in which the gunplay is up to the finest traditions of the wild west. One of the best actors is a little goat that comes on to lick the wounds of one victim. That goat isn't in Merimee or Bizet—he just butts in.

More animals make their appearance in the pictures of Rome by Ernest Newman, for there is the Forum of Trajan with all its scores of stray cats, the oddest sight in Rome. And to make the performance an all-round musicale as well as a zoo, there is "The Symphony Murder Case," a first-class Van Dine mystery thriller. Whether you are interested in the menagerie or the music, the Avenue Cinema will deliver the goods this week.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

AN ODD story came over the wires recently from Mechanicsville, Md. Odd, and just a trifle horrible. According to the dispatches, a carnival had been in progress for several days. The raffle boards, the wheels of chance and various other gambling games had done much to make the farmers' pocketbooks a little lighter and their hearts a little heavier.

When it became apparent that not one player had ever cashed a bet during the carnival's stay, the farmers grew angry. For many years I have been reading of similar situations. In stories, films and plays, I have watched the rubes as they attempted to even the score with the city slickers who ran the carnivals.

But the end you know as well as I. The carnival workers never fail to win. The hero cracks the crooked sheriff on the beezer, his rough associates slap the farmers right and left, the heroine saves the bearded lady from a rube who thinks she's the man who owns the outfit—and the final episode shows the entire carnival riding contentedly into the next town as the moon shines down and the heroine nestles contentedly in the hero's arms. Right?

This news story, however, so disillusioned me that I will never again believe my carnival stories. In case you didn't read it, I might tell you that—just as the carnival was about to pull out of Mechanicsville for Leesburg, Va.—three motor car loads of farmers appeared and sprayed bullets all through the carnival outfit. When the smoke lifted, nine people had been injured, four so seriously that they needed hospital treatment.

It was tough, of course, on the outfit. But I wish I had a lonesome buck for every farmer in the nation who will read that dispatch, leap to his feet and yodel a big hooray. I might be able to stave off the depression just a little longer.

The entire thing brings to mind an ancient anecdote that, while it may be familiar to many, is still one of the best stories of any year. It concerns a combination carnival, circus and Shakespearean troupe that was making an extended tour through the Northwest in years gone by.

You can just about imagine the brand of acting to be seen in any theatrical troupe that would ally itself with a carnival outfit. Even the lowliest ham who ever caught a tomato between the eyes would pause before hooking up with such an association. Yet there they were, actors all—and giving of their very best.

One evening, in a particularly tough mining town, the miners went for plenty on the various games of chance. In an ugly mood and because they were now short of dough, the men marched over to the theatrical tent to see what there was to this Shakespearean troupe. They soon found out.

The leading man, a hambo of the most chilling variety, stepped upon the stage and went through some of his lines. The audience grew restless before five minutes had passed. They began to tell him what they thought of him, and the actor made a fatal mistake. He faced his audience, threw his tough customers the nastiest of looks and then stepped back into the character again.

It was his last personal appearance. Some 20 guns barked simultaneously and the hambo dropped without so much as a single groan. They didn't even give him a chance for an exit line.

The next day, just before they left town, the troupe buried the star. They did it slightly before dawn — because none of the others had a hankering to meet the same fate. And over the appropriate spot they placed a crude sign:

"Here lies Artemus Jeremiah Thorne-Williams. He was shot by the men of this town for being an actor."

Several hours later, the men of the town were grouped around the sign. Instead of lamenting their deed, they were all laughing loudly. For someone had added a postscript—and whether it was written by miner or another member of the troupe, nobody will ever know.

"P. S.:" it read. "He died innocent."...

* * *

A CERTAIN cloak-and-suiter—remember the prosperous days when all the gags were told about them?—recently advertised in one of the morning papers for a model. He formerly employed 10 or 12 of them in his place on a weekly basis, but that was in the good old days. Now he could use but one.

Well, conditions being what they are, he found his offices fairly swamped with models the following day. They filled the hall on his floor. Almost 200 more stood in the lobby of the office building. And outside, there stood another 100 who were trying to push their way in. All in all, it was estimated that almost 600 models showed up for that one lonesome job.

The cloak-and-suiter didn't take the time to get names and addresses—which made him a rather unusual cloak-and-suiter. He saw perhaps 75 of the girls and then picked out one lulu. This girl had everything, and the cloak-and-suiter knew that he wouldn't have to search further.

He dismissed the rest of them. With exclamations of anger and disgust, they departed. He mopped his brow and turned to the girl he had hired.

"I'm glad that's over," he smiled. "I wouldn't want to go through it again for anything. I'm positive you'll be quite satisfactory. You can go out to lunch, now, but be back at 2 o'clock ready for work."

The pretty one thanked him and left. Two days later, the cloak-and-suiter had to go through the same task all over again. For the girl never came back!...

THREE colored men, reports Lew Brown, stood in front of a judge who peered at them through horn-rimmed glasses. They had all pleaded guilty to the same charge and were now awaiting sentence.

"Bill Jones," said the Judge to the first one, "how do you feel?"

"Judge," he replied without hesitation, "Ah feels purty good."

"Six months," cried the Judge. "Maybe you won't feel so good when you come out." He looked at the second man. "Washington Smith," he cried, "how do you feel?"

Washington Smith wet his lips. He had just heard what had happened to his pal who felt too good.

"Judge," he returned nervously, "Ah has to tell yo' dat ah feels very bad."

"Six months," growled the Judge. "Maybe you'll feel better when you come out." He looked sternly at the third man. "Harry White," he chirped, "how do you feel?"

Harry White hesitated.

"Judge," he finally said, "Ah'd like to let you know after three months!"....

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

This is the ideal time of year to go visiting members of one's family who live out-of-town or relatives, for since all the summer's social affairs are decidedly informal, social duties do not interfere with visitors' plans.

One of those to take advantage of the visiting season is Mrs. Wallace Hurtte Rowe. Just now she's in Cobourg, Canada, with her son-in-law and daughter, the Robert Broddy Duggans, of Toronto, Canada.

At the same time she's seeing many of her friends, for Cobourg has long been favored in the summertime by Pittsburghers. Before returning home, Mrs. Rowe plans to visit Mrs. George W. J. Bissell at Hyannisport.

* * *

Among those planning trips are the Howard N. Eavensons, who will motor to South Carolina. And Miss Margaret Hendrickson has motored to Philadelphia to visit friends. Spending the summer at Bemus Point, Chautauqua, are Miss Mary and Miss Frances Lane.

Miss Margaret E Work Married to Iowa Man

The Rev. and Mrs. William C. Work, of Bolivar, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret E. Work, to Howard Robinson Moles, son of Mrs. John D. Moles and the late Mr. Moles, of Central City, Ia. The ceremony took place at high noon Saturday, in the Work home, before an embankment of ferns and crotons and daisies. The bride's father officiated, assisted by an uncle of the bride, the Rev. S. A. Work.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, J. Kyle Work, wore a gown of ivory satin and lace, having the satin train draped from the waist. Her veil of tulle cascaded from a satin bandeau and she carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Andrew C. Stapf, of Crafton, was her sister's matron of honor, and wore a gown of green silk net with a picture hat of tea rose, with matching lace mitts. Miss Mabel I. Tullock, of Titusville, as maid of honor, wore tea rose chiffon with a green picture hat and lace mitts. Both carried Johanna Hill roses and gypsophila. Mrs. Work wore orchid crepe and white lace.

Stanley Ayers, of Buffalo, N. Y., served as best man, and Andrew C. Stapf, was an usher. A brother of the bride, Leonard A. Work, played the wedding music.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Moles left for the West, and will make their home in Buffalo, N. Y.

The bride is a graduate of the Indiana State Teacher's College, and studied music at New York University. For the past few years she has taught music in the public schools of Hempstead, L. I. The bridegroom is a graduate of Iowa State College, Ames, Ia.

'Flame in Sky' Clue To Missing Plane

BUENOS AIRES, July 19.—(AP.)—A youth's tale of seeing a "flame in the sky" Saturday afternoon came to La Nacion today from Mendoza, Argentina, and gave a possible hint to the fate of a missing air liner and its nine passengers.

The youth could make no accurate estimate of the distance through the montains at which the flash occurred. The airliner disappeared Saturday while en route from Santiago, Chile, to Mendoza.

Sarah Bachrach Engagement Announced

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Bachrach, of Clarksburg, W. Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah Helen Bachrach, of Hobart street, to Benjamin Mishelevich, of Murray avenue, son of Mrs. Esther Mishelevich, of Ocean Park, Cal.

Report Of Home

Mrs. J. D. Bowers, president of the New Future Home, presided at the regular meeting held in the home on Thursday. The report was made by the welfare committee for the month ended June 30, as follows: Children received, 8; women received, 49; positions secured, 6; miscellaneous assistance, 43; meals served, 796; lodgings, 207; hospital patients, 6, and those clothed, 4.

Pair Swindle Woman Of $675 Earrings

Two confidence men who stole diamond earrings valued at $675 from Mrs. Max Friedman, of 5615 Margaretta street, at Fifth and Liberty avenues yesterday, were sought by police today.

The two approached Mrs. Friedman in the street, admiring her earrings. Showing her another pair, apparently identical, the men asked Mrs. Friedman to remove her ornaments to let them inspect the gems. She complied and the men made off with the gems.

Turtle Entombed 21 Years Gains Nine Pounds

NEW YORK, July 19.—(INS.)—The best way of adding weight to turtles today appeared to be to imprison them in a foot of space beneath a flagstone for 21 years.

A turtle weighing five pounds was accidentally buried when a new sidewalk was laid in front of a midtown hotel in 1911.

Today, found alive when a laborer pulled up the flagstones to replace them with cement walk, the snapping turtle weighed 14 pounds despite lack of exercise.

AUDIT ATTACKS COUNTY PACTS

Two reports of Main & Co., who have been auditing the fiscal affairs of Allegheny County seven months, were submitted to the County Solicitor yesterday.

A voluminous report of joint agreements between the city and county recommended that the matter be brought before the Public Service Commission for a redistribution of the charges. The other was on the handling of workmen's compensation claims. Neither was released for publication. The solicitor's office will study the reports and recommend what action is to be taken.

Laura Morgan, Flier, To Marry Engineer

NEW YORK, July 19.—(Universal.)—A romance of the air lanes was revealed when Miss Laura Morgan and Robert D. Jackson, engineer, of South Salem, N. Y., took out a marriage license yesterday. They are to be married July 27.

Miss Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman S. Morgan, holds a pilot's license and has taken part in several air derbies. Jackson also is an aviation enthusiast and has a pilot's license.

West View Woman Struck by Auto Dies

Mrs. Josephine H. Hunter, 40, of 137 Hawthorne avenue, West View, died early today in Suburban General Hospital from a fractured skull suffered late yesterday when she was struck by an automobile in Elizabeth avenue, Avalon, according to a coroner's report.

Mrs. Freda M. Hughes, of 2251 Brownsville road, the driver, was ordered to post bond at the Coroner's office.

'Flying Scot' Beats Own Rail Record

EDINBURGH, Scotland, July 19.—(AP.)—The Flying Scotsman, one of the most famous trains in the British Isles, beat her own record from London yesterday by traveling the 392¼ miles in 7 hours and 27 minutes. This was three minutes faster than she had ever did before. The average for the non-stop trip was 56 miles an hour.

Cash, Ring Vanish With New Roomer

An hour after a stranger rented a room in the home of Mrs Stella Meyer, of 4911 Scioto street, the theft of $9 in cash and a ring valued at $40 was discovered.

Mrs. Meyer told police the man gave his name as "Parker," and said he was from McKeesport. She discovered the theft after the man went out, saying he was going to lunch.

FRIEND AND FOE OF CAROL LOSE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 19.—(AP.)—Final official returns from the Rumanian parliamentary elections published today gave the National, Peasants' party 1,203,400 votes and 277 out of 387 seats in Parliament. The rest of the seats were scattered among half a dozen parties.

Nicholas Jorga, close friend of King Carol and former premier of Rumania, will be unrepresented in the new Parliament. Likewise Gen. Alexandru Averescu, head of the People's party and one of the King's severest critics, will be out.

Juliu Maniu, head of the Peasants' party, also has had his troubles with Carol, and two years ago the differences led to his resignation as premier. With the Maniu party running so far ahead in this election, it was reported that negotiations already had started to iron out the differences between the party and the palace.

Oil Explosion Rocks Chicago's Suburbs

CHICAGO, July 19.—(INS.)—Explosion of a fuel oil tank early today rocked three North Shore suburban towns. The tank, situated on the outskirts of Wilmette, belonged to the Kutten Brothers Coal and Oil Company.

Wilmette, Evanston and Winnetka felt the repercussions from the terrific blast and sleeping residents near the tank were hurled from their beds. Police were inclined to blame bombers.

Lord Lytton, League Prober, Ill in China

TSINGTAO, China, July 19.—(INS.)—The Earl of Lytton, head of the League of Nations' Far Eastern Commission, arrived here ill today and had to be carried in a stretcher from the ship on which he traveled from Yokohama. He was taken to the airport to be rushed to Pieping for medical treatment.

THORNTON, RAIL HEAD, TO QUIT

MONTREAL, July 19.—(INS.)—Sir Henry Worth Thornton, American-born president of the Canadian National Railways, will offer his resignation to the government on October 1, International News Service learned exclusively today.

Ill health was assigned as cause for the proposed action.

Sir Henry, former University of Pennsylvania football player, and Long Island Railroad superintendent, became active in British railroad management shortly before the World War. He became a British subject and was knighted in 1918, and during the World War was in charge of Britain's railroad system in France.

GLIDER RECORD AGAIN BROKEN

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 19.—(AP.)—Jack O'Meara, of New York, a glider pilot, last night reported to the national gliding meet that he had soared late in the day to Tunkhannock, Pa., 75 air miles away, breaking the distance record of 65 miles set Sunday by Martin Schempp, of Pittsburgh.

Stanley Smith, University of Michigan, made a difficult flight yesterday across the city of Elmira from Big Flats Mountain to the airport, a distance of five miles.

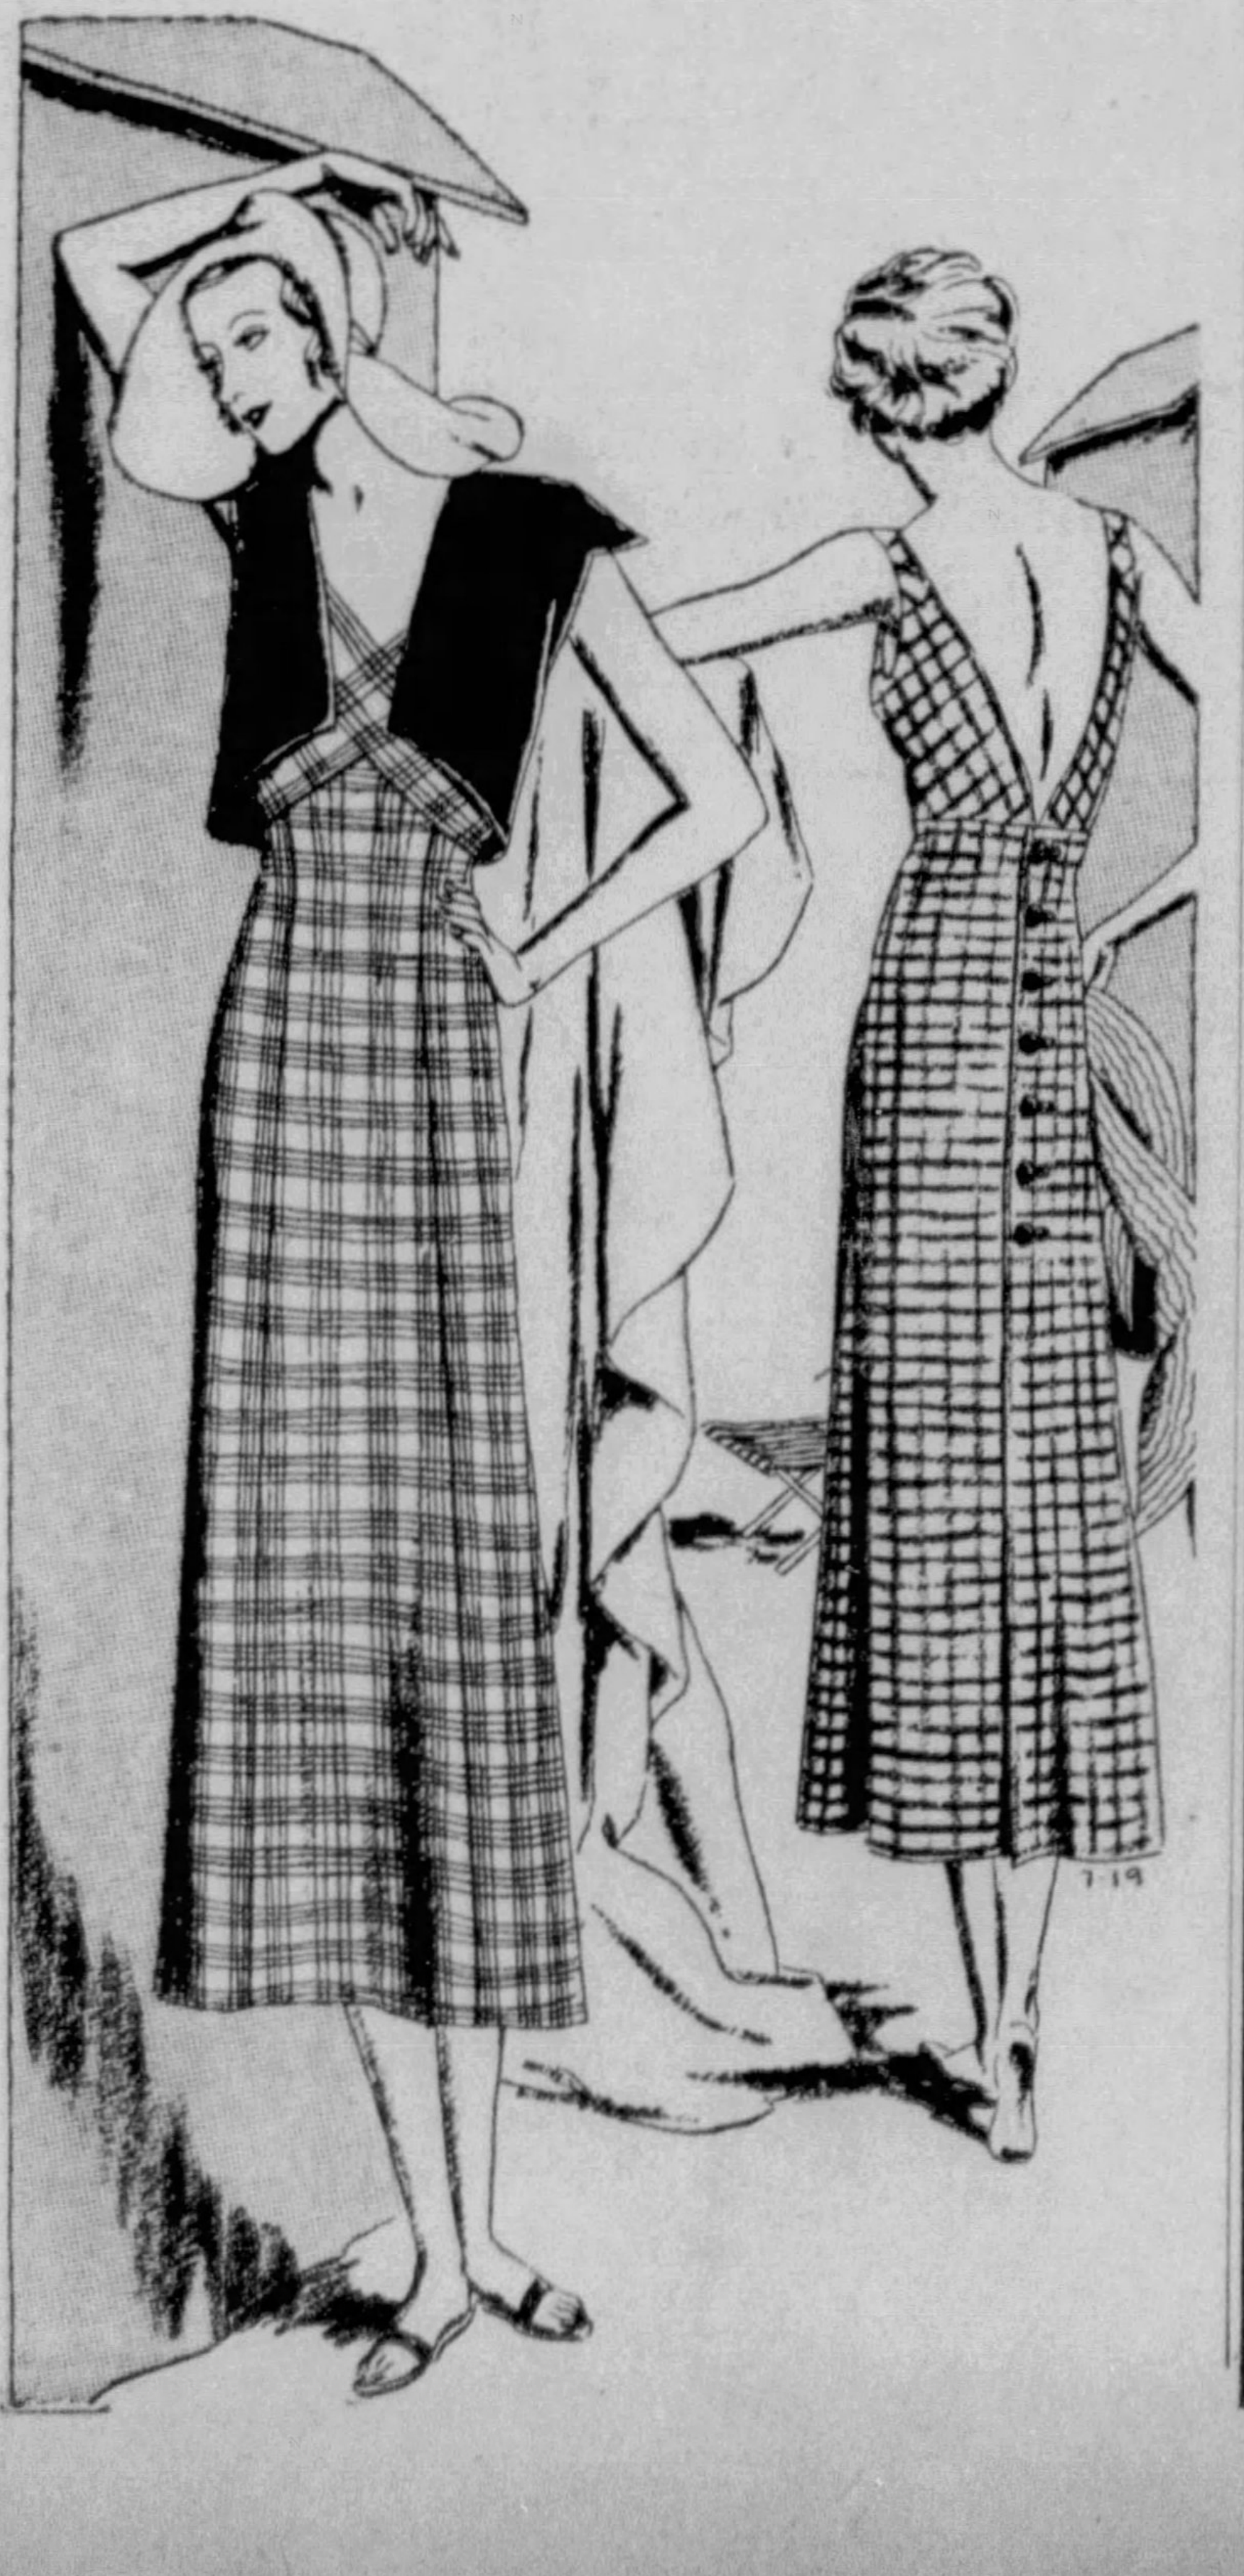
Flood Sweeps Town, Inhabitants Flee

BRESCIA, Italy, July 19.—(AP.)—The flood waters of the Vrenda River, pouring down into the Sabbia Valley last night, routed inhabitants of the town of Odolo from their beds and crushed three bridges.

The wall of the St. Bartholomew Church was knocked down, the church was flooded, and the main street not only was washed away, but also was buried outside the town by a landslide.

COSTUMERS LOOK KITCHENWARD FOR DEVASTATING BEACH DESIGNS

—Sketched in Paris—



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 19.—Fashionable French beaches are borrowing from the kitchen and pantry for their new styles. Kitchen fashions in aprons and bibs, and kitchen fabrics are appearing at French resorts as the smartest new beach togs.

* * *

THE BEACH apron, designed originally for those women who dislike pajamas, is fast becoming the standard equipment in wardrobes for the seaside and for the country as well. It is made of heavy, washable fabrics and is so designed that it can be worn as a dress or as a covering for a bathing suit.

* * *

COARSE plaided linen, of the type used for kitchen curtains, is one of the materials chosen by Vera Borea for her beach aprons. She makes them on simple lines, following authentic apron patterns, leaving the back deep and low to allow for plenty of sunning.

* * *

* * *

THE LITTLE red jacket for the beach—also done by Borea—is cut from a single piece of patent leather. The red wood sandals are held on by strips of matching red patent leather.

New Interests Required by People Who Are Bored

He's bored—acts utterly miserable, if he has to spend an evening alone with the wife.

What has happened? Where is the romance that made life glamorous on their wedding day?

Has it flown out of the window because the Little Woman has let herself get dumpy and dowdy and out of date? Is she just a dull little home body, with no thoughts outside of the butcher and the baker and the latest in vacuum cleaners, or is she an ambitious modern femme, who has let the home go haywire while she sat around and gloomed about how she'd like to "express herself" outside it?

Nope! It's none of those things. She is smart and trim, in the latest in pancake berets and slick marcels, and every day she goes out in the big world of business where things—big, interesting things—are happening, just as he does. Outwardly their marriage seems smooth as a May morning, yet—

HUSBAND BORED

"Dear Sally:

"Please help me, if you can. I have just read your article on 'Why doesn't he love her in December as he did in May?' and I just had to write you. I am so sorry for Anne, for I have the same problem to face.

"I have been married almost 10 years, and I am 32 years young. My husband is only 30, but I don't think the difference in age has much to do with our trouble, because I look younger and have more pep and vitality than he.

"I have gone to business every day since I was married. I have always kept myself and my home up-to-date and immaculate. I have a tendency to get overweight, but I have always kept my weight down, mostly to please him, as he hates to see a woman weigh a pound too much.

"I have done all this—and what have I now? A husband who is bored to death if he has to spend one hour alone with me. Lately I only work four days a week, and if he happens to be at home on one of my days off it is only a misery to me.

HE IS JEALOUS

"I go out with him wherever he chooses to go, and entertain our friends at home, but nothing helps. The thrill is gone for him, I guess.

"I really believe that Anne and I are in the same boat. And I honestly don't believe there is one thing to do. There is only one thing that makes me cling to the hope that he still cares, and that is that he is very jealous, and accuses me, unjustly, of flirting with and dating his friends, which causes me a lot of unhappiness.

"Sometimes I wonder if Anne's trouble and mine are because we are unable to have children, yet I see lots of childless couples who are very happy, and a lot with children who are not. What is the answer? Please try to cheer me up, won't you? What is wrong? I try so hard to keep myself and my house looking nice and to please him.

"L. B. M."

What's wrong, my dear? I suspect you're both in a rut. Marriage has become a smoothly running machine.

MUST BREAK MONOTONY

For 10 years you two have lived with one set of ideas, one set of motions—a nice, safe, comfortable life for a couple of slugs! But not at all the comfortable life for two healthy young human beings.

Look at it yourself. You have nothing to fight for, nothing to fight about. You created a deadly vacuum for yourself, and in it love is slowly dying.

Get alive, girl! Smash the maddening routine of your days! Get an objective! If you can't have a baby, you can adopt one. If you don't care for children, you can find some other vital interest in study or in play. But do something that will break up the monotonous order of your days. Do something that will put the tang back into life again.

Why shouldn't you be bored? If I were living as you two are living, I'd bite myself to death just to start something.

Fay King Deplores Wild Drinking by Girls That Destroys Their Beauty

By FAY KING

I am happy to hear that the beautiful showgirl whose face was badly cut in an automobile accident will retain her beauty.

In a number of cases lovely girls of the stage have been injured in accidents and for most of them it has meant the end of their stage career, which depends entirely upon their perfection of face and figure.

To preserve their beauty is most important and difficult. Too many of their rich admirers entertain them with drinking and dancing into late hours which is bound to bring a weary and puffy appearance.

It is sad to see these exquisite girls indulging in too many highballs and surrounded by bleary-eyed playboys.

They deserve so much better!

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge is Impressed With Mary's Good Judgment

"Sit down, you amazing child," I commanded, "and tell me instantly all that you've been up to. You told me over the 'phone that you were on the track of something and that you were using the means typified by the quotation from 'Stalky'—the bleating of the goat attracts the tiger. And I've been thinking that—that." I faltered, and my voice trailed off into silence while Mary finished my sentence.

"That I was staking out Marion as the goat, in order to find out what plan Owen had in his head?" Mary queried. "Well, I'll 'fess up! That was my plan at first, until I found out—" It was her turn to hesitate now, and with sudden illumination of her attitude, I prompted her:

"That Marion unexpectedly is romantically attracted by Owen?"

"So Aunt Lillian has seen it, too," she said—with a keen look at me. "For, of course, that's the only way you could get it this soon—from her. Marion isn't admitting anything. The little fool doesn't know what it's all about, anyway. And Carolyn is only guessing. Oh!" with a sudden thought. "Perhaps Aunt Lillian did not tell you, after all. You couldn't help but hear us gassing when you came down the hall, and Carolyn's language was certainly illumninative, to put it mildly.

"Of course, I knew before I went up there that 'Uncle Charlie' was trying to cop out Marion," Mary began. "You remember I told you so?"

"Yes, I remember," I said. Indeed, I felt that I never should forget my astonishment at that revelation.

"But what I didn't dream of," Mary went on, "was that Marion had any other thought about the old bird except to be terribly set up that a middle-aged man should have fallen for her so hard. I don't mean that he really cares two snaps of his finger about her. He's the most cold-blooded fish you could imagine. Money's the only thing that interests him. But he's an artist, that lad, or rather a great actor, and the stunt he put on this time before Aunt Lillian got there was worth seeing.

"That's what put it into my head that Marion and I might get some line on him, if we worked together and Marion pretended to fall for him. You see," she explained, "I can't get it out of my head that he's after something special with Marion—something he thinks he can get out of her, if she marries him, or even falls in love with him enough to want to please him.

"The first day or two Uncle Charlie didn't get a look-in," Mary went on. "Ronald was strictly on the job, and he kept Marion so busy that she didn't have any time to give Uncle Charlie.

"But the old lad has the advantage of being a marvelous horseman, and when he singled Marion out from the rest of us as the best rider, and praised her horsemanship to the skies, you could begin to see the girl sit up and take notice.

"I suppose the foundation for it all had been laid long before, but he sure was a fast worker this trip. Under the pretense of giving her points on riding he used to gallop ahead with her, or ride behind the rest of us and without being awfully brash about it, I couldn't keep my promise to you people always to tag along with her.

"I can tell you I was worried stiff," she said emphatically, "and I tossed to the topshelf my idea about using Marion as a 'bleating goat attracting the tiger.' All I thought about was hobbling the tiger by being able to stick around with him and Marion. So I 'went into the silence' for a bit and evolved a plan."

She stopped and looked at me a bit uneasily.

"It was a fool thing to do," she said, "but I couldn't get hold of anybody down here to ask about it, so I went ahead on my own. I got an opportunity to see Owen alone, and asked his advice about Marion, saying I was worried about her friendship with Ronald, because I didn't think Ronald was the type to make her happy."

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Informal Wedding.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married at a very simple home wedding, and am having the immediate family. The groom is having his immediate family and two very dear aunts and uncles.

1. Will you kindly tell me how invitations are issued for so very few people, whether I merely send a written invitation? One cannot have so few printed.

2. What sort of suit should the groom wear? I am wearing a beige chiffon afternoon dress and hat.

H.

1. No, you shouldn't have formal invitations for this informal wedding. You probably will invite most of these guests by word of mouth . . . perhaps you and your mother might go together to call on these relatives and extend the invitation in this charming way. To those guests who cannot be invited in this way, your mother, as hostess, would write a note of invitation.

2. The groom may wear formal afternoon clothes . . . cutaway coat and dark striped trousers. Or he may wear a business suit, probably dark blue.

Baby Announcement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am expecting a baby soon. My husband was killed recently. I would like to know how to send out my baby announcement cards, whether it would be Mr. and Mrs., or just Mrs.?

H.

My dear friend, I am sorry. May I have the privilege of sending you through my column this message of very deep sympathy? How brave you must be to face this . . . bless you for it. Perhaps you'd rather not send out any announcements . . . they aren't necessary, you know. . . . but if you do, they should be sent out in only your name.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Unusual but Sound Defense

Defense at the Contract table, to be effective, cannot be wooden. The Declarer can see at a glance his resources in honor-tricks and his possible winners in established low cards. The defending players, particularly when neither has made a bid and the suit chosen for an Opening lead is shown to be weak, are placed wholly upon their resources in locating high cards and in determining the lines which may bring about the defeat of the contract. While Opening leads from a tenace combination are generally undesirable, and a player holding such combination should adopt the policy of "wait and see," once the Dummy is down and play is begun, the rule laid down in regard to such leads, or, in fact, any leads, is modified by the conditions confronting the player.

An interesting example of an unusual defensive play, which brought about the defeat of a correctly bid no-trump game, is given on the hand below:

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North:
♠ K J 10
♡ K J 4
♢ 10 9 5 2
♣ J 9 4

West:
♠ Q 6 2
♡ 10 7 6 2
♢ A 8 6
♣ 5 3 2

East:
♠ 9 8 3
♡ A 5 3
♢ 7 4 3
♣ A Q 10 6

South:
♠ A 7 5 4
♡ Q 9 8
♢ K Q J
♣ K 8 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 NT (1)	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) With more than 2 honor-tricks, North's Raise of the no-trump bid is obvious.

West was faced with a very undesirable choice of leads, but elected to open his fourth best heart, the conventional lead under these circumstances. East won with the Ace, and it was, of course, apparent to him that a return of his partner's suit was hopeless. At best, West held four hearts to the Queen, and probably no better than four hearts to the Ten. To return the Opening lead, under these circumstances, would be simply to play the Declarer's game for him. There might be a weakness in his lines, however, and this East sought to determine.

In this hand it was apparent that a lead of spades or diamonds could accomplish nothing. The first would be a lead up to a tenace, and the Declarer would probably develop the diamond suit in any event, as his Opening bid of notrump had denied biddable length and strength in any suit. There then remained the club suit, and this East determined to develop from a defensive standpoint, and chose as his return the club Queen, a lead which could cost nothing, but which might defeat the contract if West were able to regain the lead and continue the club suit through Dummy's Knave.

South won the club Queen with the King, and in counting his tricks saw that it was necessary for him, with his stopper in clubs removed, to establish diamond tricks. South now led the diamond King, which West won with the Ace, and returned a club, thus defeating the contract, the defending players winning one heart, one diamond and three clubs.

If East had not grasped the defensive possibilities of the hand, and had returned the heart, or, in fact, any card except the Queen of Clubs, the declarer would have gone game easily.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

What is the correct response to an opening two-club bid on the following hand:

♠ A J 9 2 ♡ 7 6 ♢ 9 6 5 ♣ 9 8 6 5

Answer: Four clubs, the hand containing adequate trump support, 1 honor-trick and 1 ruffing-trick.

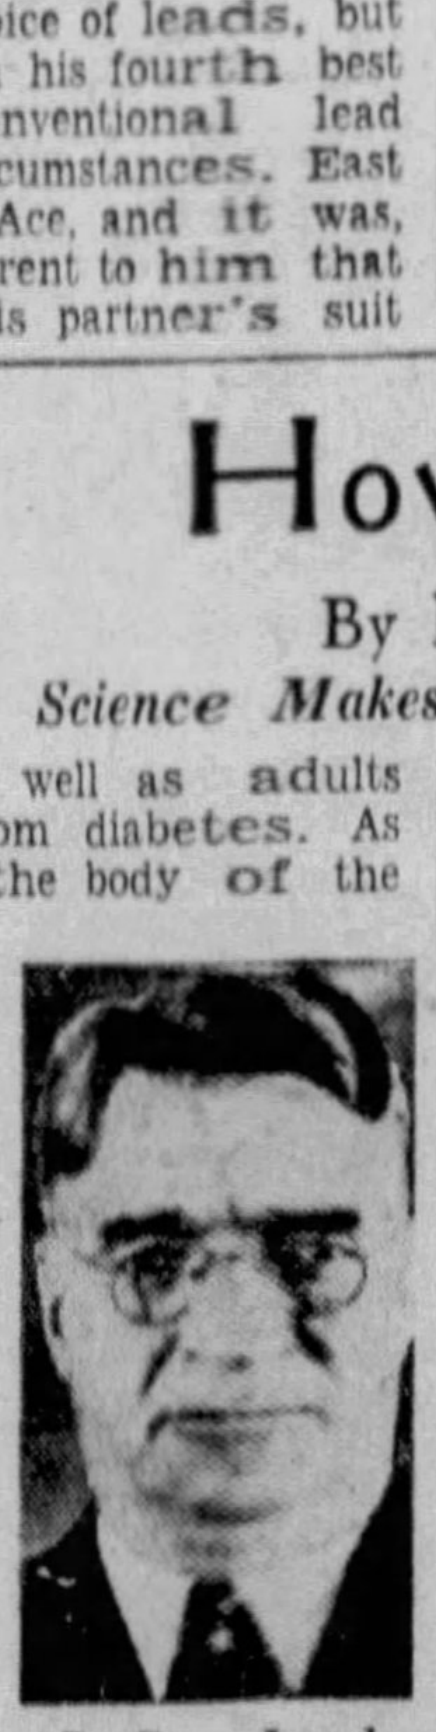
Science Makes Long Life Possible for Child With Diabetes



Dr. Copeland

Children as well as adults may suffer from diabetes. As in the adult, the body of the afflicted child is unable to deal properly with the sugars and starches of the diet, and the excess sugar accumulates in the body.

In former years diabetes in childhood was almost always fatal, but I am glad to say that conditions have improved amazingly. As a result of the discovery of insulin, and with a careful prescribed diet, a child with this disease may grow to a normal adult life.

Because the disease is not expected to develop in children, it is often overlooked. It should always be suspected if a child drinks an unusual amount of water and urinates frequently and copiously, for these are characteristics of children with diabetes. They have excellent appetites also, yet lose weight. If these signs are present the child should be taken to a physician for examination, and a test made for sugar.

If diabetes is found, the child's diet should be regulated by the family doctor, and if sugar continues after a strict diet has been followed, it will be necessary to use insulin.

Children with diabetes usually are bright and quickly realize the importance of the treatment when the disease is explained to them. They readily understand the necessity for strict diet, and they require the same food as diabetic adults.

These little patients should be taught to eat slowly and chew their food carefully, and it is best for them to rest before and after meals. If insulin is given, the child should rest after it is given, before eating.

A definite schedule should be arranged for each day, for diabetic children who are taught habit and routine overcome many of the handicaps of this disease. School work should be encouraged, but never forced.

Not all cases of diabetes require insulin—only those where sugar persists in spite of rigid diet. Great benefit is derived from insulin when properly used.

The amount of insulin given at the beginning of treatment is gradually decreased, so that eventually the child receives a minimum amount. Never give insulin unless directed to do so by a physician. Insulin, which lowers the amount of sugar in the blood, should be followed by food to prevent the so-called "insulin reaction" that occurs when the sugar suddenly drops low.

NAPOLEON GEMS SENT ABROAD

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—The Napoleon necklace, which the "little corporal" is said to have presented to the Empress Marie Louise, is on its way back to Austria after an unsuccessful attempt to sell it here for $500,000. Its present owner, Archduchess Marie Theresa of Austria, ordered its return.

The archduchess' attorney was quoted as saying she had decided the jewel has been the cause of too much controversy and had ordered it entrusted to the purser of the liner Berlin when it sailed last Thursday.

Archduke Leopold Hapsburg, a relative of the archduchess, was tried and acquitted on a charge of grand larceny last winter after the necklace had been sold and reclaimed from a Fifth avenue jeweler for $60,000.

Sister Scolded, Man Hits Father With Ax

CLEVELAND, July 19.—(AP.)—Infuriated, police said, because his sister was admonished, Andrew Hudak, 29, struck his father, John Hudak, 64, on the head with an ax, last night, inflicting a probably fatal wound. The son was arrested.

The elder Hudak's wife had reprimanded the daughter, Susanne, 24, for the way she sat in a chair. The daughter slapped her mother, the police said, and when the father then admonished the younger woman, the son became enraged and swung the ax at him.

New York and Scotland Yard Mysteries in Two Programs; Wynn, Perkins on WCAE

Once again Tuesday night rolls around and that portion of the radio audience which likes to turn off the lights and listen to eerie, thrilling mystery dramas via the air waves, needs only to twirl the dial to WJAS at 9:30 and to WCAE at 10 for an hour of specially designed entertainment.

Mr. Curtin

"The Avenging Ikon," another of Charles Barry's murder stories, is offered in dramatized form during the Crime Club program on WJAS at 9:30. The instruments of the tragedy are two Madonna pictures, and the victims, two men who tried to remove them from the wall. Laurence Gilmartin, the Scotland Yard superintendent, is faced with a perplexing problem, but finally bares the secret of the ikons and brings the criminal to justice.

D. Thomas Curtin's adaptation for radio of the daring midnight holdup of the collection "owl" car of a street car company and the brutal murders of the conductor and collection agent—a true story which sent headlines across the country's newspapers not long ago—is presented during the cigaret hour on WCAE at 10. The musical portion of the program is presented by Anson Weeks and his orchestra, playing from San Francisco.

Fare for the dancers on WCAE tonight is provided by Jack Denny and his orchestra, playing from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, at 11:30, and an hour of rhythm by Paul Whiteman and his Chieftains, from the Biltmore Cascades, from 12:05 to 1 a. m. Emerson Gill, playing from Woodmansten Inn, is scheduled from 11 to 11:30.

Program Pointers

Helen Wentzell, young composer-pianist of Greensburg, presents a quarter-hour recital from KDKA tonight at 7:15 with Frederick G. Rodgers as narrator .... Miss Wentzell has written several selections for the organ, both classical and popular, and is the composer of a number of songs ... Two KDKA programs are broadcast over an NBC network today. The first, Musical Melange, at 10 a. m., is followed at 6:30 tonight by "Sheer Romance." The latter depicts the romance of Nellie Custis and Lawrence Lewis, with Helen Wayne and Claude Morris as the sweethearts.

Miss Wentzell

Ray Perkins, who says he couldn't even buy a gravy boat, discusses yachting and turns the "Firing Squad" on the person who squeezes toothpaste tubes in the middle during his program over WCAE at 7:30.

Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit sing "Hold My Hand," from the new English musical comedy of that name, as a duet on WCAE at 8.

Georgie Price is heard twice on WJAS today. He tells about some of the interesting events of his career when he appears on the "Meet the Artist" program at 5, and at 7:45 offers his impression of Al Jolson singing "The Spaniard That Blighted My Life."

An all-German program is presented by the Goldman Band over an NBC network including KDKA tonight at 9:30. Highlights are a "Choral and Fugue" and "Fugue in A Minor" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Edwin C. Hill, for 22 years a New York newspaper reporter, returns to the Columbia network in a new group of tri-weekly broadcasts over WJAS tonight at 8.

Fan Fare

Welcome Lewis has a pair of gold earrings said to have been made in 1600 ... They were sent to her by a listener ... Ann Lester sings in five different languages ... Earl Smith, of Eton Boys, used to set type ... Reports have it that Clark Gable may go on the air ... Alois Havrilla revealed recently that at the age of 8 he sang Handel's "Messiah" and other oratorios ... Chic Johnson nearly caused a riot in the studio just before Rudy Vallee's program went on the air the other night ... He minced out in front of the audience, gave an exaggerated bow and removed his battered high hat ... amazing everyone when a pigeon fluttered out and wandered around the studio.

Mr. Gable

Charlie Agnew "mesmerizes" his orchestra before it begins to play ... He waves the baton for fully a minute and every musician's eye is riveted on it.

Little Lucy Graux, 11-year-old girl who told the NBC audience how four surgeons stopped their regular work to save her little dog's life proved herself before the microphone ... She refused to talk at first, but after it was all over, she said she liked broadcasting.

One of the singers in a Paul Whiteman audition may yet get her chance to star with the jazz king, even though she didn't win ... She is Dorothy Williams, 6, who sings like a veteran and was greeted with a burst of applause at the end of her trial.

While Freeman F. Gosden and Charles J. Correll—Amos 'n' Andy—are waiting for the elevator each night they do a tap dance that would be a credit to professionals.

Campbell Memoirs Seibel Topic

George Seibel, dramatic and literary critic of the Sun-Telegraph, discusses additional memoirs of Bartley Campbell, noted Pittsburgh playwright, gleaned from a letter recently received by Mr. Seibel from Campbell's son in New York, during a broadcast from WCAE tonight at 7.

With Uncle Bob and Betty still visiting Uncle Tobias in the country, Uncle Bumpus and Billy again pinch-hit for them, reading the Sun-Telegraph comics on WCAE tonight at 6.

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, goes on the air daily at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. with the latest news flashes from the editorial room.

Peggy tips Pittsburgh shoppers on the most outstanding bargains of the day when she gives her regular talk from the WCAE studios tomorrow morning at 9.

DRY IGNORES N. Y. WARRANT

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y., July 19. — (AP.) — The troubled relations between this northern New York community and the federal prohibition service had developed a new angle today after the failure of a Syracuse, (N. Y.), dry agent to appear last night for arraignment on a charge of reckless driving.

Agent Bourke Bornemann, whose automobile was said to have injured two villagers during a raid last Thursday, disappointed a large and fashionable crowd which filled the convention hall at the scheduled hour of seven last night to witness his arraignment.

When court adjourned after waiting one hour, District Attorney Howard B. Donaldson announced Bornemann would be given "one more chance" Friday night at 7 o'clock. Donaldson said:

"If he does not appear then, we will send the sheriff to find him."

Donaldson dispatched a telegram to the Department of Justice at Washington requesting the Department to "produce" Bornemann Friday.

ALFONSO GIVEN SNUB AT MOVIE

PARIS, July 19.—(INS.)—Former King Alfonso, the Duke of Toledo, who likes English-language motion pictures, can't even find standing room in a "movie" house when he arrives late at the box office.

On a recent Saturday night the former monarch of Spain and a friend, the Duke of Miranda, applied for a seat at an American film in Montparnasse. The girl in the ticket window looked them over, sniffed and snapped:

"First come, first served."

Alfonso called the manager and introduced himself as the Duke of Toledo. The manager replied:

"Never heard of him, and even if I had, he could not obtain admission tonight. We're filled to the limit of the fire law."

Sharpsville Vet, Lincoln Guard, Dies

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., July 19.—Samuel C. Foster, 88, last of Sharpsville Civil War veterans and one of the honor guard over the body of President Lincoln, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Mahanna, at Warren, O.

PLANT TO OPEN IN FORD CITY

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is planning to resume operations at an additional plant in its Ford City group early in August, officials of the organization said today.

The plant, equipped to make mirror glass and large size plate, has been closed about 60 days.

The announcement does not reflect any change in the demand for plate glass. Officials said the company made a practice of shutting down when it accumulates stock, resuming when this is sold.

Plans for operations at Creighton are uncertain.

Thumbing Nose At Police Brings $25 Fine

If you get the urge to thumb your nose at a policeman, the charge is $25.

S. F. Nichols, 21, of Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, was fined that sum in East End Police Court today.

Radio Patrolmen John Golden and Edward Sweeney testified that Nichols executed the thumbing when they informed him the traffic light was in his favor at Shady and Fifth avenues.

Nichols said he didn't know they were policemen.

ANDEAN PLANE HUNT WIDENS

MENDOZA, Argentine, July 19. —(INS.)—Clearing weather during the last 24 hours has enabled the rescue planes seeking the lost air liner San Jose to extend the range of their search over hundreds of miles in the Andes Mountains. But Argentine aviation officials stated today that no trace of the machine or its nine occupants had been found.

The liner has now been missing for three full days and the fear was growing that the craft, with its crew and passengers, including four Americans, had been buried deep under the snow which fell in the Andes for 48 hours after the airplane vanished.

Dr. W. L. C. Samson To Talk at Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. Dr. W. L. C. Samson, for many years pastor of the Ninth United Presbyterian Church, will speak at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. worship services tomorrow at 12:15.

HUMAN NATURE AND THE AUTOMOBILE

THE man who liked the comfort and quiet and interior spaciousness of a big car in 1929 still likes the same things today.

The man who liked the power, the steadiness, the stability of a heavy car in 1929 perhaps feels a little pride about sacrificing all this today.

The people who bought 23 million cars in the past seven years still want the thrill of fine performance.

Human nature hasn't changed—but buying power has.

It is up to the automobile industry, if it wishes to replace today's 23 million cars with 23 million more in the next seven years—to build a car which will give people something new in performance, something on terra firma akin to flying—"terraplaning" say—at a price which they can now pay.

In other words—what the public wants and car makers will have to produce is a totally new type of car, fitted alike to people's tastes and pocketbooks.

One of these days Hudson-Essex will announce such a car.

The Scotch know more than their oatmeal!

OATMEAL has long been associated with the Scotch because it's one food that gives more for the money in body-building qualities. A true Scotchman applies the same gospel of thrift to all his purchases.

BE SCOTCH! When you buy gasoline, for instance, insist on Orange American Gas. It gives you more for your money at the pump; more for your money on the road; more for your money in fewer repair bills. In short, Orange American gives you more for your money in every direction than any other gas selling at regular gas price. Insist on Orange American Gas.

COACH WINNERS TO BE NAMED TONIGHT

Names of 20 Pennsylvania boys, winners in the Napoleonic coach model contest, under sponsorship of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild and the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will be announced this evening.

Public displays of the models at Carnegie Museum aroused unstinted admiration from the thousands who viewed them.

COACHES JUDGED

For the past two weeks the judging of the 180 miniature coaches, fashioned by the skillful hands of boys throughout the state, has been under way.

Pennsylvania entries constitute one of 31 similar competitions conducted by the Guild.

20 PURSES

Prizes in the Pennsylvania contest include 20 purses of gold containing from $15 to $100 and two free trips to the annual Guild convention in Detroit next month.

The first and second place winners in each state and in seven Canadian Guild districts will be judged in the finals at Detroit, when the scholarship awards will be announced, entitling each high winner to four years in any university he may choose.

CUP TO BE GIVEN

In addition to these awards the Sun-Telegraph will present a silver cup to the boy in the Pennsylvania area whose model ranks as best.

Selection of the finest specimens of handicraft in this state was made by Edgar L. Phillips, Schenley High School; Arhtur Paulsen, deputy Scout commissioner, Allegheny Area Council, and William L. Brown, of the Craftsman's Guild. An elaborate system of tests and measurements was used in arriving at the decisions.

WILLYS HEIRESS WINS DIVORCE

PARIS, July 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Virginia Willys de Aguirre, daughter of John N. Willys, the Ohio automobile manufacturer and until recently ambassador to Poland, said today she had been granted a divorce from her husband, Luis Mercelino de Aguirre, scion of an old Argentine family.

The decree is to become final in two months unless he appeals.

Last November Mrs. Willys, the girl's mother, announced her daughter was seeking a divorce, saying:

"She was very unhappy, and she has good grounds."

BANDITS STRIP 4, GET $35,000

NEW YORK, July 19.—(INS.)—Three bandits invaded a Brooklyn pawnshop today, forced four men to strip to prevent pursuit and, after a 20-minute wait, escaped with $35,000 in loot from the safe.

Morris Gruskin, the proprietor, and two plumbers at work on pipes, were in the shop when the bandits entered. They forced the trio into a back room and ordered them to remove their clothes.

When they were done, the robbers demanded the safe combination, but Gruskin said his son, Joseph, had it.

"Well, we're in no hurry."

So one of the bandits said, and all three sat down, guns in their hands.

Twenty minutes later Joseph entered. He, too, was ordered to strip and then was forced to open the safe. The bandits cleaned it out, taking $10,000 in cash and jewelery valued at $25,000.

Constance Bennett Must Stand Trial

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(AP.) — Over-ruling a demurer, the Superior Court ordered Constance Bennett, film star, to face trial of a suit brought by Frank Joyce-Myron Selznick, Ltd., theatrical agents, for commissions.

They allege Miss Bennett signed a contract offered through them by Warner Brothers Studios and that she had collected $300,000. They asserted $15,000 was still due as commission.

Curie Family Aids New Ray Discovery

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Mme. Marie Curie's family has made a new contribution to science. The discovery of a ray stopped more easily by common paraffin than by lead is reported in Nature, British journal of pure science.

Irene Curie, daughter of the famous woman scientist, and F. Joliot, the daughter's husband, report the discovery and say this ray is probably a beam of neutrons, almost infinitely tiny things hailed as new "ultimate particles" of matter.

Delinquent Tax Fee Backers Get Hearing

HARRISBURG, July 19.—Defenders of the fee system in collection of delinquent taxes are to have a chance this afternoon to recite their objections to the bill of Senator-County Commissioner William D. Mansfield abolishing the fee system in the delinquent tax office in Allegheny County.

Meeting of the Committee on New Counties and County Seats was called by Senator Morris Einstein. Mansfield insisted on bringing the issue to a decision.

Nurse Opens Court Fight for Estate

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 19.—Controversy over the $20,000 estate of the late Charles L. Chambers, between Mrs. Irene Marie Casillo, a nurse, to whom Chambers left the bulk of his estate, and his heirs by relationship, reached court yesterday, when Mrs. Casillo petitioned that the whole record be certified to court.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand issued a rule on Mrs. Ella May Lusk, a sister of the decedent, to show cause why the records should not be certified.

Homewood Legion Picnic Saturday

An athletic stag picnic, sponsored by Homewood American Legion Post, No. 351, will be held Saturday at Silver Springs, Monroeville road. A feature will be the deciding game of the American Legion mush ball championship, between Pittsburgh City Post, No. 59, and Lawrenceville Post, No. 531. Championship volley ball, horseshoe, quoits and other events will be held. Trucks will carry Legion members from Wilkinsburg Railroad Station to the grounds.

Catholic Daughters, K. of C. Hold Picnic

The Joint outing of the Pittsburgh district chapter, Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Daughters of America, is being held today at Kennywood Park. The program includes sports, swimming and dancing. The annual outing of St. Anthony's Church, of Millvale, is being held today at West View Park. The Rev. L. Spannagel is in charge.

Well-Paid Judges Escape Economy Ax

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 19.—This special session of the Legislature, bent on a high surge of economy, might have tried to save some money for the needy and indigent through cutting into the income of the judiciary, a group of apparently favored citizens who know no depression. But, as Gov. Pinchot pointed out yesterday in a wisecracking letter to Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, of McKees Rocks, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, it did nothing of the kind, and the judges will continue to draw their highly adequate pay.

Mr. Shields

And, as Mr. Pinchot explained, the traveling judges from the smaller counties of the state, the itinerants who jump from bench to bench, will continue to roll up a highly satisfactory sum for traveling expenses and extra pay.

The small county judge in the big city knows nothing of the hardships under which the residents of Father Cox's Box Town Liberty avenue labor—or loaf.

Figures taken from records of the Auditor General's office furnish the answer to some of the talk about economy in the state government, and, though justice is blind, she is able to wield an eye-opening pencil on the expense accounts.

Jurists Are Prompt In Seeking Payment

Here are two good examples of how judges profit by holding court in other counties. These figures are taken from the judges' pay vouchers sent in by them for July, 1932. This being July 19, they are already wanting to collect for the entire month.

Judge Samuel Lemon Reed, Orphans' Court Judge, of Cambria County, will receive $1,000 as his month's pay for holding court in his home county. He held court in other counties on 17 days or at least has been assigned to Media, Philadelphia and Indiana for later in the month.

His travel pay for the month is $59.60 plus $510 which represents 17 days at $30 per. It might be interesting to note that July has five Sundays and perhaps it would require Judge Reed some time to go between Ebensburg and Philadelphia, leaving little time for Orphans Court work in Cambria County.

Another traveling judge for July, 1932, is Judge William T. Darr, Jefferson County. His regular monthly pay is $750 and in addition he will receive $390 for 13 days at $30 and also $223 for travel at 10 cents a mile. Deducting time for traveling and Sunday, there is little time for his regular court work.

Cambria Judges Get $7,819.84 Extra

During the period covering in the Auditor Generals report, 13 months, the judges of Cambria County have received $7,819.84 from the state in addition to their pay.

Judge Reed tops the list with $4,693.52. Judge Ivan J. McKendrick received $1,822.52. Amounts paid to other Cambria judges in this period are: Judge John E. Evans, $333.40; Judge Charles C. Greer, $288.40, and Judge John H. McCann, $682.

Judges who received more than $1,000 between June 1, 1931 and June 30, 1932, for holding court in other counties are:

Former Judge E. M. Biddle, Jr., Cumberland, $1,094.34; Judge Charles D. Copeland, Westmoreland, $2,904.58; Judge Davis W. Henderson, Fayette, $1,329.38; Judge S. John Morrow, Fayette, $2,140.04; Judge Norman T. Boose, Somerset, $2,840.50; Former Judge Miles I. Potter, Snyder, Union, $1,689.20; Judge Frank L. Harvey, Clarion, $3,757.28; Judge Henry C. Niles, York, $2,900.59; Judge Ray P. Sherwood, York, $1,638.77.

Judge Thomas F. Bailey, Huntingdon, $2,526; Former Judge Alonzo T. Searle, Wayne, $1,887.60; Judge Marion D. Patterson, Blair, $3,594.66; Judge O. Clare Kent, Crawford, $3,288.24; Judge J. Frank Graff, Armstrong, $3,864.50; Judge A. B. Smith, Susquehanna, $4,260.63; Judge James A. McLaughry, Mercer, $2,399.85; Judge William A. McConnel, Beaver, $1,348.55; Judge Watson R. Davison, Franklin, $1,965.72; Judge J. N. Langham, Indiana, $1,246.24.

Judge James M. Barnett, Perry-Juniata, $6,865; Judge Charles M. Culver, Bradford, $3,922.38; Judge Samuel E. Shull, Monroe, $3,809.97; Judge Charles E. Terry, Wyoming, $2,217.49; Judge A. R. Chase, Clearfield, $2,370.26; Judge Ivan J. McKendrick, Cambria, $1,822.52; Judge Joseph W. Boulton, McKean, $2,132.98; Judge M. Ward Fleming, Centre, $3,806.10; Judge Donald P. McPherson, Adams, $2,414.10; Judge Charles V. Henry, Lebanon, $2,863.26; Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, Lawrence, $1,559.20; Judge James A. Chambers, Lawrence, $2,194.68; Judge William T. Darr, Jefferson, $6,473.42; Judge Robert R. Lewis, Potter, $3,233.10; Judge William G. Thomas, Carbon, $2 983.07.

Judge Samuel Lemon Reed, Cambria, was the only Orphans' Court judge to travel. He received $4,693.52.

Pittsburgher's Bolt From Sheriff Foiled

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 19.—(AP.)—Citizens halted William Schwartz, of Pittsburgh, when he attempted to break free from Deputy Sheriff George Holland at Wellsburg yesterday.

Schwartz is held for the Brooke County (W. Va.) grand jury on a bigamy charge. Authorities said further charges may be placed against the prisoner as a result of his break for freedom.

RIVER VICTIMS' RITES PLANNED

The same grave late today will claim William Kaiser, 26, and his sister, Louise, 17, drowned in the Ohio River at Coraopolis clasped in each others arms last Saturday.

Following double funeral services in the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, Coraopolis, the bodies will be laid to rest in Coraopolis Cemetery.

The brother gave his life in a futile effort to rescue his sister when she stepped into a hole while wading off a sandbar. They had made their home with their aunt, Mrs. F. H. Flinn, 613 Montour street, Coraopolis, since coming to this country from Germany.

BRIDGE BLAZE JAMS TRAFFIC

South Side and South Hills traffic was halted for a half hour during the rush hour late yesterday when fire broke out in the floor of the Smithfield Street Bridge.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by a lighted cigaret thrown by a pedestrian, was extinguished with chemicals. Battalion Chief George Sparr estimated the damage at $50.

R.F.C. Borrowers Need Only to Be Able to Keep Mum

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Last will and testament of Seventy-second Congress ignores public and leaves money to close relatives.

There is an inflated estate of $2,000,000,000 to be loaned. This will jack up the car. But where's the spare tires?

The only qualification necessary for borrowing from the Finance Corporation is to be able to keep a secret.

Nobody will know who gets the money until five months have collapsed.

That ain't a long time when you remember that we are still trying to discover where the money went in the Harding administration.

In December they will publish the list of mysterious borrowers and the worst we wish ourselves is that our name is on it.

It may be a good idea. But we wonder how long a blindfolded pawnbroker would stay in business?

URGES CLOSING OF 4 SCHOOLS

Abandonment of four public schools, enabling the Board of Public Education to save approximately $21,000 annually, will be recommended to the board by its finance and administration committee. The change, affecting 177 students, was urged upon the committee by Dr. Ben G. Graham at a meeting last night.

The schools involved are Bon Air, Brown, Ralston and McKee. Students of the first three will be given transportation to the Beltzhoover, Greenfield and O'Hara schools, while the McKee students will be transferred to the Lawrence and Woolslair schools.

Dr. Graham told the committee 10,000 children are being fed during vacation period at nine school cafeterias and 81 elementary centers. This work was financed by the H. C. Frick Educational Commission.

Suspect Captured In Downtown Chase

Captured after a pursuit of three squares in crowded Fifth avenue late yesterday, John Koski, 40, of the Helping Hand, an alleged shoplifter, was held in Central Police Station on a suspicious person charge.

Detected, police said, as he took merchandise in a Fifth avenue store Koski ran down Fifth avenue and was captured near Market street. Pedestrians joined City Detective Murray Edlis and Patrolman James Scanlon in the chase.

FATHER KILLS WIFE, GIRL; ENDS LIFE

Shoot Pair and Then Slashes Throat In Home

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 19.—The bodies of Frank F. Hyde, 50, proprietor of two gasoline service stations here, his wife, Beatrice, 48, and his daughter, Jane, 19, were found in their home today by A. C. Hyde, brother of the dead man.

The mother and daughter were shot through the right breast, while Hyde's throat was slashed with a razor. Coroner Orville Potter said Hyde, who has been in financial difficulties, evidently killed his wife and daughter and then killed himself.

Hyde's body was found face downward in the bath tub which was filled with water. The mother's body was discovered near the bathroom door, while the daughter was found dead in bed.

Five bullets, Potter said, had been fired from the revolver, which was found on a wash stand in the bathroom. A tenant, wishing to get in touch with Hyde, called the brother when no one answered the door.

Miner Kills Wife, Neighbor and Self

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 19.—(AP.)—C. Walter Bender, 45, an unemployed miner, shot his wife, Lona, 45, and neighbor, William Hill, 38, a farmer, to death with a shotgun, and then killed himself this morning at his home in Browntown, a coal settlement near Philippi.

Bender and his wife had been having domestic troubles for some time, officers stated, and had quarreled. Neighbors told officers the woman had accused her husband of paying attention to another woman.

Trapped by 'Wedding' Error

ALBERT SMITH　　ANNA FOSTER

Stranded tourists held today by Mt. Lebanon police for Hudson (N. Y.) authorities on robbery and parole-violation charges. With Stanley Strombeck, they had appealed for assistance to get back home and had been given cash and gasoline when Smith and Miss Foster, who said they were married, failed to agree on their nuptial date. Investigation followed. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Wilkinsburg Man Beaten in Holdup

Harry McNelly, 38, of 1314 Woodlawn avenue, Wilkinsburg, was in Columbia Hospital today with severe lacerations of the head and face suffered when he was slugged by two Negroes who held him up in Wood street, Wilkinsburg, last night, according to a police report. The robbers obtained no loot.

Erie Firm Files Bankrupt Petition

The Better Homes, Inc., of Erie, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court through its vice president, Francis P. Rys, at the instance of the board of directors. A schedule of assets and liabilities will be filed later.

'WEDDING DATE' SLIP TRAPS 3

If Albert Smith, 22, of 543 State street, Hudson, N. Y., and his "bride of six months," had agreed on their "wedding" date they might have been on their way to New York today with money provided by the Mt. Lebanon police. Instead, together with a companion, they are held for authorities on charges of robbery and violating parole.

Smith, his "bride," who, police said, later gave her name as Anna Foster, 20, of Hudson, N. Y., and Stanley Stromberg, 24, also of Hudson, appeared at the Mt. Lebanon Police Station last night and asked for lodging. Police said Smith told them he was a bridegroom of six months and was en route home with his bride when they ran out of money. Police took up a collection for them.

It was then, Lieut. Ted Carrington said, the girl got mixed up on her wedding date and said they had been married a year. Police got in touch with New York authorities and found Smith was wanted in connection with a robbery, they reported.

Pittsburgher Claims Shortest Vet Title

Comes now Cosimo Latorraca, of 605 Grant street, to dispute the claim of Timothy J. O'Leary, of New Bedford, Mass., that he wore the smallest uniform in the United States Army during the war.

For proof Latorraca points to his stature—4 feet 7 inches. O'Leary is 5 feet 2 inches tall. When he was on leave, Latorraca said, people thought he was a Boy Scout.

WOMAN FACES NEW GRILLING IN PROBE

Detectives on Guard At Grave of Boy In Homeville

Coroner W. J. McGregor today ordered exhumation within 48 hours of the body of Steve Allas, 12-year-old Munhall school football player, named as one of the victims of the alleged Munhall poison plot to collect insurance.

Bodies of two other alleged victims, Richard Dyva, an infant, and Joseph Mantyo, first husband of Mrs. Anna Allas, also likely will be exhumed, Coroner McGregor stated.

McGregor acted after he had questioned, through an interpreter, Mrs. Grizella Young, who was taken from jail to his office under court order. He also questioned a Homestead undertaker.

The Allas boy died last September, supposedly from a fractured skull, suffered in a football game. In Mrs. Young's alleged confession the lad was said to have been poisoned, according to the county detectives.

McGregor said:

"Mrs. Young, in her statement to me this morning, corroborated the statement to county detectives last week. The charges she makes may be regarded as serious. Chief Murren, of the county detectives, aided in the interrogation, and he will continue his investigation of her allegations. I cannot say what the next action will be, but I have determined to exhume the body of Steven Allas within the next 48 hours."

Detectives have been guarding the lad's grave since Murren asked the Coroner to exhume the body.

The case of Mrs. Young and Mrs. Mary Chalfa, charged with felonious assault and battery in an allged attack on the latter's cousin, Mrs. Stella Chalfa, is scheduled to come before the grand jury tomorrow. In Mrs. Young's alleged confession the attack, she said, was prompted by a desire to get rid of Mrs. Chalfa because she "knew too much," according to county detectives.

GIRL, 4 OTHERS FINED AS DRUNK

Observed limping past Mt. Lebanon Police Station early this morning, Miss Jean Haddock, 23, 308 South Highland avenue, told police she had been hurt in a fall from a rose arbor a week ago.

But at a hearing before Justice of the Peace E. B. Bishop this morning, Miss Haddock and four companions—Mrs. Martina A. Falva, 34, same address; Robert E. Gainer, 27, of 237 Lehigh avenue, and R. E. Isaly, 24, and W. E. Graham, 30, or Kedron avenue, East Liberty—were fined $10 each on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Isaly told police his father and uncle are owners of the Isaly Dairy Company.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 19. To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, Congress adjourned, but they went down appropriating, and some of them are going to find in November that they have just appropriated themselves out of a job. They killed the sales tax, now what alibi are they going to offer for that?

Will Rogers

It's proving a life saver for Mississippi. They keep building more roads, certainly not for the automobilists. Guess it's just to provide room for folks "thumbing" their way somewhere. America is used to use their forefingers to "point with pride," now it's their thumbs, to register hope. Yours,

WILL.

'Postoffice Day' Fete To Honor Washington

Pittsburgh will participate in the nation-wide celebration of "Post Office Day" next Tuesday in connection with the Washington Bi-centennial and the birthday anniversary of the postal service.

Patriotic exercises sponsored by postal employes will be held on a platform in front of the postoffice building, Smithfield street and Fourth avenue, from noon until 1 p. m. Street car and motor traffic will be suspended for the hour on Smithfield street between Third avenue and Diamond street.

Congressman Clyde Kelly, member of the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, will be the principal speaker. The Pittsburgh Letter Carriers Band will play and a mail airplane will fly over the downtown section.

"Post Office Day" celebrations will be held in many cities as part of the Washington Bi-centennial. It was on July 26, 1775, that a resolution was adopted by Continental Congress establishing the Continental Post and naming Benjamin Franklin as the first Postmaster General of the United Colonies.

GERMAN THRONE PLANNED FOR KAISER'S SON

International News Service.

LONDON, July 19.—Adolf Hitler, Germany's militant Fascist leader, expects to emerge the victor in the July 31 general elections regardless of how the ballots are cast, according to the Daily Herald today.

The Amsterdam correspondent of the Laborite organ reported a Hitler agent had revealed to him a detailed plot to overthrow the government by force on the night of the elections if the results do not place the Nazis in power.

CROWN PRINCE COUP

The plot, the Herald said, calls for the abolition of the Republican constitution and the parliamentary system, and the setting up as the head of the German government the former Crown Prince, Friedrich Wilhelm. Hitler himself will remain simply as the leader of his Nazis, the Herald said.

If Hitler should win the elections, as is widely predicted, the plan will be carried out peacefully, the Herald said, but if the Hitlerites should be defeated, then the Nazi leader's private army of 380,000 will be called into action and seize the government by force.

FATAL RIOTING

BERLIN, July 19.—(AP.)—Three persons were killed and a number seriously wounded in a series of political clashes which took place throughout Germany last night in spite of the decree promulgated by the government against outdoor meetings yesterday.

Two pedestrians were shot and killed at Wesseling, near Bonn, during a battle between National Socialists and Communists, who interfered with the Nazis while they were posting election notices.

ONE NAZI KILLED

One Nazi was killed at Striegau in another battle there.

Other bloody clashes were reported at Schneidemuehl, Schloppe, Prechlau, Hindenburg and Krefeld.

At Fulda, Cardinal Adolf Bertram, of Breslau, sent an urgent appeal to Chancellor Von Papen, in the name of the conference of bishops in session there, asking the chancellor to suppress radical terrorism with the utmost severity.

Youngstown Rabbi, Ill 2 Weeks, Dies

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(AP.)—Rabbi Samuel Bloch, 56, of Youngstown, O., died last night in a hospital here. He had been unconscious since he became ill two weeks ago while attending the Zionist convention.

His wife, Ester, and two daughters, Eva and Becce, came here during his illness. A son, Morris, and another daughter are in Palestine.

Woman Church Purse Theft Suspect Held

Mrs. Bella Reber, 26, of Carey way, was held for larceny in Morals Court today after she had admitted stealing from the purses of three women worshippers in St. Casimir's and St. Henry's Catholic churches on the South Side. Ten women, of St. Henry's congregation, testified their purses had been robbed in the last year.

BOATMEN SAVE BRIDGE JUMPER

Blaming domestic troubles for his leap from the Seventh Street Bridge into the Allegheny River last night, Louis Potts, 28, of 1258 Ridge avenue, was to be arraigned in Central Police Court today on a disorderly conduct charge.

More than two score of persons saw Potts mount the railing and jump. Witnesses shouted to two men in a skiff. They seized him as he was sinking the second time.

Brought ashore, he was revived and taken to Central Police Station.

Crowds See Chase After Shoplifter

Downtown crowds saw police and detectives capture an alleged shoplifter at Oliver avenue and Wood street after he had run from a store. He was detected stealing two shirts and 13 pairs of socks. He was listed as John Coski, 29, of the Helping Hand Hotel, and in Central police court was fined $25 or 30 days in the workhouse.

SHAGGY LOCKS DOOMED, SAYS 'SCULPTOR'

Pittsburgh women, if you have been carefully nurturing the shaggy locks of a long-grown bob, prepare to shed them now. Antoine, famous Parisian hair stylist, has uttered his dictum. The word of the man who cut the first shingle bob, the snip of whose scissors was heard around the fashion world, is not to be regarded lightly.

Pittsburgh is the second American city to know his technique, utterly different from any known since the ancient Greeks. For first Antoine is a sculptor, and then he is a hairdresser.

Monsieur Rene, who will introduce the sculptored coiffures to Pittsburgh women at Joseph Horne's this week, said:

"Antoine's impression of American women—and I find Pittsburgh women no exception—is that they are regimental mimics. Pretty, yes, but with always that sameness which leaves one bewildered in the street. Antoine has made women into distinct personalities in New York. I come to do likewise in Pittsburgh."

Antoine's technique, as enacted by Rene, consists first of a studied survey of the head structure and neckline. The depth and breadth of the forehead, the line from chin, mouth, nose and eyes to nape of neck, the length and breadth of head itself and length and circumference of neck are determining factors.

A pitcher of water, a pad of cotton and a sharp razor are all the deft fingers of Rene need to complete the modeled effect. The same theory of sculptoring is carried out in a complexion treatment based on structure rather than surface corrections to be demonstrated by Pauline Desha in Horne's Milinery Salon Thursday and Friday afternoons at 2:30.

New Church Taxed Until Used For Worship

The Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes will assess the property of the new East Liberty Presbyterian Church, Penn and Highland avenues, and collect taxes until the edifice is completed and used as a church.

In an opinion given County Commissioners yesterday Solicitor J. P. Fife said church property is exempt from taxation only while being used as a place of worship. The new East Liberty church was not mentioned, but Fife said he was asked for his opinion because the question was raised on the new $3,000,000 building.

BOGUS MONEY MADE IN MINE

Paul Sidorenka, 38, miner, was committed to jail by the United States Commissioner, yesterday to await action of the Federal Grand Jury for alleged passing of a counterfeit $5 bill on a merchant in Clairton. According to government officers, Sidorenka admitted passing 15 of the spurious notes.

Chemicals and other paraphernalia said to have been used in making the counterfeits were found Saturday morning in an abandoned coal mine five miles from Layton, Fayette County, Chief W. A. Landvoight and Operative John Kettl of the United States Secret Service in the Pittsburgh district said. Sidorenka accompanied them to the mine.

Outing for W. B. A At Conneaut Lake

Members of the Women's Benefit Association from many sections of the district will attend a picnic at Conneaut Lake tomorrow. A delegation of Pittsburgh members will go in a caravan leaving the Mayfair Hotel, Penn avenue, at 8 a. m.

POISONED REDS RECOVERING

MASSILLON, O., July 19.—(INS.)—Fully recovered under the care of nurses and scores of volunteers, who worked to stave off fatal results, all but four of 112 Communists receiving treatment for poisoning after eating a luncheon of tainted food at the state ratification convention had been released from hospitals today.

Nearly 200 others afflicted by the same illness were permitted to go to their homes after being given medical attention at city hospital and three local halls where improvised hospitals were hastily set up to care for the victims.

Ptomaine poisoning resulting from eating spoiled foods was generally accepted among physicians as the cause of the sudden illness of the delegates. John S. Williams, Massillon Health Commissioner, sent samples of the food to the State Department of Health at Columbus for a test.

Man Admits Plot To Wreck Express

LANCASTER, Pa., July 19.—(INS.)—Police today had a confession from Paul Wolf, 24, of Bird-in-Hand, that he attempted to wreck the Duquesne, a Pennsylvania Railroad express, so he could be the hero. He placed a tie on the rails.

Wolf explained his hero-act was to flag the next train, after the express had been wrecked. A scorching sun foiled his plan, the heat caused the heavy tie, treated with oil, to make the rail surface slippery. The tie skidded along the rails when the locomotive struck it.

70¢ WORTH OF STALE GASOLINE MAY GIVE YOU ONLY 50¢ WORTH OF POWER

as gas gets staler—gas gets weaker

Do you know what happens when gas gets stale? It loses power! As staleness increases, the more volatile parts of gas evaporate. A chemical change takes place when gas is stored. And power decreases!

Stale gas is feeble gas. Gives you a slower start. Sluggish pick-up. It is more apt to foul valves and carbureter—because stale gas becomes stickier as it grows older. Stale gas knocks more, too—particularly on hills.

The whole petroleum industry has long known these facts. And for the past several years, Gulf has been developing a system that assures you of getting FRESH gasoline! How? . . .

First, by giving you the best gasoline that can be made—by so refining this gas that the elements that cause rapid deterioration of gasoline are eliminated. Hence, Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Second, by taking this FRESH-MADE, PEAK-POWERED gas and rushing it to you in a hurry.

From the moment it is made, Gulf gas never gets a chance to get stale. The whole Gulf organization has been geared up to high speed. Huge Gulf refineries have been placed in many sections of the country—so that a stream of FRESH-MADE gas can be kept flowing into every one of the 45,000 Gulf filling stations. A vast fleet of fast trucks speeds FRESH gas to Gulf stations every day in the year! . . . Get FRESH gas—packed with power. Get Gulf. Use it exclusively. Your motor will be cleaner. Quieter. Faster.

ARMS PARLEY LIMITS AIR BOMBING

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT
International News Service.

GENEVA, July 19.—Eager to adjourn a disarmament conference that has sat for more than five months with little in the way of accomplishment, the leading powers reached a patch-work agreement today on restriction of air bombing in time of war.

It is an "agreement in principle" only, the details to be worked out later, but the skeleton draft is so vague that none of the principal delegates cared to say exactly what it meant.

The United States and Germany had argued for abolition of air bombing, but were overwhelmingly outvoted. France was willing to put an end to the bombing of civilian centers behind the actual battle front and along the lines of communications. But England was reluctant to accept the French proposal unless "certain other regions," undefined, might also be bombed.

The British attitude appeared surprising to the American and German delegations in view of the proven vulnerability of the British Isles to air attacks during the World War.

Nevertheless, it was agreed today to draw up a statement so general that it would cover all these divergent views and satisfy everybody.

The American delegation announced that an agreement was reached overnight on the questions of tanks and effectives, but would not disclose details for the moment. The French have finally agreed to limit tanks to 25 tons and it is believed that figure, or possibly 20 tons, has been accepted.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register.

September 8—First registration day in second and third class cities, including Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those who may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

STORE WORKERS ON BOAT RIDE

A 40-mile boat ride on the Ohio River was enjoyed last night by members of the McCreery Mutual Aid Association and their friends. The steamer Washington had been chartered for the event, the annual outing of McCreery's co-workers, under auspices of the Mutual Aid Association. Dancing was the feature.

A. Hoffman is president of the association; G. C. Murphy, vice president; Miss Eva Moser, secretary, and H. C. Engel, treasurer. Directors are Miss O. S. Kinsey, T. Curran, H. King, Miss A. Becker, Miss M. A. Parlette, Miss M. E. Scherer, Miss M. E. Sweeney and S. Berkovitz.

GIRL SPANKED, ASKS $40,000

TOPEKA, Kan., July 19.—(AP.)—Miss Georgia Hill, 18, of Moline, Ill., seeks $40,000 damages for a slipper spanking at the hands of feminine former classmates in a Goodland (Kan.) school.

Charging she was beaten severely by a party which abducted her following a basketball game in Goodland last December, she named 10 girls as defendants in a $25,000 action filed in Federal District Court today.

Miss Hill said she was stretched across a motor car fender for the spanking. The motive for the asserted attack was obscure. John Addington, her attorney, said it resulted from a schoolgirl quarrel.

A month ago Miss Hill filed suit to collect $15,000 from the City of Goodland under the state "mob law."

4 MT. LEBANON BOYS JAILED

Four boys, ranging from 11 to 16 years in age, were held by police after they are alleged to have been discovered looting a chain grocery store in Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, early today.

They were discovered by Patrolman William Smith when he investigated a broken window in the rear of the store. Five large paper bags filled with merchandise were found near the window, police said.

The store was looted of a quantity of cigarets and merchandise last Tuesday, police said.

Police waited for the store manager this morning to inform him his electric coffee grinder had been stuffed with weiners by the youngsters during the alleged looting.

Because of their youth, the Sun-Telegraph will not publish the boys' names.

INDIAN FINDS FLIER DEAD

MEXICO CITY, July 19.—(AP.)—The body of Roy Gordon, American, of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and the wreckage of the plane in which he and Clarence McElroy, of Mediryville, Ind., crashed on June 27, have been found in the jungle near San Geronimo.

The discovery late last night was made, according to San Geronimo dispatches, by a searching party combing the jungle since McElroy was found last Thursday, in a starving condition, by an Indian woodsman.

The searchers located the plane several miles from where McElroy was found. McElroy, who is recovering at San Geronimo, is partially delirious, and was unable to aid them.

Shapely Legs Sought for Film

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.—(AP.)—Paramount studios seek, for the movies, a pair of beautiful legs, with very small feet attached.

Or, as Director Frank Borzage explained it:

"I want legs with a blonde temperament, if you know what I mean."

But no matter how beautiful the legs' owner may be, her face will not be shown in the film, a picturization of Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms."

In the sequence of scenes in which the girl will appear with Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper and Adolphe Menjou, her voice will be used, and she will have a slipper on only one foot—so if she can express ideas with her toes, the handicap of a hidden face may not be so great.

DELAY HEARING OF FIRED MEN

Hearings on appeals of 12 ousted police and firemen before the City Civil Service Commission, scheduled for tomorrow, have been postponed indefinitely upon request of counsel for the men, Thomas F. Hansberry, secretary of the Commission, said today.

Inability to get the men together, by Alex Lindsay, counsel for 12 of the men dismissed by Mayor Charles H. Kline, was indicated as the reason for the delay.

High Taxes Blow To Cars in Poland

WARSAW.—(AP.)—Economic conditions have combined with the road tax of 1931 to cut the number of automobiles in Poland. In six months registrations dropped from 42,737 to 36,757, a reduction of 14 per cent.

OLD MINE CACHE FOR TRAIN LOOT

Two men said by police to have been looting freight cars of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad and piling their loot into their home—an abandoned coal mine in Greentree—were held in the county jail today on charges of larceny.

Constable H. W. Alberte, of Greentree, and Railroad Detective M. E. Meridak reported arresting the two suspects in the old mine, recovering some of the loot, yesterday. The prisoners gave their names as Emery B. Lambert, 35, and Clarence Tinney.

Constable Alberte said merchandise valued at hundreds of dollars had been stolen from freight cars in the hollow by the pair. The mouth of the mine was covered with brush.

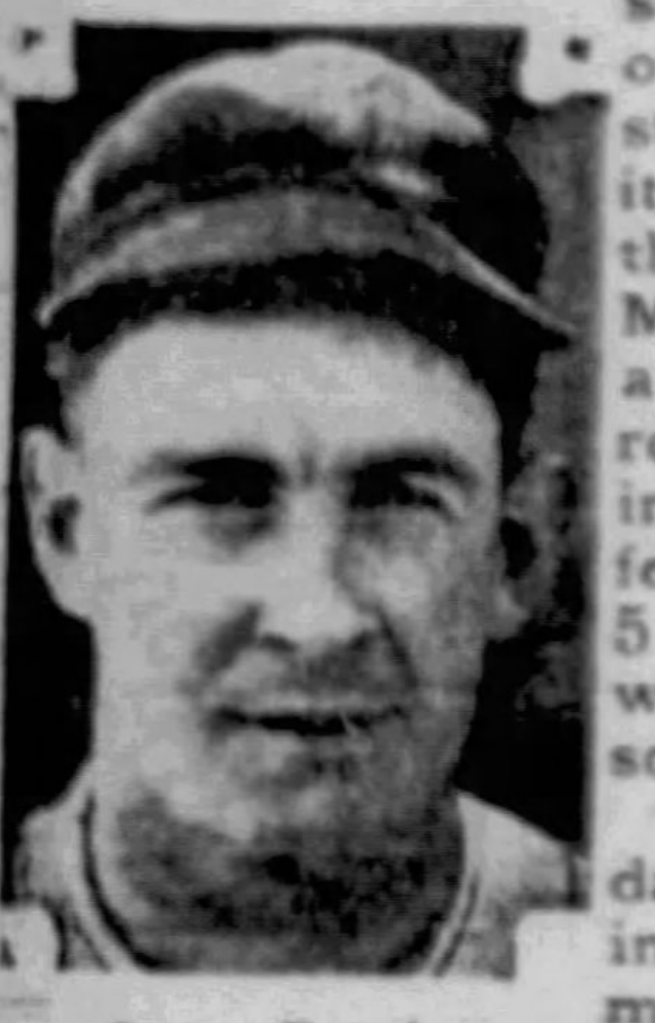
SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

End Extra-Inning Drive. Umpires' Bean-Ball Task. Simmons Pulls for Foxx. Wagner's First Game. Gridders Give Tonsils. Sande Back in Demand.

FRENCH HURLS ALL OVERTIME DEFEATS

IT APPEARS THAT on the rare occasions when the Pirates lose an extra-inning ball game, Larry French has got to be the victim. The dropping of a decision to the Phillies in eleven frames marked only the third time in 12 games this season the Bucs have been defeated in over-time competition, and in each instance French was the pitcher to take it on the chin. Yesterday's defeat was the first for Bucs in extra innings since May 9, when the Pirate left-hander lost a 6-to-5 verdict to the Braves in 12 rounds at Forbes Field. The only extra-inning reverse prior to that was suffered at the hands of the Cardinals here, 5 to 3, in 10 innings on April 22, in which Larry bowed to Sylvester Johnson.



Larry French

Until stopped by the Phils yesterday, the Freebooters won eight extra-inning games in succession, one of the most unusual marks hung up in the majors in recent years. This was only their ninth defeat of 1932 by one run, against 21 victories by that margin. The Quakers are the most troublesome club in the league to the locals this season, the only one in the circuit against which the Pirates have not won the majority of their games. Up to today the count was five victories to two in favor of the Phils, who had grabbed all three games played here and broken even in four staged in Philadelphia.

NO COMMENT ON the American League's ruling against the bean ball could be coaxed out of Rogers Hornsby, whose pitchers frequently have been accused of resorting to dust-off tactics in the National. Max Carey approves the edict, calls the bean ball poor sportsmanship and a dangerous practice, but wonders whether the rule will be effective.

"The umpires have plenty to do already, and now in the American League they've got to be mind readers," Carey remarked. "I'll admit that the umpire ought to be able to tell an intentional duster, but I don't know how he could prove it if the pitcher maintained it was accidental."

TAKING EXCEPTION TO reports that he is jealous of Jimmy Foxx, Al Simmons declares he is Foxx's strongest booster. "Why I room with Jimmy and have been doing so for several years," Simmons said. "We are the best of friends.

"Foxx is a great boy, and I couldn't help pulling for him. He's a better hitter this year than I ever was. I never could expect to compete with a guy that sets a record in every ball park he visits. Jimmy really hits them a mile and I hope he continues to do so as long as he is in the game."

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO today, a pretty fair sort of ball player broke into the big show. Honus Wagner played his first major league game. Playing center field for the Louisville National League club, Honus made his debut in the fast set in a game against Washington in Louisville on July 19, 1897. And by the way of serving notice of what he was going to do with record-breaking regularity thereafter, the husky young recruit just obtained from the Paterson club socked the ball for a single in his very first time at bat and drove in a run. That was the way he introduced himself to Jimmy McJames, the Washington pitcher, and to the upper division of the game in which he was to become the greatest player of all time.

Honus Wagner

THAT SINGLE WAS the only safety of the day for the Flying Dutchman, but it was the starting point of a huge collection which Wagner, eight times league batting champion, ran to 3,430 before he retired in 1917. The total still stands as the greatest ever rolled up by any player in the National League, and it has been beaten only by Ty Cobb's 4,191 in the American.

Later in the game, Wagner made a sacrifice and also stole a base. The latter was another department in which he was destined to shine, as he led the league in base-stealing four times. In the field in his first game he made two putouts and one assist. Louisville won the contest, 6 to 2.

Jim McGuire supported McJames behind the plate for Washington, Tom Tucker was at first base, Johnny O'Brien at second, Ed Reilley at third, Gene Demontreville at shortstop, Kip Selbach in left field, Tom Brown in center and Zeke Wrigley in right.

IT MAY HAVE been only in fable that a celebrated football player was willing to die for dear old Rutgers, but in real life right here in our town two of the home gridders have at least gone so far as to give their tonsils for Pitt. Mike Sebastian, fleet-footed halfback of Sharon, and Paul Cuba, husky tackle of New Castle, have undergone operations for the removal of their tonsils, in the hope that their physical fitness will be improved for the strenuous schedule with which Dr. Sutherland's Panther team will have to wrestle during the coming swineskin season.

SIMILAR OPERATIONS HAVE helped the playing of baseball stars and athletes in other games, and the action of Sebastian and Cuba is a tribute to their earnestness in trying to prepare themselves to give their best to Pitt when the time comes for action on the gridiron.

These Panthers will have more than physical condition to recommend them, too. Spring practice showed them to be greatly improved players since last fall, and with rare spirit backing up their other qualifications it will be no easy task for rival candidates to keep them from being prominent parts of the Pitt picture.

COAST REPORTS TELL of a lone Dutch woman who steals quietly to the stables at Riviera every day. She is the wife of one of the officers who will ride for Holland in the equestrian events of the Olympic Games.

She goes to the stall of one of the best of the Dutch horses. She pets it. She fondles it. She caresses it as one would a baby. Snowy Baker, famous promoter, who has been all over the world, a horseman and horse lover all his life, says he has never seen such devotion. Incidentally, Baker pronounces the horses quartered at the Riviera by the Dutch, Swedes, French and Japanese the finest he ever inspected.

Earle Sande

WHILE ON THE subject of horses, one of the most famous jockeys in history appears to be all set for a "second time on earth." Earle Sande is pulling a comeback in the East that has surprised veteran racing followers. Not so long ago, Sande could hardly get a mount. Owners and trainers fought shy of him. They thought he was washed up and done. They relegated him to the past, to the realm of the forgotten. But his great ride on The Rosel [illegible] plus victories on Honey Boy Sensarica, Apprentice, and others, spelled such excellence in horsemanship that turfmen now realize they [illegible] they're falling over one another to [illegible] it's evident that the time when you will have heard the last of Sande in an active racing capacity is still pretty far in the future.

LOCAL GOLFERS AMONG LATE STARTERS

SHAWNEE GOLF COURSE, LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 19.—(AP.) Donald O'Bryan, of Louisville, runner-up in the Kentucky state amateur golf championship this year, led early finishers in the first qualifying round of the eleventh national public links tournament here today.

The Louisville player, who helps his father sell real estate between golf and tennis and who has devoted much of his 28 years to the Scotch game, registered 37-36 for a 73 total on the 18 holes. He was over par on the fifirst nine and even with it on the second.

Other early finishers found from 77 to 80 necessary to cover Shawnee Park's sunbaked fairways and greens, made tricky by extreme heat.

HUNT TAKES LEAD

Charles Ferrara, San Francisco steelworker and defending champion, drew a big gallery and rewarded spectators by turning in 38, two over par, aided by a couple of birdies in the morning round.

Byron Hunt, of Columbus, O., however, soon tallied perfect figures for the 18-hole round, two under par, for the first nine and two over for the second, or 34-38—72.

The members of the Pittsburgh team, headed by Carl Kauffmann, former champion, were among the late starters.

The scores:

Wesley Casper, Louisville	39	39—	78

N. Y. Tennis Meet Draws Star Field

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 19.—(AP.)—Three of the country's ranking tennis stars and a wealth of collegiate talent began play here today in the first annual tournament at the Crescent Athletic-Hamilton Club.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans; Keith Gledhill, of Stanford University, and Berkeley Bell, the former Texan, ranked sixth, eighth and tenth, respectively, were the favored entries, with Gregory Mangin, of Newark, the indoor champion, another threat.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE CONSTANT KENTUCKY DERBY FAN—At the time of the first Derby, in 1875, Mrs. Susan B. Sherley came to Churchill Downs to see Aristides, the little red horse, win the initial classic, and from that time until she saw Whiskery come home ahead of the pack in 1927 she never missed that famous American race. Mrs. Sherley's predilection for the Derby probably can be accounted for by the fact that she was a native of Lexington—the center of Kentucky's blue grass and thoroughbred raising section. Neither age, inconvience, nor inclement weather could prevent her from being at the Downs. She died in February, 1928, in her ninety-sixth year. A FIVE-MILE JUMP—On November 1, 1921, Sergt. Chambers, of Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla., shattered a high altitude record in parachute jumping by falling 26,000 feet from an Army airplane. It took Chambers' plane one and one-half hours to rise to that altitude, and his descent in a parachute to earth took 18 minutes. Half way down, Chambers nonchalantly lit a cigaret, which he smoked during the balance of his downward journey. This feat was accomplished during an American Legion flying meet in Kansas City.

TOMORROW: THE NOVA SCOTIA GIANT.

OLYMPIC GROUP AUGMENTED

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(AP.)—The pendulum of interest in the 1932 Olympiad swings back to the European continent after a big arc in the Asiatic direction, with the arrival of half a dozen teams here today.

France heads the list, bringing to the international competition by special train 93 athletes and officials, increasing the number of nations represented here to 22.

Finland, Sweden, Poland, Argentina and the United States, all of whom already are represented, complete the list of expected guests.

The American delegation of approximately 40 includes the swimmers who won places in the national trials at New York and Cincinnati over the last week-end. Argentina's second party totals 18, increasing that nation's forces here to more than 50.

Poland is bringing a squad of 27 men and three women, including Stella Walsh, great woman athlete, who recently stated her preference of competing with this nation's team rather than the United States. She lives in Cleveland.

France, winner of five championships at Amsterdam in 1928, will have in its team Sera Martin, holder of the world 800-meter record at 1 minute 50.6 seconds, but none of the champions of four years ago.

The parade of nations will continue through the week, with the Norwegian team of five due tomorrow; and parts of the United States, Canadian and German teams expected Thursday, Friday. Mexico's aggregation of 50 men and one woman, and the team from Brazil are expected.

FRIENDS GREET LOCAL STARS

By JESS CARVER

The middle of the night doesn't mean a thing to these Homestead folks when it comes to greeting their home towners who go to the big city and make good. Last night, or rather at 4:20 o'clock this a. m., more than 50 Homesteaders were on hand in the Pennsylvania Station here to wave "hello" and a quick "adieu" to Lenore Kight and Anna Mae Gorman as they passed through the city on the Olympic special, en route to Los Angeles.

The 17-car special, carrying 150 assorted Olympic team members, including the crack United States women's swimming squad, of which Miss Kight and Miss Gorman are members, stopped over here for a very short time and was rolled out a bit ahead of schedule. The two Homestead lasses said bye bye to their parents and friends from the steps of their Pullman. Other members of the team and party remained in their berths—and after all, 4 o'clock in the morning is no time to get up—even to be interviewed by the great Red Sullivan, celebrated Homestead news gatherer.

The selection of Miss Kight on the United States team did not come as a surprise, the Homesteaders saving the greatest volume of their cheers for the 16-year old Miss Gorman, the little girl who went to the trials in New York merely "for the train ride," with little hope of gaining a place on the team.

The special choo-choo bearing the United States stars included Pullmans, a diner and special gymnasium cars, in which the athletes may keep fit on their long journey across the continent. They'll stop over in Chicago today.

Jurges' Return Delayed; Third Bullet Found

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP.)—The return of Bill Jurges to the Chicago Cub lineup, scheduled for Friday, will be delayed another week.

The young shortstop, who was thought to have been shot twice in attempting to prevent Violet Popovich Valli, divorcee and former chorus girl, from shooting herself, nearly two weeks ago, last night was found to be carrying another bullet around. It was removed from between the ninth and tenth ribs on the right side, and he immediately left the hospital.

Only two wounds were found following the shooting, one in the right side and another in the right hand. It was not determined if the bullet which pierced his hand finally lodged between the ribs and was overlooked. Pain recurred last night.

Western Loop Cut To Four Clubs

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., July 19.—(AP.)—Beset by financial troubles, representatives of the Western Association baseball circuit decided last night to drop Independence and Topeka, Kan., and attempt to continue operation as a four-club organization.

The Topeka club has decided to disband. The Independence franchise will be transferred to Hutchinson, Kan., and the present Hutchinson team will merge with Bartlesville, Okla., present leader of the circuit, under the management of Art Ewoldt.

PARKER VICTOR

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 19.—(AP.)—Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, seeded No. 1 defeated Karl Longcope, of Houston, Texas, in a brilliant battle here yesterday as the annual North Carolina open tennis tournament got under way at Biltmore Forest Country Club. Parker won, 6-0, 3-6, 6-0.

BERG GETS WIN OVER KEED

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Kid Chocolate, the glistening Cuban Negro, today was farther than ever from his most cherished dream, the lightweight championship.

The "Keed's" latest comeback attempt was halted last night by Jack (Kid) Berg, of England, who received the decision after 15 rounds before 20,000 fans at the Garden Bowl. It was Berg's second victory over the Cuban flash.

The justice of that first decision, two years ago, has been the subject of much dispute, and there were indications today that Berg's latest victory would bring similar arguments. The verdict was given a sound razzing by the spectators.

The referee and one judge cast their votes for Berg; the other official thought Chocolate had turned the tables on his old nemesis. The Associated Press score sheet credited the Cuban with seven rounds to Berg's six.

U. S. Yachts Again Victors Abroad

RYDE, Isle of Wight, July 19.—(AP.)—The United States today won the second of the series of races among six-meter yacht teams for the British-America Cup. All four United States boats finished ahead of the four British entries in the first test yesterday.

The American yacht Jill led the fleet home, with Bob Kat second and Nancy third. The four British boats, led by Nana, then came in. Lucie, the fourth American boat and yesterday's winner, was eighth and last.

The third race will be sailed tomorrow.

BARTELL STARS AS QUAKERS UPSET DOPE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Few experts gave the lowly Phils a tumble in naming their National League flag contenders, yet it is a fact that Burt Shotton is leading the most impressive Quakers the City of Brotherly Love has had on display for many, many seasons.

The long race already has passed the half-way mark and the Phillies, as late as today, were a part of the first division, above such clubs as the world champion Cardinals, the Giants and the Dodgers, all of whom were given much of a play in the pre-season dope.

It would be somewhat foolhardy to list the Quakers as possible pennant winners, even though they were only seven and one-half games from the top after trimming the Pirates yesterday. The Phils, nevertheless, are playing headsup ball, and the spark of the club seems to be Dick Bartell, peppery shortstop who broke into the big show as a bold Buccaneer.

Daredevil Dick, Chuck Klein and Pinkey Whitney are three stars to gladden the heart of any manager, and Spud Davis and Don Hurst would not weaken any club. The Quakers pack a terrific punch, and now that they have gone in for smart action they must be feared.

Bartell gave a sample of the brand of ball he flashes for the Quakers when he turned a double play in a crisis in the seventh to flag the Buccos in yesterday's 11-inning thriller which was won by the Phillies, 5 to 4.

The battle was knotted at 3-all and the Pirates had runners on second and first when Comorosky smacked a hot bounder over second. Dick was playing Commy close to the bag and he "broke" for the ball just in the nick of time. His difficult stop was followed by a clever pass to Whitney and Pinky flung the ball to Hurst in time to end the inning.

Big Jim Elliott and Larry French tied into each other in a southpaw duel. Elliott had the better of the engagement for eight rounds when he came out to make room for a pinch hitter. Phil Collins worked the last three rounds and baffled the Buccos.

The Quakers scored three runs on French in the early rounds, but the Buccos tied up the battle in the sixth when Dave Barbee doubled to score two runs. Bartell tripled and scored in the eighth and the Buccos came from behind again to effect a deadlock. Hurst opened the eleventh with a scratch single and sored the winning run on a sacrifice and a single.

Londos and Steele Irk Fans on Coast

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(AP.)—Followed by loud and prolonged booing from the 10,000 spectators, a wrestling match billed for two out of three falls to a finish for the "world heavyweight championship" between Jim Londos, New York, and Ray Steele, Glendale, Cal., was called a draw last night.

Referee Don McDonald called the draw after 2 hours and 15 minutes, during which each wrestler won a fall.

After two hours of wrestling McDonald announced that the "time limit" was up, according, he said, to a state athletic commission ruling, but that he would exercist what he styled his right to have the show continue for 15 minutes. The 15 minutes passed without a third fall and the match was stopped.

RUTH TO RETURN TO YANKEES' LINEUP SATURDAY

TRAINER FINDS INJURY NOT SERIOUS

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—George Herman (Babe) Ruth, the great man of the Yankees, who tore a muscle in his left leg in yesterday's game with the Chicago White Sox, should be back in the lineup by Saturday, in the opinion of his trainer, Artie McGovern. Artie explained:

"It's just a 'charlie horse;' it's nothing that hasn't happened to a lot of other ball players and should heal quickly. He should be back on his feet by Thursday and back in the game by Saturday at the latest."

The Babe is spending his enforced vacation on a couch in his Riverside Drive apartment, with an electric pad wrapped around the injured member.

NATS' STREAK BROKEN

The Babe's injury resulted when he pulled up too short after missing Selph's fly in the seventh inning against the Chicago White Sox. The Yankees won, 6 to 4, thanks to round trip wallops by Gehrig, Lazzeri and Sewell.

Washington's winning streak of nine straight was well broken by the Detroit Tigers, who won both ends of a doubleheader, 8 to 6 and 2 to 1.

The St. Louis Browns suffered their eighth consecutive loss when they were set down, 8 to 1, by Tony Freitas, Athletic recruit. It was Freitas' sixth victory in a row. Led by Smead Jolley again, the Boston Red Sox trimmed Cleveland, 4 to 2.

PHILS BEAT PIRATES

The Pittsburgh Pirates, whose ability to win extra-inning battles fast was becoming a legend, finally came a cropper when they were nosed out by the Phillies, 5 to 4, in 11 frames.

Chicago failed to take advantage of the leaders' reverse, dropping a 13-to-3 decision to the Giants.

Timely hitting by Hack Wilson and Glenn Wright gave Brooklyn a 7-to-4 win over the Cardinals.

Cincinnati and Boston were not scheduled.

WEST VA. NET PLAY OPENS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 19.—(AP.)—Big guns began booming as the West Virginia open tennis tourney got under way yesterday, mowing down four entries.

Much offensive strength idled yesterday, engaging only in practice matches. Paul Kunkel, of Cincinnati, singles titleholder, will exchage shots today with Richard T. Willis, of Washington, who defeated Marcus Lopin, of New York City, 6-2, 6-1, yesterday.

Powerful contenders who drew byes, in addition to Kunkel, included Sam Cohn, Beckley; Kenneth Albers, Cincinnati, O.; Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore; Wright Hugus, Wheeling; S. R. Johnson and H. Y. Ritzenberg, of Washington, and Twink Starr and Herbert Stansbury, of Huntington.

WHEELING NINE WINS

WHEELING, W. Va., July 19.—(AP.)—The Wheeling junior Legion baseball team, champions of the first district, defeated Clarksburg, third district titlists, 5 to 1, yesterday, in the second game of a series. Clarksburg won the first game, 9 to 2, at Clarksburg last week.

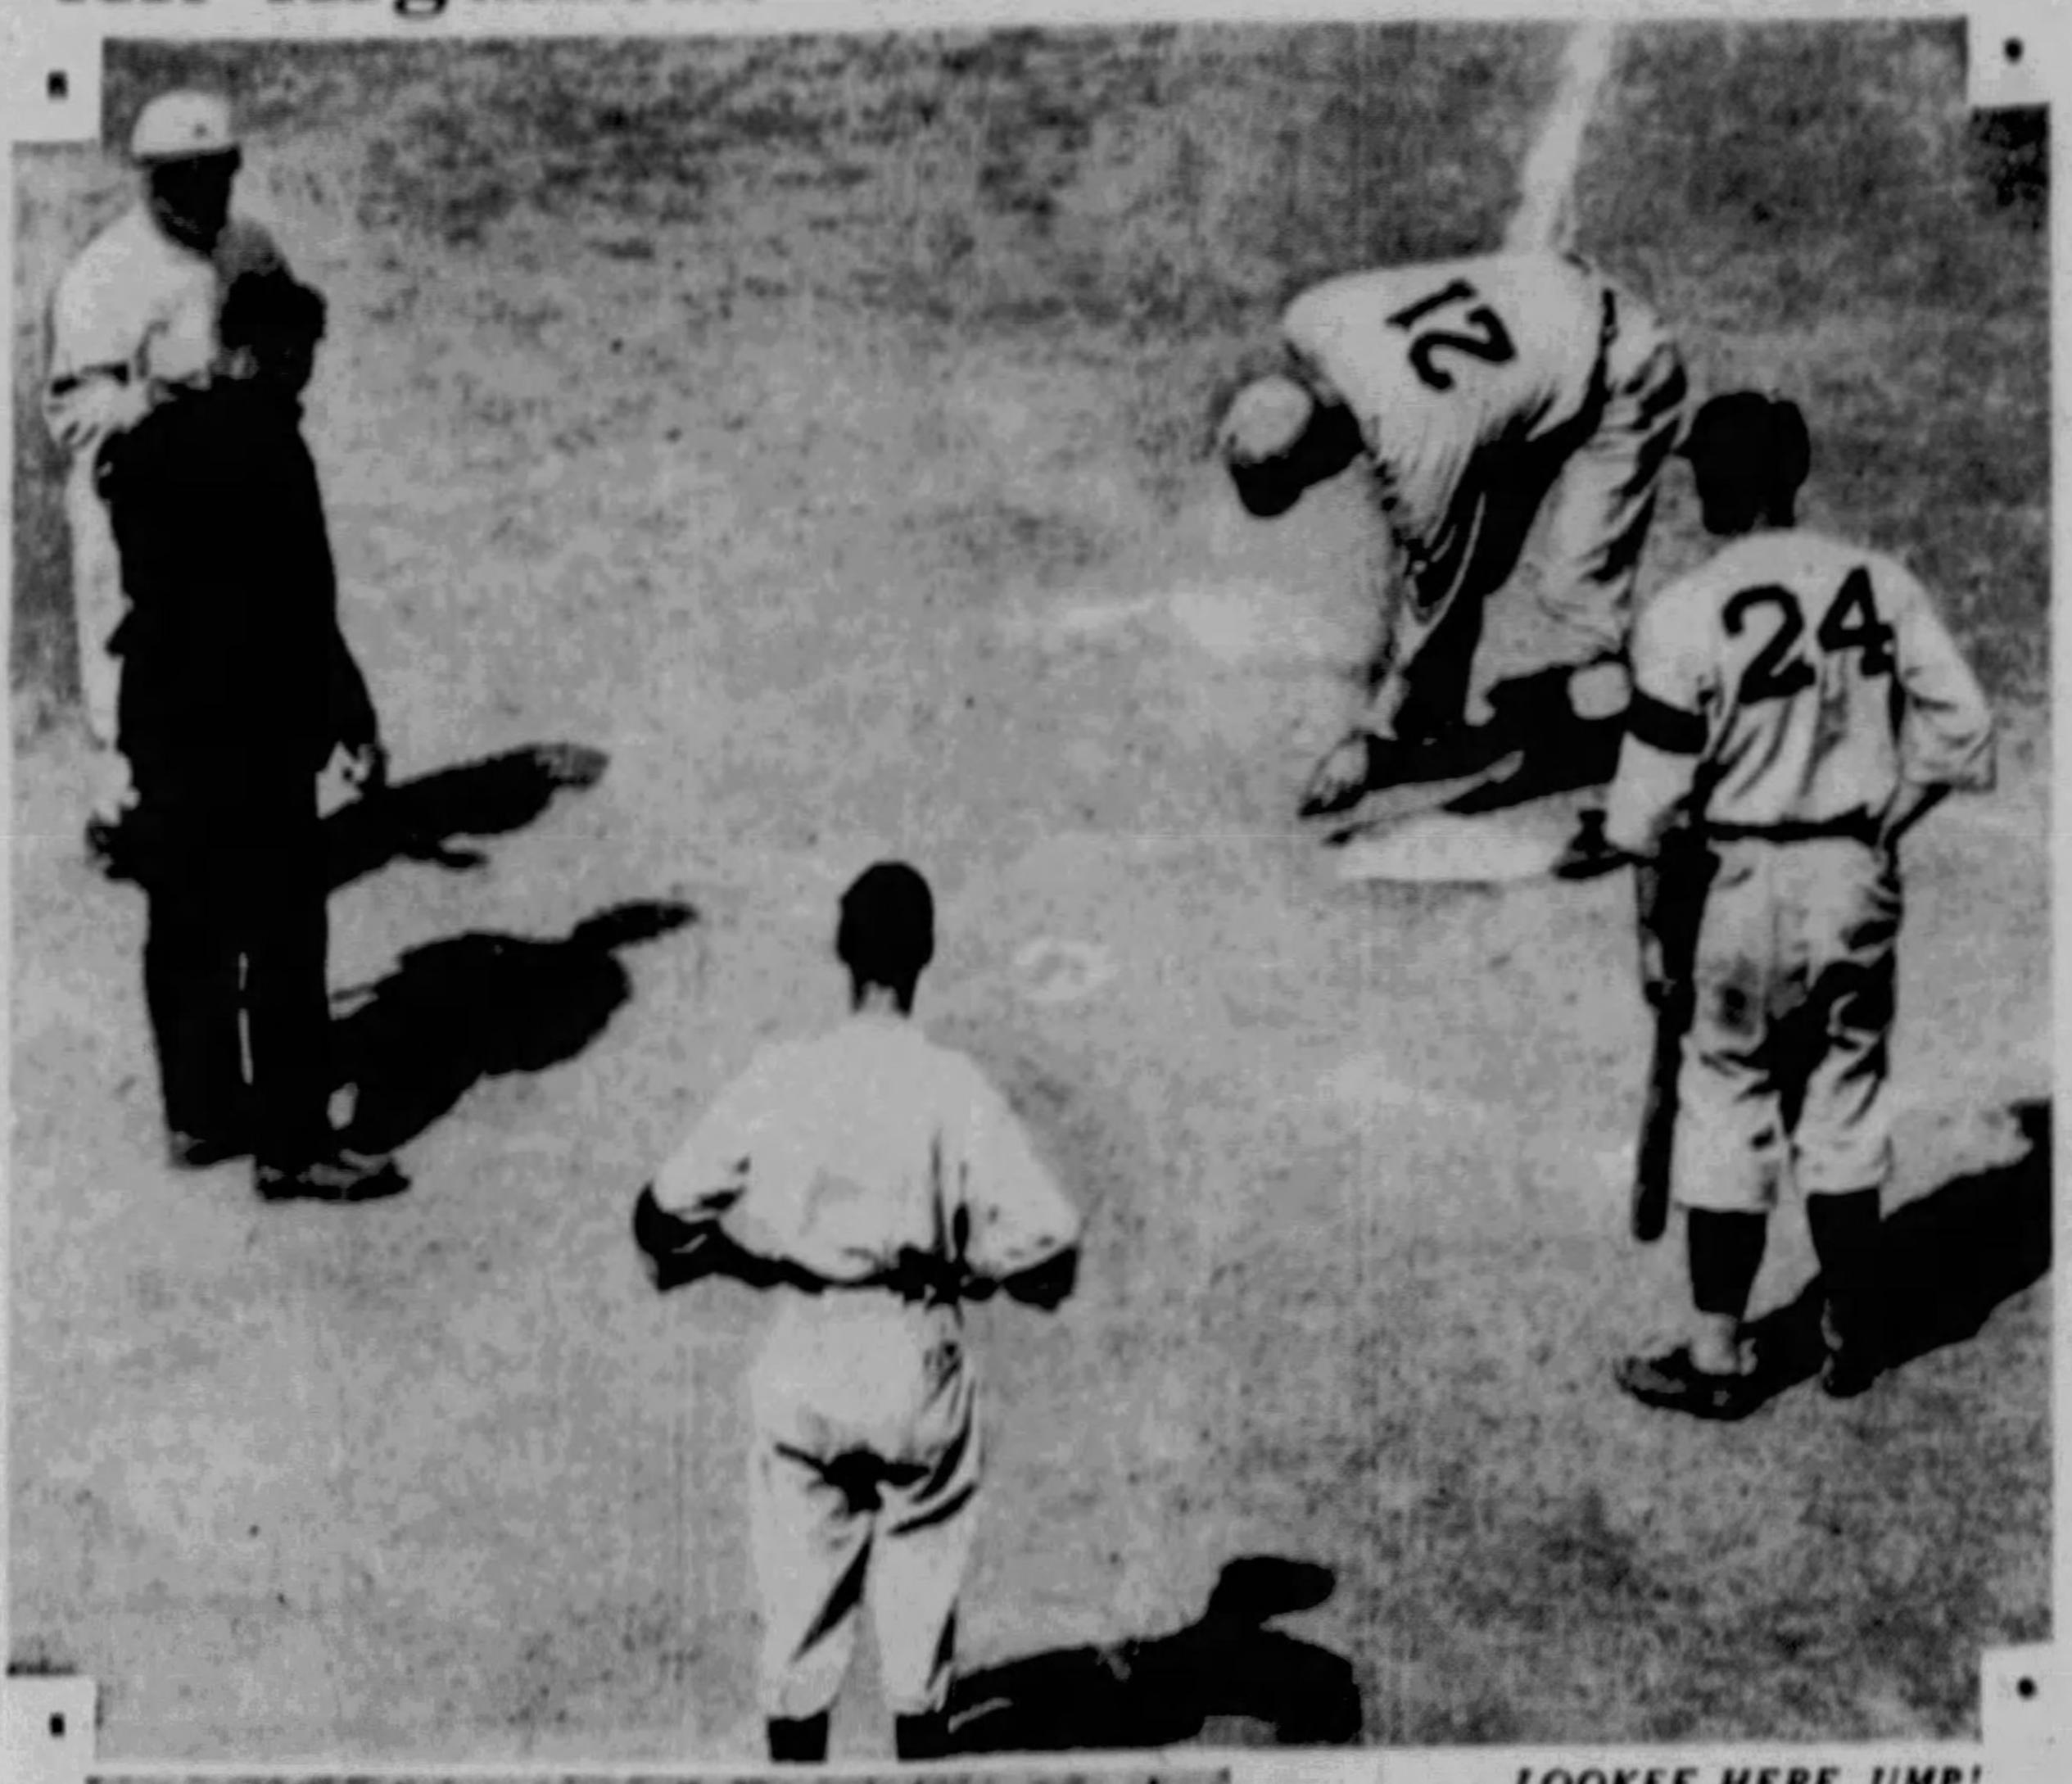
An Argument—and Onslow Is Chased



LOOKEE HERE, UMP!

Pitcher Elliott, of the Phillies, pointing out to Umpire Bill Klem that Vaughan was out when he scored the tying run for the Pirates on Barbee's double in the sixth inning at Forbes Field yesterday afternoon.

COACH JACK ONSLOW UMPIRE BILL KLEM

Umpire Klem insisted he hadn't booted the play on Vaughan and stood his ground and, when Coach Jack Onslow, of the Phillies, tried to do some insisting on behalf of the Phillies, he was told to be on his way, as shown above. The Phillies finally won in the eleventh, 5-4. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

BABE HUNT WINS

TULSA, Okla., July 19.—(AP.)—Babe Hunt, 196, of Ponca City, Okla., outpointed Paul Swiderski, 187½, of New York, to win a decision in their 10-round fight here last night.

Sonnenberg Hurt In Auto Accident

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass., July 19.—(INS.)—Gus Sonnenberg, former world heavyweight wrestling champion, was believed seriously injured today when his automobile figured in a head-on collision with an automobile operated by Patrolman Richard Morrissey, of the Lawrence police.

Both men were removed to Lawrence General Hospital where Sonnenberg was found to have a questionable fractured rib on the left side, lacerations of the right leg and a finger injury. While his condition was reported "fair," X-rays were to be taken for possible internal injuries.

Fight Results

At Meyers Bowl—Wesley Ramey defeated Battling Gizzy, 10 rounds; Johnny Hayes knocked out Marty Gornick, 9 rounds; Jimmy Thomas defeated Jimmy Vaughn, 8 rounds; Sammy Burns defeated Dominic Mancini, 6 rounds.

At New York—Jack (Kid) Berg defeated Kid Chocolate, 15 rounds; Tony Falco and Frankie Klick drew, 8 rounds; Eddie (Kid) Wolfe defeated King Tut, 8 rounds; Billy McMahon defeated Phil Rafferty, 8 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Johnny Jadick, world junior-welterweight champion, defeated Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, 10 rounds; Lew Massey defeated Young Firpo, 10 rounds; Eddie Cool defeated Joey Costa, 10 rounds; Buster Brown defeated Patsy Wallace, 10 rounds.

At Baltimore—K. O. Christner and Walter Cobb drew, 10 rounds; Red Barry defeated Eddie Houghton, 8 rounds.

At Newark—Vince Dundee defeated Young Terry, 10 rounds; Sylvan Bass knocked out Jack Reilly, 2 rounds.

At Tulsa—Babe Hunt defeated Paul Swikerski, 10 rounds.

At Springfield, Mass.—Art Huttick defeated Edward Winston, 10 rounds.

TURTLE CREEK, EAGLES CLASH IN TEST

The Turtle Creek Community Builders will seek to break the jinx that the Carrick Eagles seem to hold over them this evening at the Carrick High School Field as the teams clash in the feature game of the evening, a West Penn League affair. The Eagles are out to win the second half championship and be the club to meet the Homestead Aces in the post-season playoff for the title.

Three games are carded in the City League. Homewood meets Reliance Life at Bellevue. Cy Rheam's nine seems to have taken a new lease of life in the second half chase. Cy Rheam is the lad to get the most out of the material, too, and figures to have the Lifers up with the leaders.

In other games, the Geislers engage the Ferris nine at McKees Rocks and J. L. Thomas meets the North Siders.

LOCAL BOWLERS WIN INTER-CITY GOLF TITLE

By TOM BIRKS

Pittsburgh's eight-man team, headed by Bill Farquhar, won the annual Inter-City Ten Pin Bowlers' Association tournament held at the Pittsburgh Field Club yesterday afternoon. The local outfit garnered 18½ points to win. Cleveland, with 12 points, was second. Detroit, with 9½ points, was third, and Buffalo, with 2 points, fourth.

Bill Farquhar, champion of the Pittsburgh Field Club, led the large field home for the low gross prize, his 77 copping the honors.

Sammy Mellon, Oakmont caddie master, tied Andy Kucan for honors in the Caddie Masters' tournament held at the Uniontown Country Club yesterday afternoon. Both turned in cards of 74.

BARR COPS HONORS

With 48 starters in the field, Tom Barr, who plays his golf at Schenley, and Jack Freund, of the Westmoreland Country Club, tied for honors in the first southpaw tournament held at Shannopin yesterday. Barr had a 41-36—77, while the Westmoreland player scored a 36-41—77.

E. G. Livesey, vice president of the national left handers' organization, played in the last foursome and took a 74, but the Columbus man was not taking part in the play for the prizes. H. Kock, of South Hills; W. Hartzel, of South Park, and E. E. Bauer, of Brackenridge, tied for runner-up honors, each having a gross 82.

There will be an exhibition match at the Bob-O-Link course Friday evening. Ted Luther, professional of the Valley Heights Club, will be paired with Maurice Le Bosquet, of Highland, opposing Pete O'Hara, professional at Westmoreland, and Freddy Weppner, the Stanton Heights amateur. The match will get under way at 7:30 p. m., and will be over the 18-hole route. Luther and O'Hara have entered the West Penn Iron tourney to be played over the course next Monday.

Tom Bennett, likable professional of the Youghiogheny Country Club, who does not get very much competitive golf, will play in the Bedford Springs tournament again this season.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Only this spring John McGraw complained modern ball players lacked the fighting spirit. Well, the boys certainly gave John some Service. Up to date, the big leagues have scared a couple of broken jaws, Ump Moriarty still nurses a busted fin and in Chicago a player even got himself shot at. If that ain't the old spirit McGraw asked for, then I'm a piece of cheese and you're Mickey Mouse.

JADICK KEEPS TITLE, FANS PROTEST

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(INS.)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, left for New York today without any comment on the decision in his 10-round bout with Johnhny Jadick at the Phillies Park here last night.

Canzoneri, who lost the junior-welterweight title to Jadick just six months ago, seemed to have the bout in his lap, but the decision went the other way.

Tom Walsh, of Scranton, and Red Robinson, of Pittsburgh, were the judges. Joe McGuigan refereed. The commission would not announce how the trio voted. Canzoneri took at least six rounds, Jadick one and three were even.

Canzoneri's left eye was reddened, but he finished strong. He scored effectively with his rights and lefts to the body, while Jadick jabbed most of the time. In the eighth round, Jadick wrestled Canzoneri out of the ring. After that they slugged with abandon.

As soon as the decision was announced to the crowd of 8,000 a shower of baseball cushions and papers started into the ring, both fighters and officials being hit.

SEEDED NET STARS BEATEN

ELLIOTT, HESS BOW IN LOCAL TOURNEY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Youthful racquet stars, battling for honors of the annual Western Pennsylvania Junior and Boys' tennis championships here this week, joust in second, third and quarter-final round action on the Carnegie Tech rectangles this morning and afternoon. Chairman Hub Rinehart has announced that competition will be pushed vigorously with a view to filling out the semi-final brackets before the dinner hour tonight in order that tourney action may be completed, as per schedule, on Thursday.

Forty-three matches, including but one default out of a combined field of 76, were accounted for on the Tartan and P. A. A. lots yesterday.

Favorites failed to emerge unscathed from the inaugural session. Paul Elliott, Wilkinsburg ace, and Emerson Hess, Taylor Allderdice High luminary, seeded respectively first and fifth in the Junior event, and Oliver Hurst, listed fourth in the Boys' sector, falling by the wayside. Frank Killmeyer, Wheeling contender, eliminated Elliott 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, while Jim Magaw disposed of Hess, 6-2, 10-8. Lawrence Blatt, College Avenue entry defeated Hurst, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Other members of the select groups survived the initial ordeal, though Harold Hatch, Mount Lebanon satellite and sixth on the Junior slate, was run to three stanzas by Fred Sullivan, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

JUNIOR SINGLES.

First round, Upper half—Fred Killmeyer defeated J. Robb Wilson, 6-0, 6-2; Robert Madden defeated Frank Hillgartner, 6-2, 6-2; Byron Dillon defeated Dick Sunstein, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5; J. V. McDonald defeated Edgar Topp, 6-1, 7-5; James Magaw defeated Richard Jenkins, 6-0, 6-4; Robert C. Villa defeated Robert Crede, 6-4, 7-5; Charles Stone defeated Don C. Borland, 6-1, 6-4; Charles W. Wilder, III defeated Victor Lapman, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; Roy Heckler defeated W. B. McKenna, 6-3, 6-2; Paul DeJohn defeated Karl Ross, 6-1, 6-0.

Lower half—Robert Engel defeated Kin Derragh, 2-6, 8-6, 13-11; Joseph Manning defeated Ralph Brigham, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Sam Singer defeated Robert Brown, 6-1, 7-5; Cyril Dough rty defeated Sol Kurtz, 6-8, 6-4, 7-5; Hugo Vannucci defeated James Criswell, 6-1, 6-3; Robert Beitz defeated Bernard Pearlstein, 6-0, 6-0; Edgar Carson defeated Gerald Barry, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3; John Baid defeated J. G. Brinko, 6-3, 6-3; John David Jones defeated James Kelly, 6-4, 6-3; Paul Wick defeated Jack Frazier, 6-3, 6-4.

Second round, Upper half—Frank Killmeyer defeated Paul Elliott, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Byron Dillon defeated J. V. McDonald, 6-4, 6-4; James Magaw defeated Emerson Hess, 6-2, 10-8; Harold Mathieson, Jr. defeated William Goodrich, 6-1, 6-2; Robert Villa defeated Charles Stone, 6-4, 6-4; Robert Grier defeated Paul DeJohn, 7-5, 6-1.

Lower half—Nicholas Magakov defeated Robert Entwisle, 6-3, 6-2; Robert Burnett defeated Hugo Vannucci, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4; Harold Hatch defeated Frederick Sullivan, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Ralph Baid defeated Paul Wick, 6-1, 6-3.

BOYS' SINGLES

Second round, upper half—Robert Baid defeated John Allison, 6-1, 6-0; John Burke defeated Dudley R. Weiss, 8-10, 6-2, 6-1; Robert Madden defeated William C. Fay, 6-2, 6-1.

Lower half—Lawrence Blatt defeated Oliver Hurst, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2; Irwin Bolow won from Andy Hakon by default.

Gene May Pass Pro Tourney Test

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—The Metropolitan Professional Golfers' Association has offered to qualify Gene Sarazen, British and American open title holder, for the professional tournament at St. Paul, without the necessity of playing through the qualifying rounds, August 10 with other Metropolitan pros.

The National Professional tournament has no exempt list as does the Open where the 30 leading scorers of the year before automatically qualify and if Sarazen accepts a place without playing it will set a precedent.

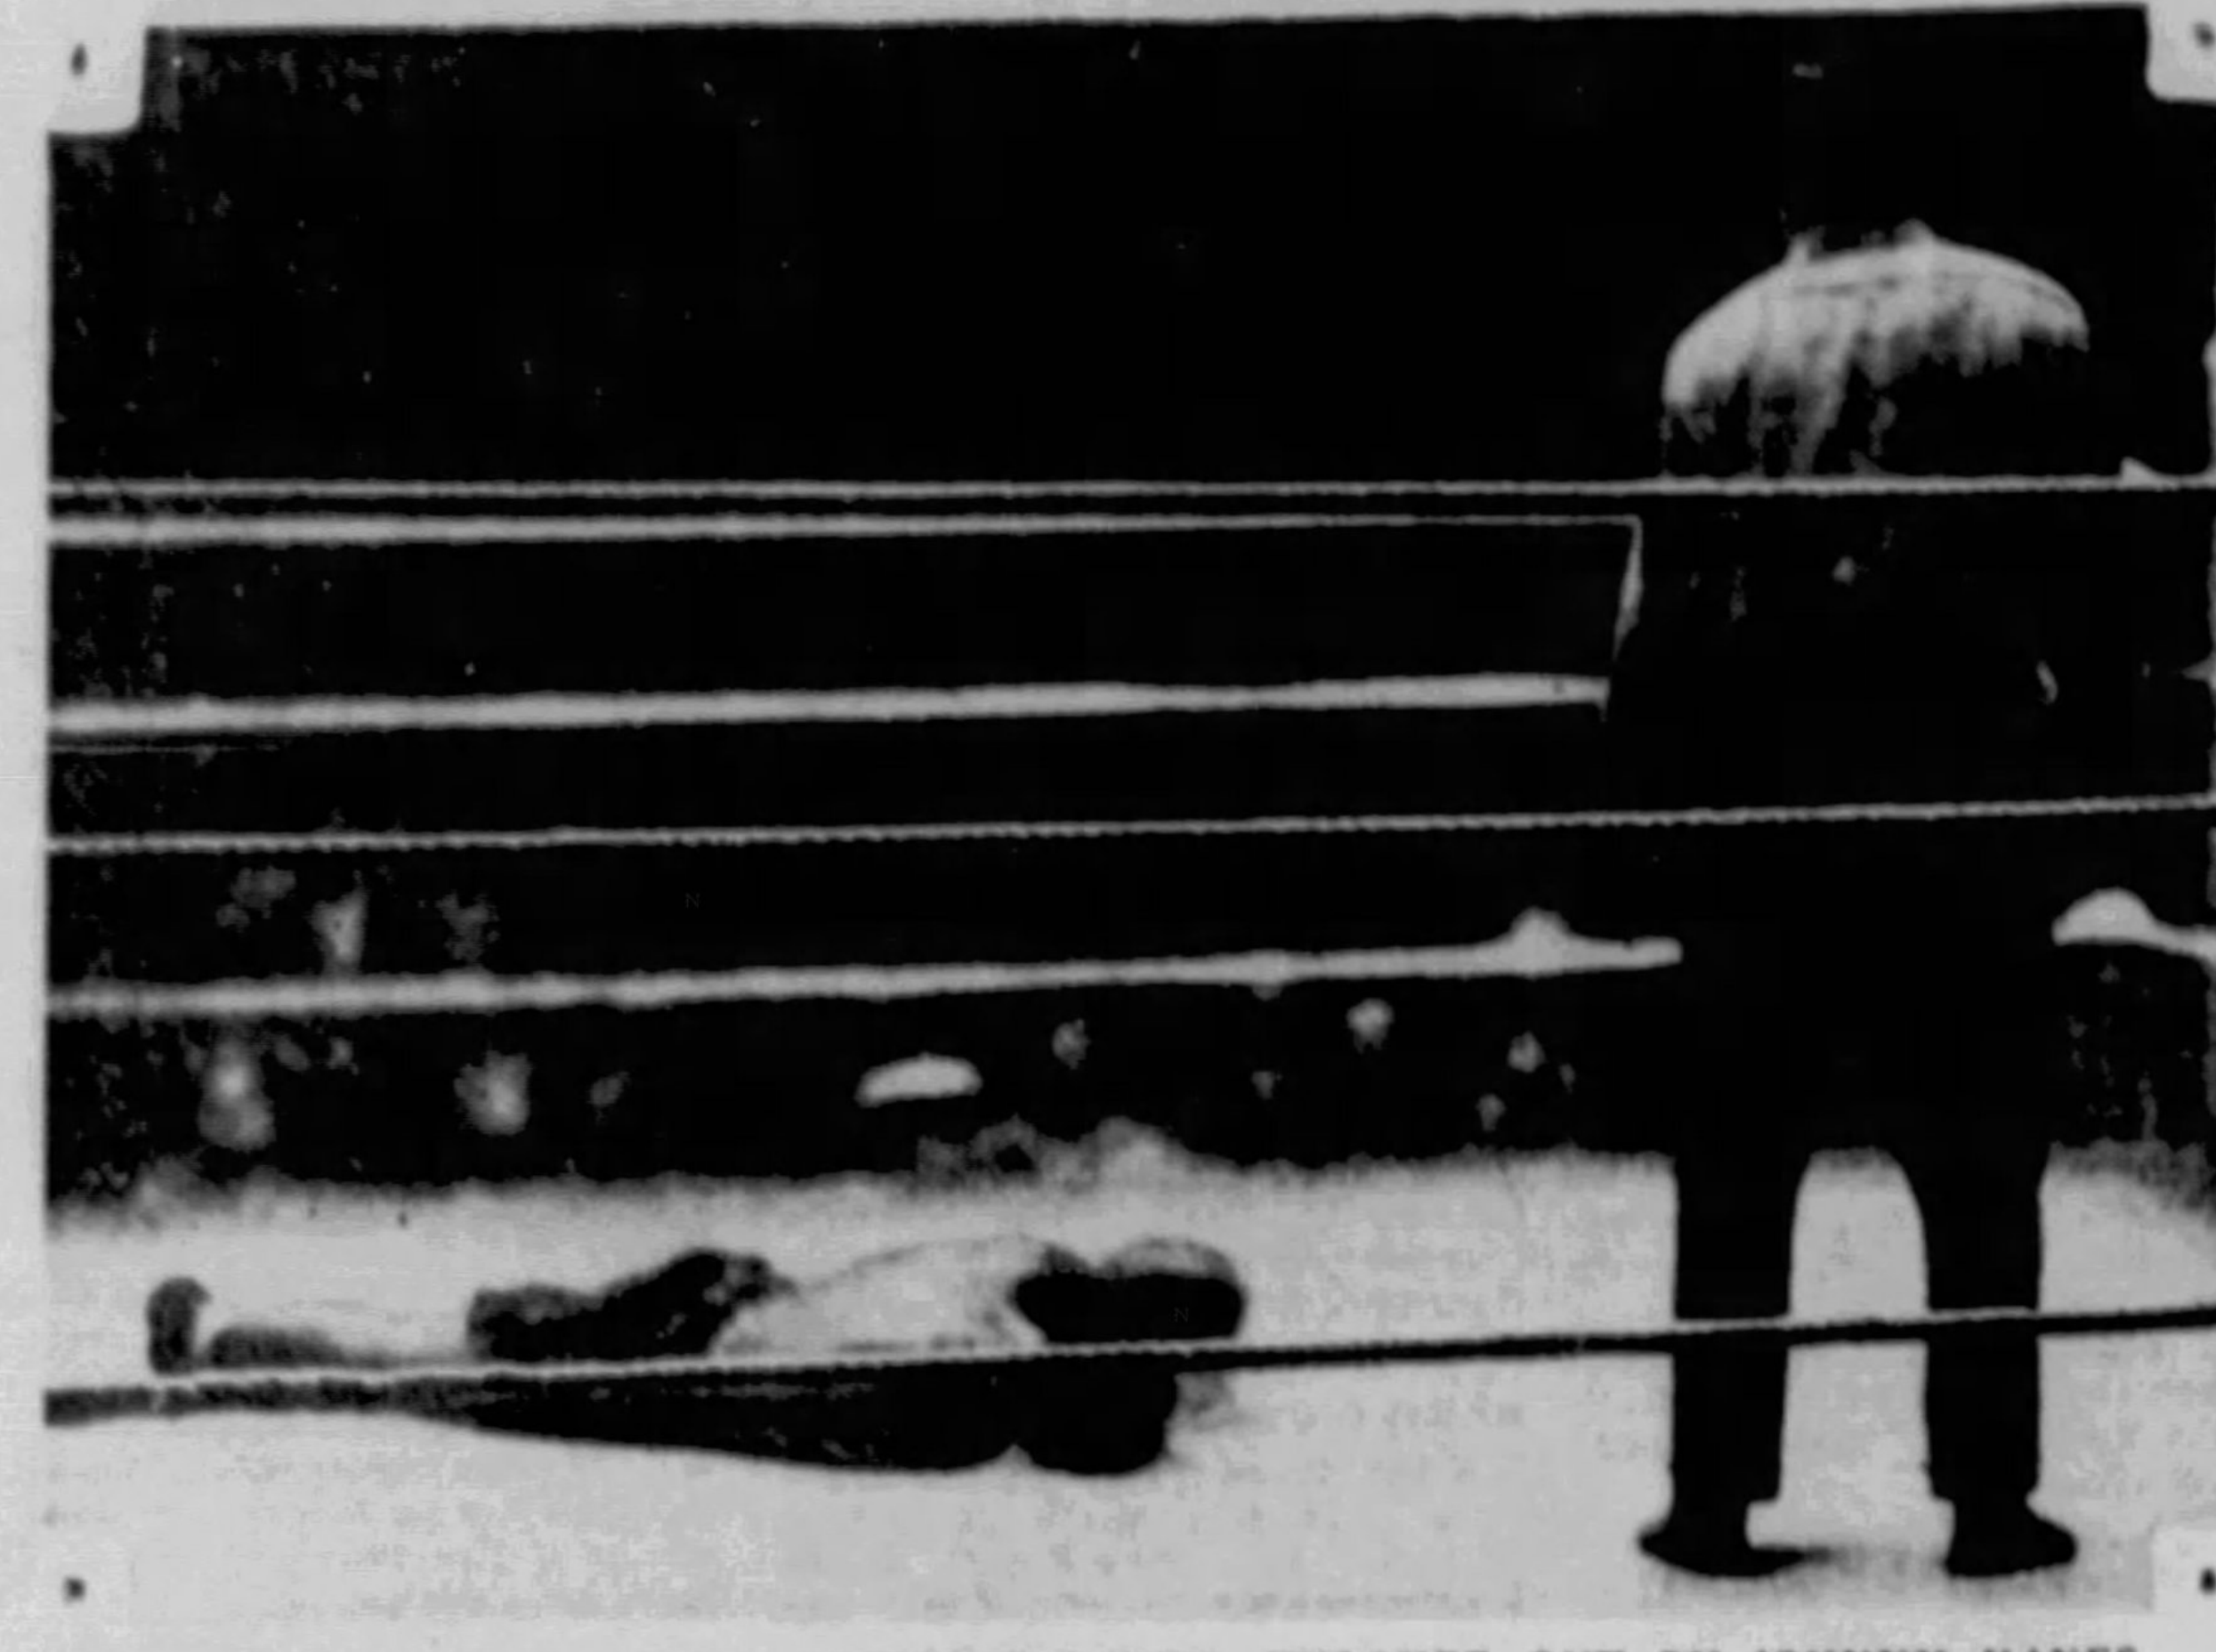
BRITONS IN TORONTO

TORONTO, July 19.—(AP.)—Bronzed and healthy after their trip across the Atlantic with the delegates to the imperial conference at Ottawa, the British Olympic track and field team arrived here today enroute to the Los Angeles games.

Gornick Stopped at Bowl



MARTY GORNICK, LOCAL WELTERWEIGHT, KNOCKED OUT BY JOHNNY HAYES

Technically knocked out in his first start here by Ted Yarosz, a few weeks ago, Johnny Hayes, Philadelphia veteran, came back last night to knock out Marty Gornick, local favorite, in the ninth round at the Meyers Bowl, as shown above. Gornick took a count of nine just before being sent down for the full toll. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

WESLEY RAMEY BEATS GIZZY

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Benefit amateur bouts, St. Peter's A. A. arena, North Side.

Frankie Petrolle vs. Battling Battalino, 10 rounds; Louis (Kid) Kaplan vs. Emil Rossi, 8 rounds; Charley Miller vs. Tony Melore and Izzy Singer vs. Bill Higgins, 6 rounds each, Queensboro Stadium, New York.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

A good-looking, rangy youth last night took the measure of Battling Gizzy, pugnacious Donora punch-thrower, before a small crowd in the reopening show at the Meyers Bowl, in North Braddock, winning hands down. The victor was Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, and it was his second win over the Battler in as many starts, the first having occurred in Detroit earlier in the year.

The fight wasn't much to look at, for Wesley, subbing on 48 hours' notice for his stablemate, Lew Feldman, of New York, had entirely too much class for Gizzy and won every round but the last one, in which he coasted, with the decision safely in.

RAMEY SHOWS CLASS

Gizzy was his old rushing and wrestling self, but he landed few clean punches, while Ramey scored effectively to the body and head with lefts and occasionally with rights. Both were wrestled to the floor a few times, and, in the early stages of the battle, while Gizzy was strong, his tugging tactics produced many comic poses, with Ramey protecting himself with the knowledge he picked up in their first meeting. They also fought after the bell in a number of the rounds.

Ramey showed enough to convince the fans that he is a good ringman and he probably will be brought back again soon. Against a more orthodox opponent his boxing skill should be even more apparent than it was last night.

Ramey weighed 134½ pounds and Gizzy 139 at 3 p. m.

HAYES STOPS GORNICK

Marty Gornick, of Whitaker, who has been knocking out his opponents, ran into a sleeper himself in the first scheduled 10-round bout, in which Johnny Hayes, of Philadelphia, recently stopped by Ted Yarosz at Hickey Park, outboxed and outpunched him all of the way and finally floored him for nine and then knocked him cold after Marty rose and began to slug with him in the ninth round. It looked as if Gornick was out on the first flooring, but he pulled himself together and got up just in time to beat the count. Marty's left eye and his mouth were cut and bleeding for several rounds before the finish.

Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight, defeated Jimmy Vaughn, of Cleveland, in the best fight of the card, the eight-round second battle. Vaughn made matters interesting for three rounds, but was floored for counts of eight and nine in the fourth and took a bad punching over the remainder of the route.

P. WANER AT RINGSIDE

Sammy Burns, Negro featherweight, of the Hill, battered Dominic Mancini, making his professional debut, in the six-round opener when Dominic blew up after a fast start.

Paul Waner, of the Pirates, joined Pitcher Heine Meine at the ringside. Meine seldom misses a show when the local club is at home.

Between Rounds

Harry Williams, Negro light-heavyweight boxer, is back in town after a long absence and ready to box any of the big fellows. He helped Lou Scozza prepare for his championship match with Maxie Rosenbloom in Buffalo last week and also worked with Arthur DeKuh for a bout in Syracuse.

The St. Peter's A. A., of the North Side, offers another attractive benefit amateur show for the needy in its open-air arena tonight.

The boxing show scheduled at Greenlee Field tomorrow night was called off today when word was received from Natie Brown that he had suffered a cut eye in training and would not be able to go through with his windup against Billy Jones. Natie's manager, Billy McCarney, attended the Bowl fights last night, and after he viewed the slim attendance, things began to happen.

Lope Tenorio, Filipino welterweight, will be making his first local appearance when he meets Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, in the main bout at Hickey Park, Thursday night.

Willie Davies, of Charleroi, boxes Babe Triscaro in the main bout of a card of six-rounders in Cleveland, Tuesday night of next week. Jack December and Jackie Purvis meet in another battle.

Andrew Black is managing Joe Hughes, 145-pounder, and Jimmy Bell, 158-pounder, former amateurs, of Duquesne, who are ready t turn professional. He also handles Dan Billick, who wants to box any of the 122-pounders.

Baxter Calmes and Joe Doktor box in Chicago Friday night. Dave Shade meets Charley (Trader) Horn in a six-round bout at Long Beach, N. Y., the same night, with Ruby Goldstein and Ralph Landis in another battle on this card.

Jimmy Young, of Johnstown, says he's willing to accommodate Anson Green, Homestead middleweight, who complains he is having difficulty obtaining matches.

Marty McHale, McKeesport junior-welterweight, wants to box any of the men his weight around here. His manager, Bill Sullivan, says the promoters are passing him up.

O. K. OF 4-PARTY RAIL PLAN DUE SOON

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 19.—A definite announcement of Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the eastern four-party railroad merger will be made within 10 days.

This was learned exclusively today as the leading railway executives of the country gathered here to draft a program of reforms and discuss the appointment of a dictator, or governing commission.

At this last barrier to the long discussed consolidation appeared surmounted, a new complication arose today in a revival of reports in both Wall street and Washington of negotiations by Lenore F. Loree, veteran head of the Deleware and Hudson Railroad, for purchase of control of one of the major eastern systems.

LOREE DEAL RUMORED

Loree has more than $50,000,000 in cash at his disposal—ample for the purchase at current market prices of stock control of anyone of the three of the big eastern lines. Wall street has been hearing stories for weeks of reported open market purchases of New York Central stock by Loree and a deal between him and the Vanderbilts for some of their holdings. A more logical purchase might be the Baltimore and Ohio.

The four-party merger plan calls for creation of four systems, the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio. Under this plan Loree's Delaware and Hudson is divided among the four roads for their joint use.

RAIL CZAR UNLIKELY

The 50 millions at Loree's disposal represents part of the proceeds from his sale to the Pennsylvania Railroad during the bull market control of the Wabash and Lehigh Valley railroads.

The meeting of rail executives here today is preparing a report for presentation to general conference next week. The executives are divided on a dictatorship. Some claim the anti-trust laws bar such a step, while others are unwilling to delegate such authority to any one individual or commission.

Soft Coal Output Declines for Week

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP.)—Production of bituminous coal showed a sharp drop during the week ended July 9, accentuated by observance of Independence Day in most fields. In the table that follows the output is given for comparable periods, as reported by the Mines Bureau: Week ended July 9, 3,625,000 tons; previous week, 4,070,000 tons; same week last year, 6,671,000 tons.

Forbes

Forbes Urges Stock Buying Corporation

By B. C. FORBES

WHY NOT a stock-buying corporation, patterned after the bond-buying corporation, but on a much broader scale, a scale permitting participation by the public?

B. C. Forbes

Since the organization of the bond corporation by J. P. Morgan & Company and New York's most powerful bankers, the market value of bonds, which had been declining alarmingly, has notably increased this notwithstanding that only a small fraction of the total capital of $100,000,000 has been thus far utilized.

I have sounded out a number of investors as to whether they would respond if offered opportunity to participate in a stock-buying corporation sponsored by leading financial interests. In every instance the reply has been an emphatic "Yes."

I am convinced that such an enterprise would be proffered hundreds of millions of dollars of capital—probably a billion dollars would be readily pledged.

THINK OF THE possible profits were such an organization run by the ablest, most experienced; best-informed men in America! The capital could be and should be paid in only as needed. The life of the corporation should not be restricted by its charter to one or two or any other specific number of years, but subscribers should be given to understand it would cash in at any time its directors elected.

Can any sane person doubt that stocks selected by the most capable judges in the land would not sooner or later yield an unusually handsome profit?

The project should be avowedly motivated by profit-making considerations, just as is the bond corporation. If it had, as it easily could have, a thousand million dollars at its command, it is unthinkable that its creation and functioning would not have a potent, stabilizing influence upon the whole stock market.

ANNOUCEMENT OF the decision to organize a corporation along the lines here pictured would be sufficient to stimulate optimistic sentiment. Actual purchases could and should be conducted gradually, orderly, skillfully.

No tremendous amount of money should be shot into the market all of a sudden, lest a relapse follow. The bond corporation has operated unspectacularly. Yet, although probably less than one-fifth of its available funds have been invested, the influence upon bond values has been distinctly beneficial.

A properly-indorsed and officered stock-buying corporation could scarcely fail to exercise a similarly beneficial influence. Almost every thinking individual agrees that many stocks are today selling at absurdly low levels. But in the absence of avowed leadership of the right kind, buying has been hesistant. Perhaps it is significant that Europeans, more acustomed than we are to taking a long-range view, have been quite active purchasers of our securities during recent weeks.

Wall Street magnates need to do something more than they have done to strive to modify the hostility toward them which has been generated throughout the nation. Let them promptly act on the suggestion here given. It embraces opportunity for both profit and popularity.

SENATOR BARBOUR, of New Jersey, writes this column:

"The accomplishments of the Senate, I believe, paved the way for the betterment of conditions in general, and while there are other matters which I believe might well have been done, such as remedying the conditions arising out of the prohibition laws, much progress has been made toward better times.

"The most difficult job we had to face was balancing the budget. This has not been an easy task and it has been one which has led to very justifiable differences of opinion. Appropriations, however, have been very drastically cut, and I estimate that savings this year will amount to about $500,000,000."

WALL STREET did not immediately stage a celebration of Congress' adjournment. Perhaps this is only an instance of hope deferred.

Huge Scrap Steel Purchase Reported

The Daily Metal Trade says the United States Steel Corporation has purchased between 25,000 and 50,000 tons of No. 1 heavy melting steel from the New York Central Railroad. The price paid is understood to be about $8.50 a ton, although this has not been confirmed.

The steel is to be shipped to the Ohio works at Youngstown, O., and the Farrell (Pa.) works, both Carnegie Steel Company units, says the paper.

This is the first big steel scrap purchase since the depression began.

Daily Oil Output Off 3,468 Barrels

TULSA, July 19.—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States during the week ended July 16 totaled 2,146,731 barrels, a decrease of 3,468 barrels daily from the preceding week, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

POLE TO SCAN NEW MONEY REQUESTS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Applications by national banks for authority to issue bank notes with the backing of government bonds bearing 3⅜ per cent interest or less will be scrutinized with the utmost care by Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole before permits are issued.

Officials today anticipated there would not be extensive use of this feature of the home loan bill.

Available as new backing for currency is $3,064,871,200 in 3, 3⅛ and 3⅜ per cent bonds. Only a third of that amount would be used as the maximum inasmuch as the banks would be limited to their capitalization in the volume of currency issued.

SMALL BENEFIT SEEN

Experts felt no benefit would result from this legislation. It was pointed out that the Federal Reserve banks can issue several billion dollars in currency if necessity arises.

Outstanding national bank notes June 30 amounted to approximately $700,000,000, an increase of $52,000,000 during the year. In Federal Reserve notes $2,780,222,000 were in circulation, higher by $1,072,000,000 than a year ago. The total circulation of money was $5,695,000,000, an increase of $1,174,000,000 as compared with June 30, 1931.

BOOSTS QUOTATIONS

Maximum use of the 3, 3⅛ and 3⅜ per cent bonds would increase the revenues of the banks by about $30,000,000. When national banks issue notes, bonds are deposited with the Treasury as collateral, but the banks draw the interest. The present backing for national bank notes are the 2 per cent consols of 1930.

Experts said that, should there be an expansion of the national bank notes, there possibly would be a similar reduction in the circulation of Federal Reserve notes.

One effect of granting circulation privileges to the additional bonds will be to boost their quotations on the market and probably to reduce the price of the consols.

Mexican Peso Drops As Strike Threatens

MEXICO CITY, July 19.—Reports of a threatened general strike on the National Railways of Mexico are held responsible for the violent fluctuations of the peso on the foreign exchange market on Monday. Opening at 3.37 to the dollar, the peso moved back and forth continually, at one time showing a loss of 15 points on the day, and finally closed at 3.57.

BASIC POINTS
TO BE CONSIDERED IN ESTABLISHING A LIFE INSURANCE TRUST

5. Authority of Your Trustee to Purchase Assets From Your Estate

IN establishing a Life Insurance Trust, you may give your Trustee authority in its discretion to purchase assets from your estate at the time of your death in order to provide for the payment of debts, taxes or legacies. By inserting such a provision in your Trust Agreement, you avoid the possible necessity of liquidating your property at a forced sale or under unfavorable market conditions.

The Trustee may then be given authority to hold such property as investments under your Insurance Trust as long as it is deemed advisable or until conditions permit an advantageous sale.

This is a wise provision, in that it makes the insurance cash readily available to meet expenses in the settlement of your estate, and may effect considerable savings in the administration of your property.

The officers of the Trust Department of The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh will be glad to discuss with you, your attorney, and your insurance counselor the drawing up of a Life Insurance Trust Agreement suitable to your needs. If you would like to have complete information on Life Insurance Trusts, we suggest that you send for our new booklet entitled, "The Life Insurance Trust Plan of Conserving and Distributing Your Life Insurance Estate."

STOCK MARKET LIST TURNS STEADY

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Haphazard speculation by floor traders gave the stock market a semblance of activity today, as the list steadied after yesterday's setback.

A somewhat better tone in principal commodities, notably wheat, was encouraging, but buying power in the share market was rather feeble and prices with few exceptions made scant progress. further encouragement from the bond market was lacking, although prices there were well maintained.

The list managed to push up somewhat in the late morning, dipped at midday, and stiffened again in the early afternoon. Tobaccos were pushed forward, gains of around a point appearing in American Tobacco "B", Reynolds "B" and Lorillard. Unification developments served to give the New York tractions a boost, Brooklyn Manhattan getting up nearly 3 points.

Yesterday's selling in Dupont seemed to have dried up, and that issue improved fractionally. Slight gains also appeared in such issues as American Can, Allied Chemical, Coca Cola, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, and Union Pacific. United States Steel was about steady. Public Service of New Jersey was a soft spot, losing more than a point before meeting support. General Foods dropped a major fraction, and Homestake Mining lost a couple of points.

Traders were somewhat disappointed at the quick exhaustion of buying power during last week's rally, and at the way the list backed away under light selling in yesterday's session. On the other hand, there seemed to be little selling hanging over the market at current levels. While some commentators thought the old lows, last touched on July 8, might be due for another testing, there was nothing in the day's developments to indicate an immediate return to those levels.

Reports of scattered upturns in industrial activity were read with interest, but were scarcely regarded as conclusive, as there are usually some early resumptions of activity soon after the midyears. More general signs of seasonal pickup are not expected until August or September. With Congress out of the way, Wall street is now watching the Washington administration for further steps in its reconstruction and relief program, and the prospect of developments from that quarter seemed to make shorts wary.

The New York tractions were given a substantial boost by announcement that a Morgan committee was seeking deposits from Interboro Rapid Transit security holders in favor of a unification plan. The fresh boost for the tobaccos was apparently in a further effort to get a speculative following on the strength of satisfactory unofficial estimates of the first half year's earnings. While Wall street is making dark forecasts of second quarter and first half showings for many companies, tobaccos, oils and a number of specialties are said to have done relatively well.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

A. M. Byers & Co. and subsidiaries report for the June quarter net loss of $211,683 after taxes, depreciation, etc., compared with net loss of $229,138 in the preceding quarter and net profit of $3,766, equal to 6 cents a share on the 56,744 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock in the June quarter, 1931. For nine months ended June 30, net loss totaled $571,405, compared with net profit of $106,999 equal to $1.88 a share on the preferred, in the like nine months of the previous fiscal year.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, July 19.—The bond market was hesitant today. Even the United States government list, which spurted yesterday, showed relaxing tendencies. The unsettled situation in Germany again had an unsettling effect on Reich obligations. Mild firmness was exhibited by other foreign issues.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Run on Dollar May Be Reversed in Near Future

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE RUN ON THE dollar may be reversed within a short time. This opinion is being held by leading bankers and dealers in foreign exchange.

The flight from the dollar, it will be remembered, terminated only a few weeks ago. It came to an end, not because European confidence in the dollar increased, but because France and other countries no longer had balances on which they could draw.

The position of the United States in the foreign exchange market may be likened to that of a bank which has experienced a run during which nearly all depositors have withdrawn their money, but in which the bank has been so strong that it has met every demand upon it.

Europe May Return Gold to America

THE EXODUS OF GOLD from the United States reached such extreme proportions that it now seems probable that the next development may be a flight to the dollar in place of a flight from the dollar.

Concrete proof of the gold stability of American currency has resulted in the elimination of premiums upon currencies which still retain world confidence. French francs, guilders, Swiss francs and Belgas have declined sharply. France is faced with a deficit in its national finances. Its position closely parallels that of the United States a few months ago. As a result, world confidence in the stability of the franc is not as great as when gold was being pulled out of this country.

Interest in Stocks Here Is Increasing

THE CHANGED psychological outlook on the future of business in the United States has been another important factor. During the years of declining business, European investments in America were being sold steadily. This accounted for much of the gold movement. Now foreign investors are beginning to see the bargain possibilities of American stocks and bonds. If this change in sentiment continues the flow of gold back to the United States will be greatly accentuated.

News and Views

SEES TAX LAW UPSET

Federal tax laws, which since 1920 had been progressing toward clarity and adherence to sound economic and accounting concepts, are now in the face of Treasury deficits turning backward to produce "grotesque" results, Col. Robert H. Montgomery, of the accounting firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, declared in an address before the taxation law symposium held in the Columbia University summer session. "The limitation on deductions may now be carried to such an extent as to make the tax one on property instead of on net income," he asserted.

FARM WAGE INDEX

Farm wages in the current month are at an index of 87 per cent of the annual average for 1910-1914, reported the Department of Agriculture. This index compares with 94 in April of this year and 123 in July, 1931. Supply of farm labor is 123.6 per cent of normal this month, compared with 111.1 per cent in July, 1931, while demand is 62 per cent of normal compared with 73.4 in July, 1931.

UNITED AIR TRAFFIC UP

United Air Lines, transport unit of United Aircraft and Transport Corporation, continues to show a month-to-month gain in the number of passengers carried with more than 9,000 flown on its routes in June. The lines carried 35,920 passengers the first six months of this year, as compared with 15,629 the first half of last year, an increase of 130 per cent.

CANADA COPPER OUTPUT

Canadian copper producers reported an output of 21,356,879 pounds for May compared with 22,077,843 in April and 26,598,601 in May, 1931, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Production for the first five months of the year totaled 109,200,957 pounds, a decrease of 12.5 per cent from 1931.

LONE STAR GAS IN MODERATE DEMAND

The moderate improvement noted recently in Lone Star Gas was maintained in today's trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with the general list showing a steady to firm tone. The demand for Lone Star, which made its appearance in the closing session last week, continued through yesterday's session and was evident again today. Turnover in the stock has been light in comparison with former bull market standards, but in relation to volume, the past two days' transactions have shown a decided increase. The company's earning are said to be running at a rate about equal to last year when the full 12 months report showed net equal to 75 cents a share on the common.

The price movement in the heavy industrials and specialties was confined mainly to fractions, and there was no noticeable change in volume. However, observers noted a change for the better in the general market sentiment.

WHEAT PRICES FIRM UP

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP.)—Reports of high temperatures and need of rain in domestic spring wheat territory tended to impart comparative strength to grain values early today. There were also further advices of crop deterioration in Southern Saskatchewan. Opening unchanged to ⅛ higher, wheat afterward advanced all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼ up and subsequently held near the initial limits.

The fact that wheat had previously scored the lowest prices on record was an evident factor in deterring sellers, and, although buying power remained subnormal, a better undertone developed.

Corn and oats were bullishly affected by reports of dry, hot weather. Provisions sagged with hog values.

House Member Sues Brokers for Fraud

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP.)—Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, former chairman of the House Military and Naval Affairs Committee, filed suit in Supreme Court yesterday against Harriman & Co., brokers, and eight members of the firm, seeking $46,987 for alleged misrepresentation in the sale of stock.

He averred he bought 3,000 shares of B stock of the Southern Dairies Corporation in 1929 with the understanding that the Kraft Cheese Corporation was planning to take control of Southern Dairies and the stock would increase in value. He charged these representations were false and fraudulent.

CITIZENS BACK MISSISSIPPI SALES TAX

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service

Mr. Rukeyser

BILOXI, Miss., July 19.—Gov. Mike S. Conner told me that the success of the new consumers' sales tax of 2 per cent here will depend up to 90 per cent on administration. Feeling that way he induced the legislature to change the law in several respects to qualify Alfred Stone, Delta cotton planter and scholar, for the chairmanship of the state tax commission. Mr. Stone since taking office has completely reorganized the tax department, driving out the political appointees, and he has set about with grim determination to make the new sales tax an administrative success. Entirely apart from sales tax, he has a new vision of tax administration, to which tax collectors in the other states and in the federal government might well give heed. Mr. Stone thinks that the cost of tax collection, is economic waste, and he is seeking to reduce the cost by getting enforcement through the voluntary cooperation of the taxpayers. He has converted the tax department into a service bureau, and its big work since May 1 has been to sell the taxpayer on the merits of the sales tax.

PUBLIC COOPERATION

As to results thus far, Mr. Stone, author of several books and authority on social and economic questions, told me:

"They said that people couldn't pay the sales tax. They are paying it. They said that merchants wouldn't co-operate in collecting it. They are co-operating. The sales tax in this state is proving a success.

"We are trying to inject some human nature into the tax commission. We are developing the new conception of a service agent. We are endeavoring in conference to show different large economic groups that the new tax is sound and beneficial to the community. Getting them behind us is the highest type of enforcement and is cheaper than honeycombing the state with spies.

"I want our field men to invite suggestions and criticism, and to consider sympathetically the taxpayers' problems. I don't want them to wield the big stick. I will give a gold medal to field agents who are able to find that certain citizens are erroneously paying taxes in excess of requirements."

Asked to describe how the man on the street reacted to the sales tax when it went into effect less than two months ago, the head of the tax commission said:

"The tax went into effect on midnight of April 3. About that time I stepped into the restaurant at the Edwards in Jackson, and ordered some broth and ice cream. The check was 40 cents. I asked the cashier about the sales tax, and he said I'm going to let you pay the first tax. It amounted to one cent.

"For the first few days the people were inclined to treat the tax as a joke, in paying, people would say, referring to the tax, here's a cent or two cents for "Mike" (the Governor). After a few days, the public was adjusted to the tax, and thought little of it."

TERMED PRIVILEGE TAX

In sketching the future of the sales tax in Mississippi, Mr. Stone said that eventually it would make it possible to abolish the onerous state tax on real estate. He pointed out that Gov. Conner had originally advocated a 3 per cent tax, instead of 2 per cent, in which case 1 per cent would have been turned over to the counties. Mr. Stone said:

"Strictly speaking, ours is not a consumers' tax, which is technically forbidden in the state constitution. Ours is a privilege tax on business and professional men, and is based on the gross income from sales. Legally, no provision has been made for passing along the tax to consumers, though the governor has explained that it was intended that the tax should be passed along.

"As for detection of evasions, we are developing various safeguards. For example, the accountants will break up the monthly returns from the tax by counties. If it appears that counties of the same generous economic structure are showing a wide variation in per capita returns, it will be an indication of irregularities, to which we can direct our field men."

The records, which businessmen will have to keep to show their sales tax liability, will have a certain educational value, particularly among smaller merchants, who have been slovenly in accounting matters. As to this, F. W. Foote, president, First National Bank, at Hattiesburg, observed:

"The Federal Reserve regulations made numerous small banks issue financial statements for the first time. Now the Mississippi sales tax will make small merchants keep systematic books for the first time, and the practice will give them much greater understanding of their business problems.

"The sales tax in Mississippi was not adopted to give the Legislature more to spend, but to reduce burdensome taxes on property. The system of getting all the tax proceeds in the tax from 15 per cent of the population, as we did before the sales tax, was a menace to democracy. Demagogues gave the people a sense of inferiority, as they taught them that they could not be expected to contribute to the support of government."

COTTON RALLY LIFTS PRICES

NEW YORK, July 19.—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 1c lower with a fair trade demand and selling by commission houses. Orders were twice evenly divided and price changes were small.

Complaints of excessive temperatures continued to reach the trade from the Southwest, but they faialed to stimulate buying and trading continued quiet during the first half hour when prices fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points. October contracts, after selling off from 5.76c to 5.72c, rallied to 5.77c, the general market holding fairly steady. There was some additional switching from July to later deliveries without apparent effect.

Trading continued quiet later. Offerings were light and prices held steady on some further covering and trade buying. October contracts sold up to 5.81 or 6 points net higher within the general market showing net advances of about 4 to 6 points at midday.

LIVERPOOL, July 19.—Cotton, 8,000 bales, including 5,600 American. Spot, moderate business done; prices six points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 5.17; good middling, 4.92; strict middling, 4.80; middling, 4.70; strict low middling, 4.62; low middling, 4.52; strict good ordinary, 4.32; good ordinary, 4.02. Futures closed quiet and steady. July, 4.42; October, 4.39; December, 4.43; January, 4.45; March, 4.50; May, 4.55.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Raw sugar was quiet early today but the undertone was steady and refiners continued to indicate buying interest at 3.10c. Futures opened unchanged to 2 points higher on buying by local trade and Cuban producing interests reflecting steadiness of the London market. Further rallies abroad brought additional support to the local market and with selling restricted, net advances of 3 or 4 points were established in the more active positions. The advance, however, brought in a little hedge selling from producing sources as well as profit taking. Around midday the general market was 2 to 3 points net higher.

Refined was steady and unchanged at 4.10 to 4.15c, depending upon seller. Withdrawals on contract were fair but new buying was restricted.

Wall Street Awaits Effect of Report on Rail Co-Operation

The ability of railroad executives to achieve full co-operation at a time when problems in the carrier field are pressing for solution will again be subjected to an important test this week. Representatives of all the important roads will receive the report which will be submitted by the advisory council of the Association of Railway Executives, containing, it is understood, a broad study of the industry, its major ills and important recommendations for aid through internal improvement and remedial legislation which is planned for the next session of Congress. The action of the rail officials on the suggestions will be carefully watched as an indication whether the group has decided to lay aside individual competitive campaigns for the benefit of the industry as a whole.

Report persists that New York Central is under accumulation by interests which have long been active in the Eastern field, but which, if the four-party merger plan is approved as expected, would be more or less out of the picture. This group is reputedly well supplied with cash or other saleable assets realized from previous ventures in the Eastern railroad field. It is interesting in this connection to note that despite occasional bearish tips New York Central has been behaving in a manner denoting persistent demand.

Despite indications of the widening of the front of attack on public utility holding corporations by official bodies, power and light shares along with those of holding units were comparatively free from selling pressure. The report of the Federal Power Commission over the week-end urging need for governmental regulation was supplanted during the day by a ruling on the part of the Alabama Public Service Commission much along the same lines as that handed down in Wisconsin last week. These developments, however, were without important effect marketwise.

Conditions surrounding the market for United States government bonds have been such that a very substantial speculative position has been built up in that part of the investment market. Trading commissions in federal loans are comparatively small, and the bonds, on which money can be borrowed as low as 1 per cent, more than carry themselves. In the final analysis speculation has been encouraged of course by reason of the substantial swings occasioned as Congress has discussed first one and then another of inflationary mediums. Perhaps with Congress now adjourned the "gambling," as observers term it, will taper off.

Crop estimates at this time indicate that in the coming corn and hog season, beginning about the first of November, there will be a much larger supply of corn than a year ago, but a smaller number of hogs. There are 108,609,000 acres planted to corn this year, against 105,100,000 last year and an average of 99,978,000 in five years, 1924 to 1928. The present is the largest acreage ever planted. The spring pig crop which will be marketed through this coming autumn and winter will be materially smaller than a year ago. Official survey as of June 1, 1932, shows a crop of 50,093,000 pigs against 53,851,000 a year ago.

Wall street has been skeptical of the reports of heavy foreign buying of American securities, but now is more willing to concede that such buying has taken place in view of the assertion of foreign exchange experts that recent weakness of several European currencies resulted from purchase of dollar exchange to finance the deals. The weakness of sterling in particular last week was attributed to operations of this kind.

Metal Market.

LONDON, July 19.—Standard copper, spot, £25 12s 6d; future, £25 5s. Electrolytic, spot, £28 10s; future, £29. Tin, spot, £125 5s; future, £126 15s. Lead, spot, £9 7s 6d; future, £9 15s. Zinc, spot, £11 5s; future, £11 12s 6d.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, July 19.—The market was due to open ¼c lower. Started ¼c lower to ¼c higher, and at 12:15 p. m. was unchanged to ¼c higher.

The market closed ¼ to ½ pence higher.

A CHARGE ACCOUNT

Department stores and specialty shops are always glad to extend the privilege of a charge account, not only as an accommodation, but because it promotes business. Besides being a great convenience on a shopping trip, many shoppers find a charge account an aid in budgeting expenses. When the monthly bill comes in it is, of course, an additional convenience to pay it by check drawn on your account at the bank.

Tom, Angry, Stays Away From Lynn When She Doubts His Innocence

CHAPTER XXXV.

Lynn was by no means entirely satisfied with Tom's explanation of the way in which he had left the bank, but she forced herself to be. She had no proof; nothing upon which to base her occasional dreadful doubts of him. She had no proof that he ever saw Rawlson. But it was unfortunate that at this tag-end of the season Tom should buy a car. It was not new—it was second-hand, even third-hand—but it had had, as he said proudly, ''a sweet paint job,'' and it looked smart and shining as he brought it one evening to a flourishing stop in front of the apartment house, and dashing in, invited Lynn to step to the window and gaze upon the chariot.

Tom maintained that he was innocent.

"But where on earth did you get it?" she demanded, suddenly feeling sick.

"Made a killing in the Street," he offered, his arm about her shoulders.

She moved away from him. "Tom, please be serious."

"Robbed a bank," he went on. "Hey, what's the big idea of going over there? Won't it be swell when spring comes and we can go picnicking? Bought it for a song."

"But I don't understand," said Lynn.

"Bigger and better business, Baby. I figured if I had to take to apple-selling I could load 'em in the rumble seat and park on quiet corners."

She said steadily, "Tom, you'd better tell me the truth."

"You won't like it," he warned her.

CLAIMS INNOCENCE

Her heart was heavy. She said, "It doesn't matter whether I like it or not, does it?"

"Oh, it isn't that bad," he told her cheerfully, "only I know you hate speculation. No one on a small salary," he intoned gravely, "has a right to buy on margin. Well, I did—a little, and sold short. And there's the answer."

He flickered a finger toward the car. "Get on your things and we'll try it."

"No, Tom; come here and sit down."

He obeyed, wondering.

"Tom, are you telling me the truth?"

"Sure I am. Say, look here, Lynn, what's biting you?"

"But there's been a leak," she said steadily, "about the bank merger. I heard about it some time ago. I didn't tell you—I thought—but now— Tom, you promised me you'd tell Bob Rawlson you'd have no more to do with his scheme. You said you had told him."

"Of course I promised. And I told him," he said, bewildered. "What's all the shooting for?"

"Someone has been buying the stock; someone knows. And you were let out."

"Well, it wasn't me, even if I was fired." She was silent. He said again, "I didn't do it. Good Lord, Lynn, I bought that car for $350. If I had done what you think I wouldn't be buying second-hand cars."

BECOMES ANGRY

"I'm not so sure. You wouldn't, of course, make the profit other people would. You haven't enough business sense," she said bitterly.

He got to his feet and stood over her. "Is that so? Do you mean to tell me that you think I went back on my word?"

She said wretchedly, "I don't know what to think."

"And I don't know what to think of you!" He was angry, and he was innocent, and it is a curious fact that a combination of anger and innocence wears very often the face of guilt. His hasty words carried no conviction. "I thought you were fair-minded and loyal. Sarah said you were. She said about Jennie that you would stick to her no matter what she did; that you wouldn't hear anything against her. That goes for Jennie. But because you hear some fool rumor you jump to the conclusion—"

"I didn't jump to it," she told him. "You will have to admit that you thought of making a profit out of such a breach of confidence not so very long ago."

UNHAPPY PARTING

"Well, what if I did?" he asked sullenly. "I didn't actually do it, did I—and that's what counts."

"Yes, if you didn't. But Tom," she wailed, "I'm not sure! Was—was Mr. Norton sure?"

"To the devil with him. If you don't believe me—" Tom stopped. He walked to the door. Shaking with anger, with a wounded astonishment and with a self-pitying sense of his own innocence, all the more innocent because once his conscience had not been so clear, he said, "If you don't believe me, I'll go away and stay away until you do."

The door slammed behind him.

Lynn sat where he had left her. Her knees were water. He means it, she thought. He'll go away and never come back unless I tell him to. And I won't tell him. I'm not sure. I said I'd never speak to him again if—if he broke his word. He has broken it; he must have.

She heard the car drive away from the curb. She put her hands over her face and wept aloud.

In the morning things were no better. A dozen times she reached for the telephone on her desk. A half-dozen times she started toward the express elevators. She would go up to the studios. But he might not be there; meantime she had her own work to do.

EXPECTS HIM

Surely he would come, would telephone! Surely he would come crashing into the little apartment, would take her in his arms, kiss her eyes and her mouth and tell her, "Darling, you're mad! Of course I didn't do it."

She might believe him, in his arms, close to his heart.

Apart from him, she could not believe him. She tried to think it out. If he had done this, what had he done? Committed a breach of ethics, of loyalty? That was all. He hadn't stolen or—

But he had promised. He had given her his word.

Up in the tower from whose slender pinnacle the invisible cords stretched around the world Tom was working furiously, inaccessible even to his friends. He and Hank saw little of each other, their free time not coinciding. Slim, leaner than ever, had troubles of his own to occupy him. He said one evening, "Women are the devil," and Tom nodded, for once in perfect agreement.

What right had Lynn to condemn him practically unheard? Of course, he could not prove anything. Other people besides himself had known of the proposed reorganization. Rawlson, for one. Rawlson, now confidential secretary to Norton. Others besides Rawlson, too.

CHRISTMAS PLANS

Why should she pin it on him, just because for a little while he had dallied with the exciting idea of making a little money with safety? A fat lot she loved him if she could dismiss him because of some imagined misdemeanor! He couldn't prove her wrong, short of dragging Rawlson down there and facing her with him. And he couldn't do that. He wouldn't! If she loved him, if she wanted him, she could say so.

They were both very young.

Sarah said, when two weeks had passed and she was making plans for Christmas, "and Tom, of course."

"Not Tom." Lynn looked down at her slim, ringless hands.

"Not Tom?" Sarah's face would have been comic had Lynn been in a mood for comedy.

She said, "He'll work Christmas Day."

"Surely not all day?"

"No, I suppose not. But don't count on him, Sarah."

Sarah asked, "Have you quarreled?"

"No."

"Then why—?"

"Oh, don't ask me!" cried Lynn. "It's over, that's all!"

Sarah said nothing, but she was worried. She tried to reassure herself: They'll make it up. Silly infants, they're always bickering about something.

She thought, David's away. I haven't heard from him. I hope he's away.

ENEMIES MEET

As long as Tom was in the picture . . . According to Lynn he was in the picture no longer. But if David didn't learn it?

It was Tom himself who gave Dwight the first intimation of how matters stood. Dwight, making an appeal for the Unemployment Emergency Committee over UBC, spoke to the program director after his broadcast.

"I've a young friend here," he said; "at least, I heard he was here. One of the engineers. His name is Shepard."

Tom was sent for. He had been at the controls, battling with his temptation to distort Dwight's smooth, low voice. By the time Tom appeared in the reception room the program manager had explained matters to Dwight.

Dwight held out his hand, smiling. "I understand you put me over. Funny coincidence, isn't it?"

"You went over fine, Mr. Dwight," Tom said.

"That's good. Haven't seen anything of you for a long time. How's Lynn?" asked Dwight casually.

Tom answered looking away, "She's all right, I guess." And then, defiantly, "Sure, she's fine."

They parted. Dwight went on downstairs, smiling faintly. He stopped in to see Sarah. She might as well know now. He sat down by her desk and presently cast a challenge.

"Where did you come from in office hours?" Sarah wanted to know.

"From the tower. I've been broadcasting. Pity you didn't hear me. I had all the vox-humana stops pulled out."

"Unemployment?"

He nodded. "I ran into young Shepard there," he said. "I had heard he'd left the bank." He refrained from mentioning the source of his information. "I understand that he and Lynn are—well, aren't, let us say."

Sarah said hastily, "How ridiculous! They're always quarreling about nothing."

"Are you sure it's nothing, this time?"

"Why?" She looked at him, looked away again.

"Just for the sake of argument. Only last summer, when we were all together, Lynn honored me with her confidence. That is, she mentioned no names, but being a normally astute soul, I guessed. I am not at liberty to repeat what she told me, but I will say this much; she and Tom disagreed upon a matter of business ethics. If Tom followed his inclination in the matter, she was through with him. I take it he has followed his inclination," said Dwight, and rose.

Sarah rose also. "David, what are you going to do? You promised——"

"I think I have been absolved from my promise," he said.

"No. No."

But he had gone, stopping in Norton's room with a casual nod at young Rawlson, to wish Norton the usual holiday greeting. Sarah stood where he had left her, looking after him.

The SUN-TELEGRAPH is ready to help you at the HEARST PRESS INFORMATION BUREAU 2 RUE DE LA PAIX

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Several thousand members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club were the guests of the Father Cox rodeo and circus which opened yesterday afternoon at Exposition Park, North Side.

The youngsters were all thrilled at the daring feats of cowboys and cowgirls, at the trick riding and roping, the bronco busting, calf roping and steer bulldogging.

One little fellow was overheard saying to his pal:

"Gee, Bill, did you see the way that cowboy went under his horse while it was going so fast?"

Bill replied:

"That's nothing, I think the best part of the show, was the way the cowgirls roped and tied those cows."

The first boy answered:

"Ah, that's nothing, the way they ride those broncos is what I like. Come on, let's hurry home, maybe George has his pony out and I've got a swell rope for a lasso, I'll bet you I can rope that post in the back yard, the very first time."

TRY STUNTS

And with that the two youngsters started for the street car, George's pony and the rope which is to make the lasso. These two youngsters were in all probability dreaming of cowboys and cowgirls all night in their sleep.

One little girl was going home and make for herself one of those many colored blouses that the cowgirls wore. She thought they were "just grand."

Another little fellow was laughing so hard that he had to sit down to get his breath. He was Jack Healy, and he said:

"Boy, I'll take those clowns every time, I haven't laughed so much since Bobby Dyer got caught putting salt in the sugar. Oh, boy! I laughed for two days then, but I think I'll be laughing for a week at the way those clowns acted."

The weather was ideal, and it was a sight to see more than 3,000 boys and girls all hurrying home to a late supper, with broad grins on their faces. Yes, sir, they all had a good time.

TO AMUSE PATIENTS

The members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club had such a good time yesterday afternoon at the rodeo and circus that the management late yesterday afternoon arranged to take most of the cowboys and cowgirls and all the clowns, the trained ducks and trained pigs to the Children's Hospital at 11 o'clock this morning to entertain the youngsters that are unable to be out.

When Canada Kid, who has held the title of "champion all around cowboy" for the past three years, heard about the arrangements to entertain the children at the hospital today, he said:

"If you think these youngsters this afternoon enjoyed themselves, come on out to that hospital and you'll see a show what is a show. Every member of this rodeo seems to work much better when they are working for a bunch of 'kids' that can't get out of bed."

The Secretary of the Junior Komic Club, on behalf of all the members of the club and the youngsters of the Children's Hospital, thanks Father Cox and members of his staff for the courtesies extended to them.

Senator Is Partly Frank

Mr. Coyne, Saying His Probe Is Non-Political, Makes Sly Slap at School Board,

State Senator James J. Coyne's statement that the forthcoming legislative inquiry into the cost of government in the City of Pittsburgh and County of Allegheny, to be conducted by a committee headed by himself, is to be entirely a business matter and not political, appears frank enough. In any event, no holder of a political office who has conducted his duties faithfully has need to fear any kind of an investigation, political or otherwise, that is conducted properly. Nothing can be pinned upon any man that is not shown in the records, Senator Coyne says the whole motive is to ease the burden on the taxpayer, and there is no occasion to take a lot of trouble to look for an ulterior motive just because Mr. Coyne happens to be a smart politician.

Nevertheless, between-the-lines-readers possibly may do a little eyebrow-lifting about Mr. Coyne's opinion on the school board.

"I feel, too," he is quoted as saying, "that the school board is extravagant, for I know of an instance where the present school taxes are almost as high as the city's tax for general operations. It stands to reason that the upkeep of the city, with its police and fire departments, as well as its street maintenance, should be more than that of the schools."

Many will wonder what is the implication of that. Is it that a city administration that has been proven corrupt and offensively political is no worse than a non-political school board against which there never has been the slightest breath of scandal? Mr. Coyne says "I feel" the school board has been extravagant. Shouldn't he "know" before casting aspersions? Innuendo should be no part of the armament of an earnest, forthright crusader.

Weir Sees Recovery

Steel Man Predicts Start of Business Revival Within Next 60 Days.

The world of business heard an encouraging prediction early this week. E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation, declared:

"There will be an upturn to business within 60 days, brought about by normal extensions of credit and renewed confidence by producers and consumers."

Mr. Weir is not in the habit of making extravagant predictions. His position in his industry makes such a statement worthy of serious attention by everyone. First of all, he heads the only steel company which has been making money this year. Second, it is well known that he is the man that the directors of the United States Steel Corporation wanted for their president but couldn't get.

In commenting on the present situation he said that the steel industry working at 15 to 17 per cent of capacity means that per capita consumption of steel is where it was 50 years ago. This is a condition which cannot last. We cannot go backward 50 years when there were no steel buildings, no steel for automobiles, nor none of the thousand and one uses to which steel is now devoted. Mr. Weir believes that the country is thoroughly liquidated and is ready to buy. It merely needs courage and credit.

We sincerely hope that Mr. Weir's estimation of the outlook is correct.

Most Costly Blunder

Expense of Making Boulevard Serviceable by Filling Gap Will Be $327,000.

The engineering blunder of building an important county roadway—a half-million dollar blunder, Commissioner McGovern once called it—was made monetarily tangible at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, when the approximate blunder cost was listed at $327,000. This is the estimate of the further expense of making the Allegheny River boulevard serviceable by connecting two dead ends at the Nadine station of the Pennsylvania Water Company.

George S. Davison, of the Water Company, told the Commissioners $140,000 would be the bill of the company for granting right of way, property damage, etc.; $30,000 will be needed for moving railroad tracks, switches, etc. Then $157,000 will be required for changing harbor lines by fill and for construction of the roadway.

The blame does not rest upon the present board, but that does not make it any more excusable. The only profit the county can expect from it is that it shall prove a lesson that will make all future planning as exact as possible.

Let Investigation Go On

Administration Should Not Interfere With Trade Commission's Probe of Power Trust.

The speech of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, in the Senate on the over-capitalization of electric utilities, and the methods pursued by the power trust to conserve and defend its monopolies, is one of those great contributions which Senator Norris recurringly makes to the cause of popular government.

His charge that the President is desirous of halting the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the power trust is one which the administration cannot ignore.

The point that Senator Norris makes is that the investigation has justified itself by what it has already discovered and made known. To halt its work, which is admittedly far from completion, is to ignore the value of what has already been accomplished and to deprive the people of a continuance of the commission's valuable labors.

The commission's investigations, Senator Norris asserted, have already disclosed OVER-CAPITALIZATION by utility enterprises in excess of $520,000,000 — "FINANCIAL WATER AND AIR ON WHICH THE POOR PEOPLE MUST PAY FOR ALL TIME," said the Senator.

This speech was comprehensive and explicit. He linked Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, to power company operations, charging that he was a member of a syndicate which bought companies in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado in 1912.

Attention was called to grave irregularities on the part of the power interests in connection with the Appalachian Electric Power Company litigation, now pending in the Federal District Court at Norfolk. In this case, Senator Norris said, a marking up of capital values from $72,000,000 to $139,000,000 had been revealed, through the sale to the public of securities exceeding the book value of the company's properties by $66,000,000.

The work of the Federal Trade Commission should not be halted. It should be pursued with redoubled energy.

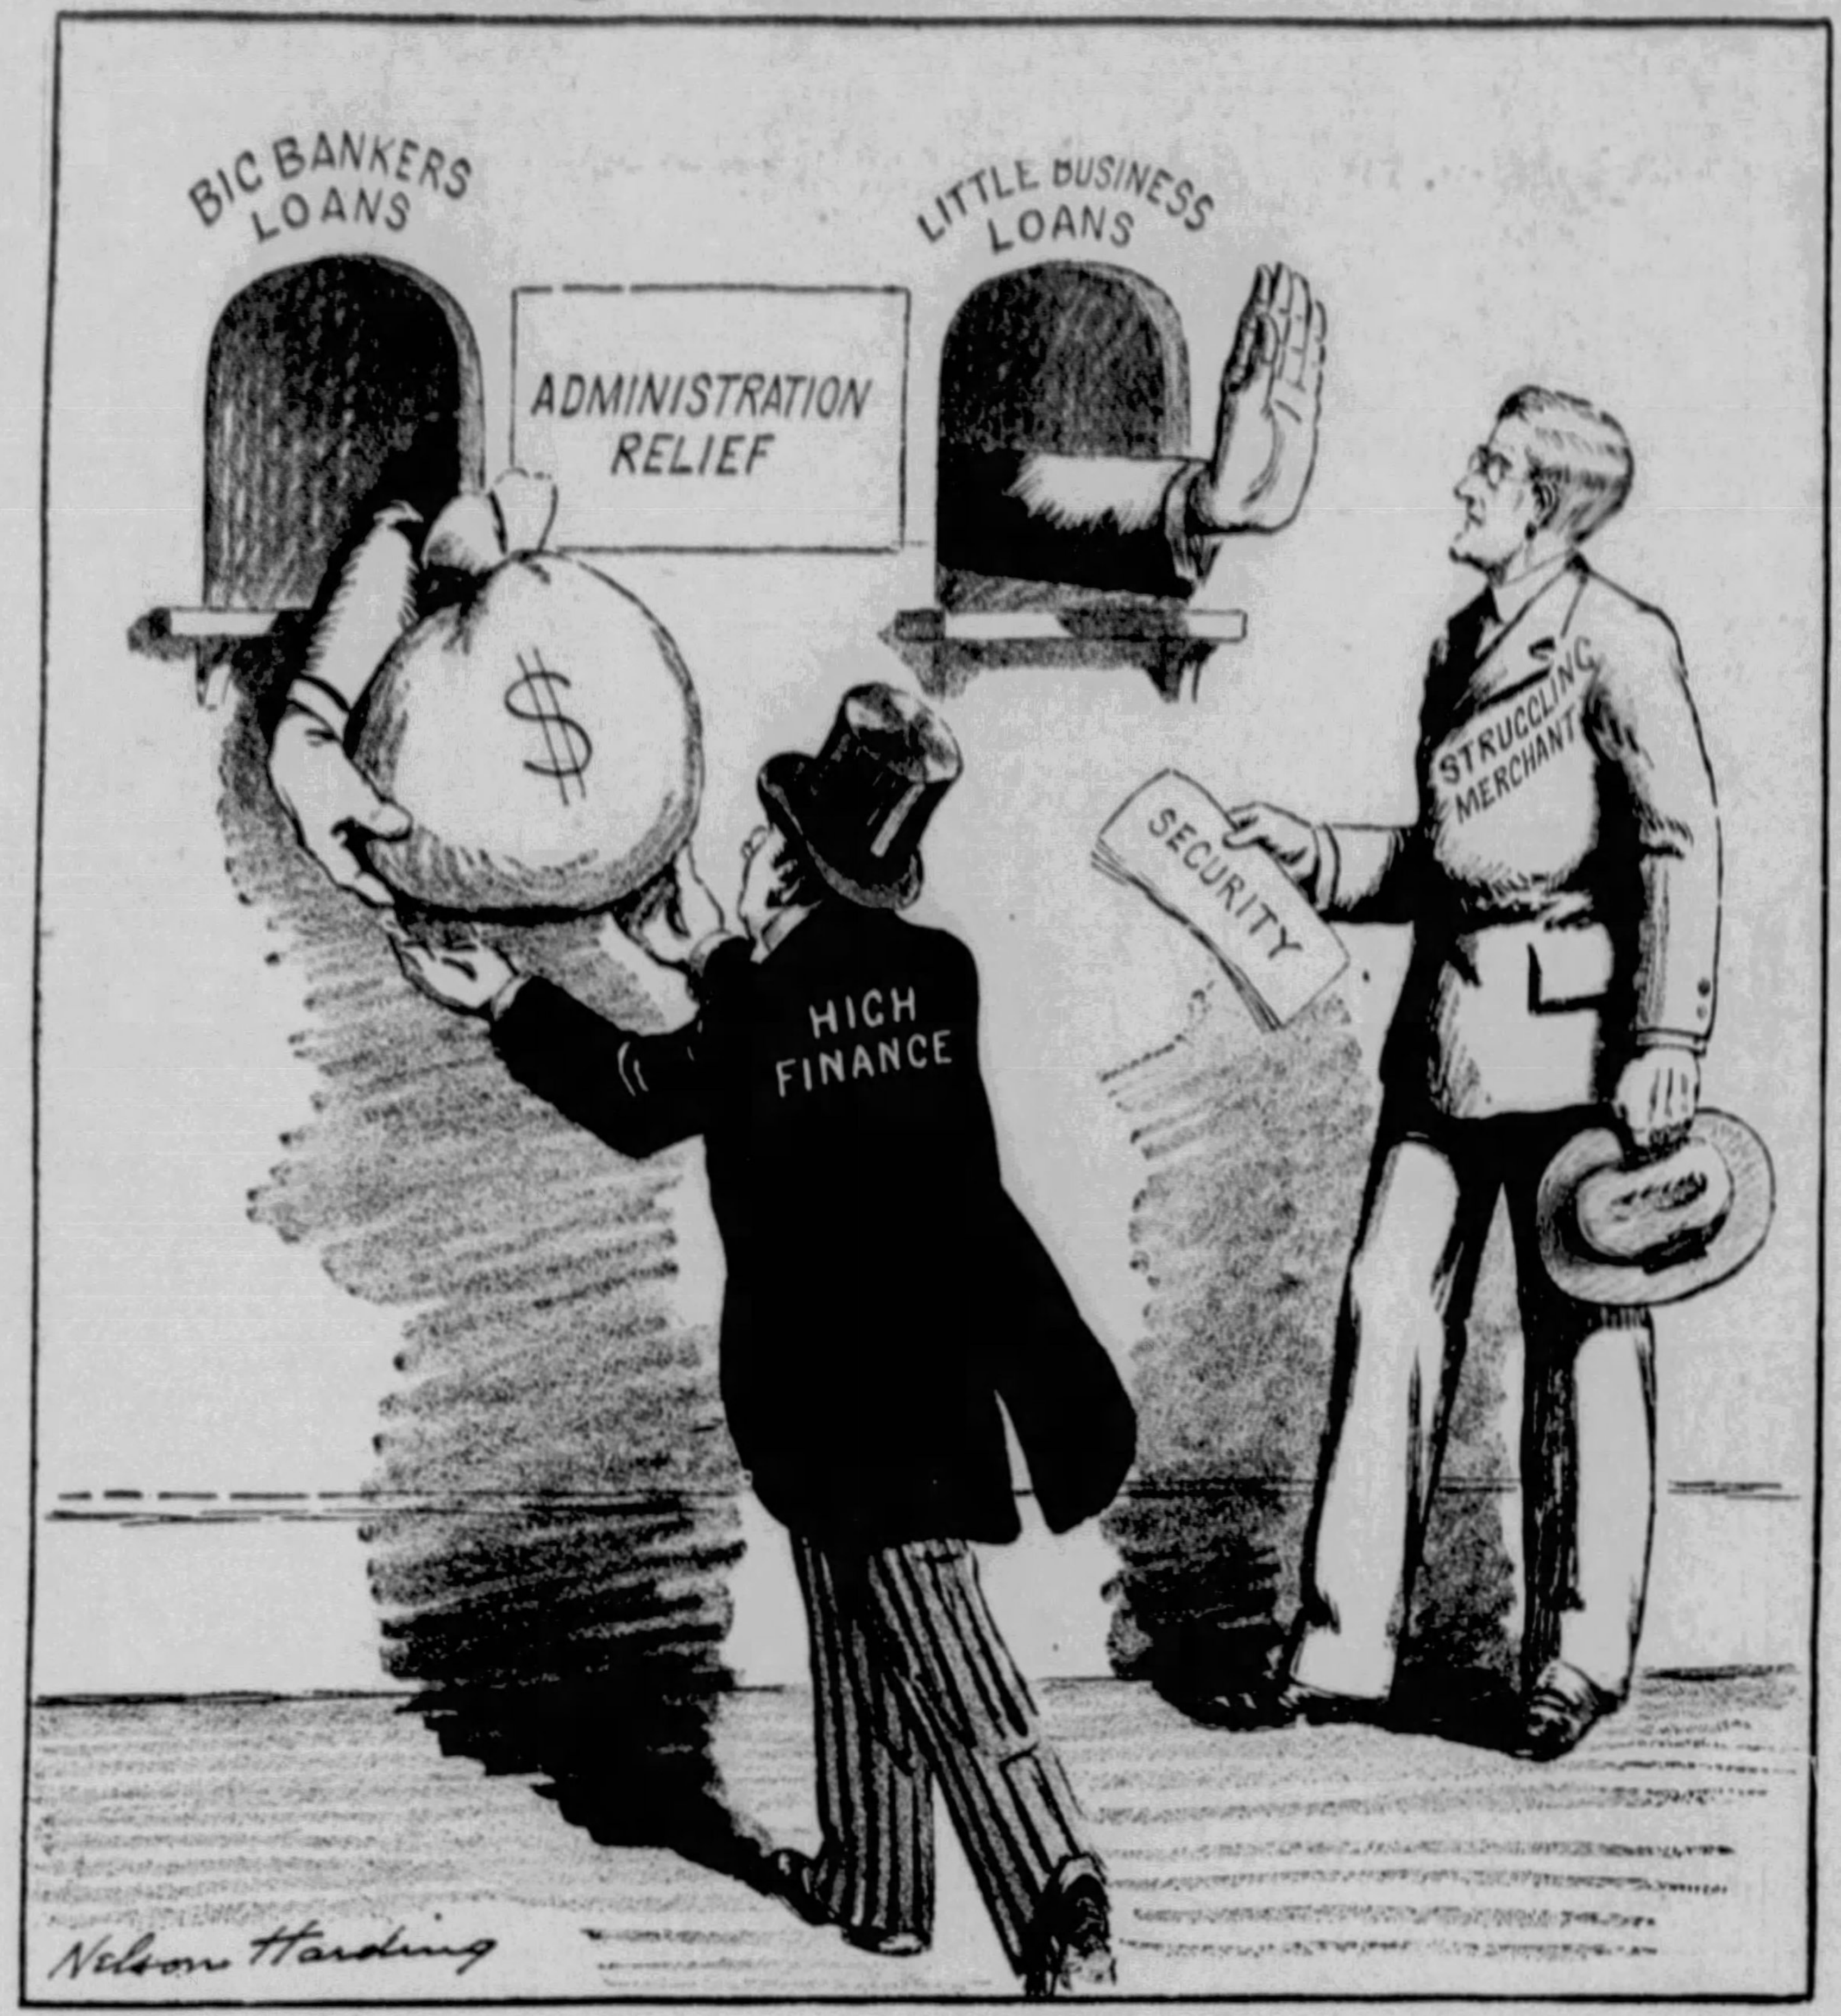
At the Wrong Window

By Nelson Harding



We see a "hand out" on the left
A "hand out" on the right
But while one is an open hand
The other one is tight.

One window is the "Paying" place,
Where ample loans are handed through
While at the other there appears
A hand that motions "None for you."

The saddest thing about losing a lover is that it's so much easier to forget the quarrels and misunderstandings than it is to forget the thrills and kisses.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 19.—A growing number of New Yorkers are definitely satiated with the metropolitan celebrity complex. Everywhere—theater, cafe or night club—so-called celebrities must be introduced. They are phonies—the last minute rushers down theater aisles and self-pagers in hotel lobbies.

No other city indulges such fawning. Ninety per cent have done nothing to warrant such fervor. They may have had a brief fit of glory and a quick fade-out. That is all. The real celebrities are not flocking to public places to be admired. And sponge off the proprietor.

The nation's greatest celebrity—Col. Lindbergh—has not been seen in a public restaurant since attaining his deserved fame. His runner-up, Amelia Earhart, expresses a similar shyness. Disraeli once observed: "Self-exploitation is the camouflage of the egotist, fearing eclipse."

The look-at-me crop that arrives at opening nights with a great tarantara or sits in conspicuous boxes at the opera, baseball or at ring-side tables, are in most instances the show-offs. They have what is known among the Broadway curiosa as the "lucky break." And are hearty rather than significant.

In years of roaming around town I have never seen J. P. Morgan, Helen Gould Shephard, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Edna St. Vincent Millay, Ring Lardner or others of the great philanthropists, financiers, artists or writers in any save inconspicuous places—and always expressing self-effacement.

The pandemonium of the past three years has increased a wholesome respect for humility. Many loud-mouths of the spotlight tom-tommed only havoc to the world. It would almost seem the Biblical prophecy is being realized: "The meek shall inherit the earth."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Those women at the Chicago conventions interested me. I've a hunch they were the biggest story there.

In the first place, it seemed as if every woman in America who could get to the convention went.

She wasn't needed, urged or invited to go. She had nothing to do after she got there. She went in the face of every plea and argument; against her husband's roars and bellows of opposition; against the squawls of her baby and the squawks of her pocketbook.

By hook or crook, she dug up the money somehow. Borrowed transportation, hotel and meal expenses. Barged into reluctant guest rooms. Chiseled the loan of a dress from one friend and a hat from another. Parked the baby with her mother or a neighbor. And was off to Chicago.

Having arrived there, she immediately became a general nuisance. Her husband didn't want her around. The delegates couldn't be bothered with her. She clogged the aisles. She interrupted conferences. She drove bellboys and ushers crazy. She forced indignant home town males to give up their seats to her. She was glared at, snubbed, ignored, openly insulted.

BUT WHAT THE HECK DID SHE CARE?

THE CONVENTION FUN WAS ON AND SHE WAS DETERMINED TO BE IN IT.

AND SHE SHOULD WORRY WHETHER OTHER FOLKS LIKED IT OR NOT!

So she didn't worry. She didn't even care whether the convention was Democratic or Republican; whether it went wet or dry; whether it nominated Hoover, Roosevelt or Alkali Bill. Policies or pledges meant nothing to her.

SHE WAS HAVING FUN AND MAKING NOISE, AND THAT WAS ALL SHE WANTED.

From the instant the conventions opened to the minute they folded up, the American woman, en masse, occupied ringside seats and yelled, marched and rioted, regardless of party or purpose.

What was it all about? They neither knew nor cared. It was just another prize fight. Somebody had to be murdered. Any victim would do, as long as the murder proved exciting.

And how they hated to go home!

Male politicians dragged themselves wearily from the arena; telephoned frantically for the quickest transportation. But not so their lady wives, sisters, mothers, sweeties and daughters. Had they had their way, the conventions would be holding yet.

But this, of course, is against all tradition concerning females. Theoretically, the gentler sex loves to hug the fireside and can't be torn from cradle or kitchen. Go to a big, noisy, dirty, heartless political convention? Horror; no!

That's the pretty theory. But never was theory knocked more popeyed by facts.

All of which moves me to ask, though I already know the answer—ARE WOMEN BORN TRAMPS?

DID THE BOYS, THEMSELVES, INVENT THIS PRETTY FAIRY TALE ABOUT GIRLS BEING THE HOME-LOVING SEX?

IS HOME REALLY THE LAST PLACE WHERE THE MODERN, LIVELY LADY WANTS TO BE OR GO?

AND IF SO, WHO'S GOING TO DO THE CONVENING AT THE NEXT BIG CONVENTION?

WILL THE MISSIS PICK THE BIG SHOTS, WHILE POP STAYS HOME AND MINDS THE BABY?

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

One Pair of Hands

Much Character and Profit in Them,

FRONT VIEW.

This pair of hands, muscularly powerful, as you see, is also, according to the distinguished writer, Rex Beach, scientifically powerful, wonderful in their healing power, the most wonderful pair of hands in the world.

Rex Beach says that Dr. M. W. Locke, the owner of this pair of hands, possesses power for curing human ills extraordinary in its nature.

Beach has seen crowds gathered at the little Toronto village which Dr. Locke never leaves, patients flocking to him from great distances.

He treats human ills entirely by manipulation of the feet. About 20 seconds is enough for one treatment, and he can and does take care of hundreds of patients in a day. They wait, patiently watching, until each has had his turn.

Rex Beach, in his extraordinarily interesting article in the August Cosmopolitan Magazine, tells you merely what he has seen. He does not ask you to believe anything.

One remarkable thing about Dr. Locke and his method is his way of charging. He treats many diseases by manipulation of the feet, and will not allow anybody to pay more than $1, and those that choose pay nothing.

Rex Beach went to Williamsburg, Ont., the little village where Dr. Locke demonstrates his power, and tells exactly what he saw, automobiles from every part of Canada and from every one of our states bringing sufferers.

Dr. Locke, who, according to Mr. Beach, treats as many as 1,000 patients in a day, says that many of our ills, including some of the most serious, come from "faulty foot posture," and such diseases he cures, using the powerful hands that you see here.

BACK VIEW.

From the beginning of human history hands have impressed men. The "laying on of hands," to cure disease by "virtue" emanating from a higher personality, is older than the Christian era. English kings and others cured disease by merely touching their subjects. A disease very common in England was called "King's Evil" because a touch of the King's hand cured it.

Fathers of the old school never failed to lay their hands upon the head of a son, blessing him on his departure into the great world, or on the father's departure to a better world.

Hands show character as clearly as the face shows it. A highly developed thumb shows the result of civilization, and of the use of the hands backed by thought.

The gorilla, whose thumb is used merely as a hook to put around the branch of a tree, has a tiny thumb compared with the rest of his hand.

Nikola Tesla, the distinguished scientist who harnessed the power of Niagara, and did nother remarkable things, has a thumb almost as big around as his wrist.

The lines in the hand that are supposed to mean so much about character really mean nothing. They tell you nothing about destiny or fate—simply show you how the hand of a baby was folded up before it was born. If you fold a piece of paper, and then straighten it out, it keeps the mark of the folding. When a baby's hand is folded wrinkles or marks are formed, and they remain.

Thumb prints are useful to the police. Some ancient rulers used them on important documents, pressing the thumb down on the hot wax as a seal. There was no imitating that.

What Rex Beach tells you, in Cosmopolitan Magazine for August, about these powerful hands will interest you, whether or not you believe that improper foot posture can cause so many diseases.
